Alaska Approved As State

Short Cut Rejected By Supreme Court In Little Rock Case

Tribunal Refuses To Bypass Appeals Court In St. Louis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused Monday to shortcut usual procedures and rule directly and promptly on an appeal from an order suspending desegregation in Little Rock.

But in so doing, the court said it was sure the U. S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis would act on the appeals "in ample time to permit arrangements to be made for the next school year."

In another unanimous action Monday, the Court struck down a $100,000 fine levied against the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by an Alabama judge.

Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones imposed the fine in Montgomery June 1, 1956, on the ground the NAACP was in contempt of court for failing to comply with an order for production of a list of its members. The judge also barred the NAACP from doing business in Alabama.

Harlan Speaks For Court

Speaking for the Court, Judge Harlan said the order for production of the membership list "must be regarded as entailing a substantial restraint upon the exercise by petitioner's (NAACP) members of their right to freedom of association."

Noting that the Little Rock desegregation case has been before the Court of Appeals in St. Louis in one form or another three different times, the Supreme Court said:

"That Court is the regular court for reviewing the orders of district court here concerned, and the appeal and the petition for a stay are matters properly to be adjudicated by it in the first instance."

Stay Of Order Refused

The order suspending desegration in Little Rock for 2½ years—until January 1961—was issued June 21 by U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley.

Two days later, the judge turned down a plea by attorneys representing Negroes to stay effectiveness off his order pending the outcome of an appeal.

Under the integration plan now suspended, nine Negroes attended Little Rock's Central High School the past school year under protection of federal troops sent there by President Eisenhower.

Lemley said he granted the suspension of desegregation "in the public interest, including the interest of both Negro and white students."

U.S. And Soviet Delegates See Parley Success

The statement cleared away any lingering suggestion that Soviet delegates might not show up for the conference on ways of detecting nuclear weapons testing.

Prof. Yevgeni K. Federov, head of the Soviet delegation, met for two hours with Dr. James B. Fisk, U. S. delegation leader. They agreed the conference will deal solely with means of detecting any cheating that might be tried under a ban.

Last week the Russians threatened to boycott the meeting unless the United States agreed beforehand to make a commitment toward a nuclear test ban. The United States replied that it would go on with the conference as scheduled in accordance with an exchange of notes between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev.

After meeting with Fisk, Federov told reporters:

"The Soviet delegation feels the work which will start soon is very important and that it will be possible to find a common language with our colleagues of the United States and other nations."

Fisk, who stood next to him, said:

"I, too, am sure we will find the common language of which Dr. Federov speaks. We believe the technical problems before us are very difficult and will deserve all the attention that the delegations give them.

"I also believe we will be able to provide our governments with the technical basis they will need for reaching a future agreement."

Neither Fisk nor Fedorov would discuss in detail what had been arranged during their session in the Soviet delegation villa near the U. N. building.

Fisk merely said it had been an effective meeting.

U.S. Envoy Asks Russ Free Nine

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States asked the Russians Monday to release at once nine American airmen forced down inside Soviet Armenia. Some quarters in Moscow believed the Soviets would comply.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. took his government's request to the Soviet foreign ministry. He also transmitted Washington's denial that the unarmed DC6A military transport purposely flew into Soviet territory last Friday.

It was forced down by two Soviet jets and burned after landing 150 miles from Turkey's border, the Russians say.

The U.S. Defense Department has suggested the plane—headed for Iran with supplies for Americans there and in Pakistan—strayed off course while flying on instruments in overcast weather.

Costello Rebuffed

Costello was convicted of evading $28,532 in taxes for 1948 and 1949. Sentenced to five years' imprisonment, he was released on $25,000 bail after serving 11 months. His release was granted pending final action on contentions he should have a new trial.

Rebels Driven From Two Hills Outside Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Government forces and mountain tribesmen fought a see-saw battle in the hills overlooking Beirut Monday after the rebels drove closer to the capital than ever before.

Followers of young rebel leader Kamal Jumblatt made a surprise dawn push into hills between Chemlan and Kayfoun, only five miles from Beirut International Airport.

Rebels on another hill swept across the valley in an attempt to relieve their comrades. They were driven back.

Irregulars helping the security forces blocked roads and approaches to Kayfound and Chemlan to choke off the rebel advance.

Security forces claimed they suffered no casualties. They said many rebels were killed. The size of the attacking force was not given.

Jumblatt, leader of the Progressive Socialist political organization, controls a large area south and east of Beirut. His followers are largely Druse tribesmen.

The rebels fired only small arms. They were too far away to fire on the airport.

An Arab studies center, operated in Chemlan by the British Foreign Office, was evacuated. A British Embassy spokesman said Jumblatt had warned he planned to attack the town.

The fighting near Beirut came after fierce weekend battles in Tripoli. The clashes there began on Thursday and the combat area extended 10 to 15 miles around the northern port city.

The American Presbyterian Hospital, surrounded by rebel territory, was the center of fighting. Government guards were still inside the hospital with 25 Lebanese patients and 42 staff members. American personnel left the hospital two weeks ago.

Golf Equipment Makers Indicted

CHICAGO (AP) — Five major manufacturers of golf equipment were charged Monday with violating the antitrust law.

A federal grand jury returned a two-count indictment accusing the companies of conspiring to restrain trade and engaging in monopoly agreements.

Those indicted are True Temper Corp. of Cleveland, producer of 90 per cent of all steel golf club shafts made in the United States; Wilson Athletic Goods Manufacturing Co. of River Grove, Ill; A. G. Spalding & Bros. Inc., of Chicopee, Mass.; MacGregor Sport Products Inc. of Cincinnati; and Hillerich & Bradsby Co. of Louisville.

Unpredictable Irish Elect Widow Dublin Lord Mayor

DUBLIN (AP)—The unpredictable Irish have done it again.

Two years ago they elected a Jew as lord mayor of Dublin—often known as the world's most Catholic capital.

Monday night they elected a Scots-born widow, slight, graying Mrs. Catherine Byrne. She is a Roman Catholic.

"This is the biggest shock I have ever had in all my life," she gasped, breathless with excitement and weighted down as the heavy chain of office was draped over her shoulders.

Mrs. Byrne won on the fourth ballot in the City Council voting after a neck-and-neck race with Robert Briscoe, a leader of the Jewish community who was mayor two years ago.

Mrs. Byrne is in her late 50s and has two grown daughters. She polled 23 votes to 17 for Briscoe, who ran as the nominee of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's Fianna Fail party.

The outgoing mayor, James Carroll, 52, an independent, sought reelection, but was never a serious contender.

Briscoe took his defeat in the same good spirit that won him many American friends when he toured the United States first as lord mayor and later as ex-lord mayor.

"You won fairly," he told the little widow. "There will be no recriminations and no hard feelings. You are assured of the support of all of us in the discharge of the heavy duties you now assume."

Mrs. Byrne is no novice in politics.

She sat in the 45-member City Council for nine years as a representative of the Fine Gael party, main opposition to De Valera's Fianna Fail.

Fox Planning $1,000,000 Libel Suit Against Adams

New Charges, Denials Mark Influence Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) —Business promoter John Fox casually announced Monday he is starting a million dollar libel suit against Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams—who has charged him with malicious accusations.

Fox also promised million-dollar suits against others who have been criticizing him.

This sudden development came just before Fox concluded three days of testimony to a House subcommittee. Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters: "Mr. Adams will have no comment on that. How silly can this whole thing get?"

The Fox testimony exploded sensations and uproars, accusations and denials, involving Adams, his wealthy Boston friend and benefactor, Bernard Goldfine, and the Boston Herald and Traveler and their publisher, Robert Choate.

Grounds Not Spelled Out

Fox said he has instructed his lawyers to file suits for a million dollars each against Choate, the Herald-Traveler Corp., its attorney, William J. Dempsey, and Goldfine's attorneys, Roger Robb and Samuel Sears.

He didn't spell out the grounds for the suits. But he said after the hearing:

"All the individuals and the newspapers made thoroughly scurrilous and libelous statements about me in writing."

With denials coming quickly, Fox last week had depicted Adams as using his weight with government agencies to help Goldfine, a former friend and now a business foe of Fox.

More Charges, Denials

And, to the accompaniment of more denials, Fox had testified that his Boston Post collapsed in 1956 under powerful pressures from within the Eisenhower administration, which he linked to enmity of Choate and Goldfine.

Along the way, Fox quoted Goldfine as having told him Adams had promised to help Goldfine out of trouble with the Federal Trade Commission over mislabeling of textiles, that he had given Adams checks over a period of years, bought him some securities, and purchased him a house to live in here in Washington.

Adams fired back with a formal statement he personally read to reporters last Thursday night. It accused Fox of making malicious accusations and added:

"It is difficult to separate the many falsehoods in Mr. Fox's incredible testimony. Virtually everything he said about me—in one way or another—is false."

Crazed Gunman Kills 2 Officers

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—Two Pawtucket police detectives were shot to death Monday when they invaded a Pawtucket home to rescue a mother who had been held captive all afternoon by her son.

Det. Lt. Thomas Truesdale and Det. Emil Newberg died at Rhode Island Hospital.

Truesdale was shot in the lung and Newberg in the stomach.

The son, who evidently went berserk, was identified by police as Robert Genereux.

He was hospitalized under heavy police guard. He was covered with blood.

It was not determined immediately whether he had been shot. His condition was reported as not serious.

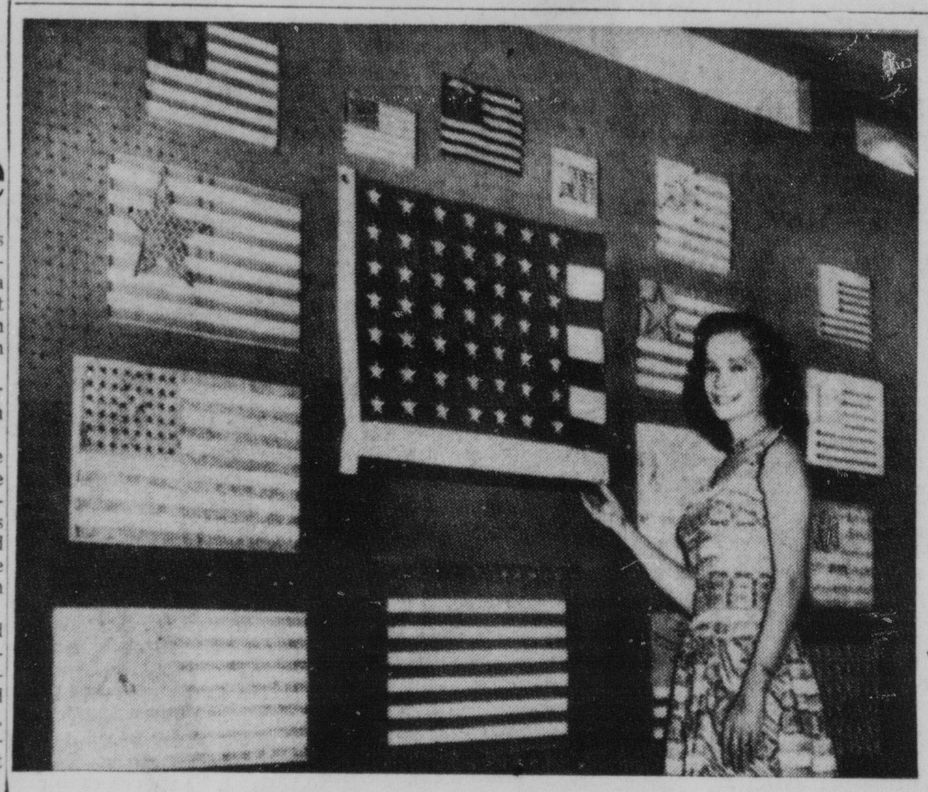

The mother was snatched from the house, apparently uninjured.

Genereux was dragged out of the house, near busy Route 1, after police raked the dwelling with machinegun fire and tear gas.

Genereux was seized by Capt. Joseph E. McAlvey and Det. James E. Brennan, who shot their way into a bathroom where he had barricaded himself in a closet. He was armed when taken.

Two revolvers and a shotgun were found on the premises.

Newberg and Truesdale were shot when they entered the house and tried to persuade Genereux to free his mother. They were found sprawled in the bathroom.

Suggestions For New Flag Design

Mrs. Jersey Spittle, Army Quartermaster Corps employe, poses in Washington before a display of a few of the several hundred designs volunteered by Americans for their flag in the event of Alaskan statehood. The Senate voted last night to admit Alaska to the Union, leaving only the requirement of presidential approval and acceptance by Alaskans of the bill's terms to make Alaska the 49th state.

Rockefeller To Seek N.Y. Governorship

NEW YORK (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller announced Monday that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor. His candidacy posed the possibility of a battle of millionaires in the fall political campaign.

Rockefeller has been an undeclared candidate for weeks. Unofficial polls have depicted him as his party's strongest potential candidate.

"The people of the State of New York are entitled to government of the highest quality. I believe that the government they are getting is inadequate to meet the needs of our times, the changing facts of modern life and the insecurities of the present day," Rockefeller said in his announcement.

The only candidate in the field against Rockefeller as of now is Leonard Hall, former Republican national chairman. He said he welcomed Rockefeller as a rival and suggested a series of debates on issues.

Rockefeller's nomination, if he can obtain it at the Aug. 25-26 state convention, would pit two scions of vast wealth in the political arena of the Empire State. The prize would be not only the governorship but national stature within the winner's party.

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman plans to run for a second term. Like Rockefeller, he inherited a fortune from his father. Harriman's wealth stems from railroads, Rockefeller's from oil.

Rockefeller, as a candidate, would be in about the same underdog position that Harriman was when he first sought political office in the gubernatorial race of 1954. Both men brought to their maiden political campaign a fairly extensive background of appointive federal service. But neither had in advance of their campaigns any first-hand elective experience.

Army Demonstrates Missile Muscles

MCGREGOR MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—The Army flexed its missile muscles Monday for the nation's top brass, knocking a hole in a mountain and sending a World War II Flying Fortress down in flames.

Some 75 generals — with 150 stars between them—were on hand.

Heading the military part of those attending were Gen Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker was expected to get in on part of the action.

Cuba Rebels Kidnap 2 More Americans

Efforts To Free 44 Prisoners Continue

HAVANA (AP) — Two more Americans were kidnaped by Fidel Castro's rebels Monday, boosting the total now held by insurgents to 41 Americans and three Canadians.

Two U.S. consular officials were striving in rebel mountain country of eastern Cuba to free the prisoners. One official made contact with rebel leaders, but was reported awaiting word from the insurgent high command on their release.

U.S. embassy sources in Havana indicated the two officials might have some report on the missing men Monday night or Tuesday.

While the rebel kidnap campaign went on, there were reports of a new flareup of violence by the dissident forces seeking to overthrow Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

Dispatches from Cienfuegos on Cuba's south coast said eight rebels and two soldiers were killed in a clash in that area Saturday. Several soldiers were reported wounded.

Another report said a rebel band surprised an Army detachment in a ravine on a farm near Guantanamo and killed a lieutenant and five soldiers. Six other soldiers were wounded.

Working for the release of the North American hostages were U.S. Consul Park Wollam and U.S. Vice Consul Robert Wiecha. Wollam was in contact with rebels in northeast Cuba seeking to free the first Americans and Canadians seized last week.

It was disclosed Monday that Wiecha had gone into the hills around Guantanamo to contact rebels for the release of Guantanamo Naval Base personnel men in rebel hands. There was no word that he had made contact. Wiecha, of Saginaw, Mich., is vice consul at Santiago.

Carried off in a fast swoop on a work camp in eastern Cuba were Sherman Avery White, about 52, of New York, general manager of the big U.S.-built Nicaro nickel plant; and his assistant, J. Andrew Poll, 45, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The latest strike in Castro's campaign to draw attention to his sputtering rebellion was carried out by eight rebels, the U. S. Embassy said.

The other captives are 10 U.S. and 2 Canadian engineers, seized last Thursday in the city of Mao; 28 U.S. servicemen from the U.S. Navy Base at Guantanamo; and two sugar mill executives kidnaped over the weekend. The last two are Daymond Elmore, 53, of Haynesville, La.; and Richard Sargent, about 50, of Toronto.

Canada Hunts Bomb Planters

KELOWNA, B.C. (AP)—Squads of extra police moved into this central British Columbia region Monday seeking the persons who planted four time bombs in public places over the weekend.

One man was arrested and police said charges may be preferred. The man's identity was not disclosed.

The bombs caused deep official concern, as Britain's Princess Margaret is due here for a visit July 18-21. Authorities said they will take extraordinary measures to insure her safety, but have not yet considered whether her tour of this area should be canceled or revised.

U.S. Debt Due To Hit New High As Fiscal '59 Begins

More and bigger deficit spending loomed ahead for fiscal 1959, bringing with it new inflationary pressure and damaging prospects for any substantial tax relief next year or soon thereafter.

In a few weeks, the administration will ask Congress to boost the federal debt ceiling for the second time this session. Some officials indicated a new temporary ceiling of 290 billion dollars may be sought. The earlier five billion dollar boost brought it to 280 billion.

The widening gap between income and outgo in the new fiscal year—now estimated at around 11 billion dollars, or possibly even close to 12 billion—makes substantial new Treasury borrowings inevitable. Some believe the deficit won't be that large, but nevertheless the federal debt is considered certain to pass the high water mark of $280,821,000,000 reached in December, 1955.

High administration sources estimated Monday night that a deficit of 2¾ to 3 billion dollars will have been rolled up for fiscal 1958 when all the paid bills are counted.

That is just an estimate. Nobody's guess on fiscal 1959 can be considered very reliable until Congress stops passing laws and making appropriations.

But the trend of higher spending and lagging receipts is unmistakeable. Originally, President Eisenhower told Congress that 1958 would bring his third balanced budget in a row.

Senate Votes To Plant 49th Star In Flag

House-Approved Bill Sent To Ike By 64-20 Margin

Acceptance of the House-passed bill left only the requirement of presidential approval and acceptance by Alaskans of the bill's terms to extend the Union to a point 55 miles from Russian Siberia.

The roll call vote was 64-20.

The bill would permit Alaska to take its place late this fall or early winter as the first new state since the 1912 admission of Arizona and New Mexico. Its two senators and lone House member could take their seats in the Congress in January.

Extension of statehood to Alaska would add to the United States an area roughly one-fifth the size of the existing 48 states and 2½ times that of Texas.

It would end the territorial status which has been Alaska's since it was acquired from Russia 1867 for 7.2 million dollars.

42-Year Fight Over

Alaskans for the first time would be permitted to cast their vote for president and vice president, have voting representation in the national Senate and House and to elect their own governor and state officers. Proponents of statehood for Alaska have been battling since 1916 when the first bill was introduced.

Passage of the bill on the sixth day of Senate debate came over the opposition of a determined group of senators, largely from the South, who argued that Alaska was not prepared for statehood either from the standpoint of economy or population.

They pointed also to Alaska's geographical location and said the overstepping of Canada to extend statehood to a non-contiguous area would be a precedent for admission of other offshore areas such as Hawaii, Puerto Rico or Guam.

Reports linking southern opposition to the civil rights issue and fears that Alaska's admission would lead to election of senators unfriendly to the southern stand were denied by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) in one of the final appeals made against the bill.

Psychological Weapon

During debate, statehood supporters cited Alaska's admission as a redemption of the pledge for self-government made in the treaty acquiring it from Russia. They saw it also as a psychological weapon of great value in the Western world's battle for world opinion.

They said Alaska's admission would give the area the impetus and stability required for further development of its economy and population.

In addition to granting Alaska self-government and congressional representation, the bill also gives it the right to select 103,350,000 acres, including mineral rights, from lands not already reserved by the government.

Under one provision of the bill, however, the President would be given the right at any future time to withdraw from the state for national defense purposes all or part of the area north and west of the Porcupine, Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers.

Tax Bill Signed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed a bill Monday repealing the 3 per cent tax on freight shipments but extending for another year the wartime tax rates on corporate income and a wide range of consumer goods.

Elimination of the tax on rail, road, air and water shipments will cost the government half a billion dollars a year in revenue.

But continuation of the 52 per cent rate on corporate incomes, the 10 per cent tax on passenger travel and excises on new autos, automotive accessories, cigarets, whisky, wines and beer will yield an extra $2,115,000,000.

All the rates would have dropped Tuesday, the start of a new fiscal year, in the absence of extension legislation.

Mobsters' Mystery Meeting Bore Mafia Pattern, Probe Told

The testimony came from Martin F. Pera, a 10-year veteran of the Narcotics Bureau, as the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee launched public hearings on an alleged crime syndicate operating in this country.

"The Apalachin meeting followed the Mafia pattern," Pera said. He described the alleged secret criminal society as one ruled by a grand council in this country and in Sicily, its reputed birth place. He said it commands an army of hoodlums who may win rewards for such missions as an efficient murder.

Pera said the Narcotics Bureau's investigations indicate the Mafia has made a concerted effort to penetrate the labor-management relations field.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, told reporters he will ask Pera to expand on this when the witness resumes his testimony Tuesday.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), committee chairman, said at the start of the hearing the nation's economy may be in peril from what he termed a massive infiltration of businesses and labor unions by gangsters and racketeers.

"There exists in America today," McClellan said, "what appears to be a close-knit, clandestine criminal syndicate."

Black hand or otherwise, McClellan said, there exists a criminal syndicate in this country, masking its operations behind the respectable fronts of business and labor union operations. He said it uses the businesses as a convenient screen to conceal the true source of its revenues from narcotics, gambling and prostitution rackets.

As the starting point for hearings in which McClellan said he will call "figures in the national criminal hierarchy" as witnesses, the committee chose the Apalachin meeting. This was a gathering the police raided last November. They rounded up 60 men, many of them known mobsters, who insisted to the skeptical law they had assembled only to visit a sick friend.

The committee said the investigation will run four or four and one half months, off and on. It has 100 witnesses under subpoena now.

Jet Pilot Admits Plane Collision Wasn't His First

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pilot of the jet trainer that collided with an airliner near Brunswick, Md., May 20, acknowledged Monday that he has been involved in at least two previous airplane collisions.

McCoy said he could no longer trust his memory as to the accidents, and also was not sure that he was privileged to talk about them. The Air Force usually is the authority for releasing information as to military accidents.

McCoy testified at a Civil Aeronautics Board inquiry into the collision between his T33 jet and a Capital Airlines Viscount airplane. All 11 persons aboard the Viscount were killed, as was McCoy's passenger, Army National Guard Pfc. Donald Chalmers.

Withholding Tax Laws Get New, Sharper Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collectors are preparing a new crackdown on businessmen who pocket taxes withheld from their employes' pay.

Starting Tuesday, any employer who ignores the withholding tax laws will be liable to a sentence of up to a year in jail and a $5,000 fine.

Heretofore the Internal Revenue Service has been able only to attach business assets to satisfy claims for delinquent withholding taxes.

Of 4.4 million businesses that withhold taxes for the government, 377,253 were delinquent to the extent of nearly 301 million dollars in 1957. This was an increase from 356,748 in 1956, when delinquencies totaled 279 million dollars.

Officials said almost all delinquents were small businessmen. They said few if any really large firms run afoul of the withholding tax regulations.

In addition to providing criminal penalties, the new law provides that a businessman who ignores warnings can be required to deposit taxes within two banking days after withholding them. The normal procedure is for businesses to deposit withheld taxes in special accounts once a month.

In fact, he added something—that Adams had obviously ordered Goldfine to "keep his mouth shut" when, Fox said, Goldfine proposed a toast to Adams on May 10, 1955, and remarked that "he never let's his friends down and he isn't letting me down at this time." At this time, Goldfine was in difficulty with the FTC.

Adams has conceded that he accepted gifts and payment of hotel bills from Goldfine—but only on a basis of friendship. He has testified he was imprudent—and President Eisenhower agreed—in making inquiries at the FTC and the Securities and Exchange Commission about Goldfine's troubles. But he said he used no influence to gain favorable treatment for his friend, and none was granted.

Fox's forum has been a hearing in which the Harris subcommittee has been digging into the way federal regulatory agencies operate and the question of whether Adams used any influence with any of them on behalf of Goldfine.

The White House, Choate, and members of Congress all have jumped on the subcommittee's conduct of the hearings, protesting that it permitted itself to be used for smearing innocent people.

U.S. Brushes Off 15-Day Red Chinese Ultimatum

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China demanded Monday the United States resume ambassadorial talks in Geneva within 15 days and threw in a threat against Formosa, guarded by the U.S. 7th Fleet.

Peiping radio said if no action is taken by July 14, it will make little difference to Red China. But the United States would be considered responsible for breaking off the talks.

In Washington, the State Department issued a statement rejecting what it called a 15-day Chinese ultimatum. Press Chief Lincoln White said the United States had been considering for a month whether to propose moving the talks from Geneva. He added:

"We are withholding any further action with respect to another meeting until we have had an opportunity fully to consider the Chinese Communist message."

The Chinese implication was that if the United States refuses to send an ambassador back to Geneva to discuss improvement of relations between the two countries, Red China might move against Formosa. Formosa is Nationalist China's stronghold.

Peiping put it this way:

"The Chinese people are by no means afraid of U.S. aggression and there is no reason whatever that they should be pining for talks with the United States.

The talks began in Geneva in 1955 between U.S. Ambassador Alexis Johnson and Red China's Wang Ping-Nan. They were called for negotiations on the release of 40 Americans in Red China. When most of the prisoners were released, the talks switched to other issues.

After the 73rd meeting last December 12, the talks were adjourned with no future meetings set. Johnson later was transferred to another post and Edwin W. Martin, first secretary of the U.S. embassy in London, was made temporary U.S. representative.

GOP Move For Probe Of Inquiry Spurned

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas ruled out of order a resolution proposed by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) contending the investigating subcommittee publicly aired testimony tending to defame, degrade or incriminate, without first determining the nature of the testimony in executive session.

It called for an investigation of the subcommittee's procedure.

Queen Elizabeth Tours Coal Mine

ROTHES, Scotland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II donned white coveralls, black rubber boots and a helmet Monday and went down a coal mine.

With her husband, Prince Philip and lady-in-waiting, the Countess of Euston, the Queen descended about 1,700 feet in an elevator.

Then she walked three-quarters of a mile to watch miners hewing a seam of coal and loading it on a conveyor belt. She splashed through puddles and was pelted by water dripping from the roof.

Suzy Parker Sues Railway For $350,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Suzy Parker, injured in an automobile-train collision which killed her father, filed a $350,000 damage suit Monday against the Florida East Coast Railway Co.

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court, said the former model was unable to pursue her career because of the injuries.

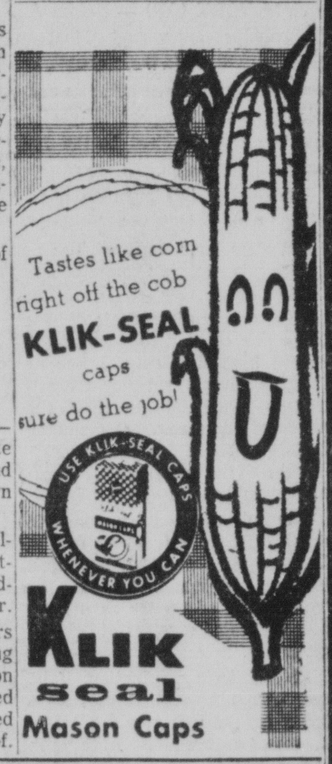

The car in which she was riding with her father, George Lofton Parker, and the train collided last June 7 at a railroad crossing near St. Augustine, Fla.

She suffered broken arms and other injuries.

Trujillo Yacht Reeks Of Luxury

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. gives a party aboard his yacht, the Angelita, the guests will find that it practically reeks of luxury.

The Dominican Republic playboy is planning such a party, but a warmup affair Zsa Zsa Gabor had been arranging for him was canceled Monday by the actress. It was to have been on July 8 in the plush L'Escoffier Room of the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

"So many friends requested invitations that I am afraid the party got out of hand," Zsa Zsa said in cancellation telegrams to the invitees. "I hope that my early invitation has not inconvenienced you. Love, Zsa Zsa."

But the yacht party, if and when it is given—now there will be a party!

The four-masted sailing barque, which also has diesel engines, is docked at nearby San Pedro.

"We hit the hardwood plank deck just after seista hour," Coates wrote. "And we are escorted amidships to a flotilla of blue denim-upholstered lounge chairs. A white-jacketed waiter brought cool, potent drinks."

The general, entitled to wear admiral's whites aboard his personal man o'war, appeared in English tweeds, a gray cashmere sweater, white sport shirt, silk neckerchief, brown rubber-soled mocassins and Hollywood - type dark glasses.

"We were ushered first into the main salon," Coates said.

"From its hand-carved, wood-beamed ceilings to its gold-embossed books, the room reeked of luxury. Its marble-faced fireplace bore a royal emblem inscribed 'Angelite Reina,' under the oil portrait of Angelita, the general's favorite sister.

"We were then led into the dining salon. Protocol on a Dominican general's private yacht demands that he be attended by at least three personal servants—a maitre d'hotel, a waiter and a chef all his own. Even if he dines alone, the general is given an elaborately printed menu of the courses he will be served."

Coates added these details about the yacht: "Latest in two-way radio equipment. . . automatic pilots and radar equipment. . . crew of 65 sailors and 15 officers. . . antique furniture, marble baths, a $70,000 Persian rug covering the general's stateroom floor. . . half a dozen standard model television sets."

U.N. Team To Report

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold told the Security Council Monday the U. N. watchdog team in Lebanon is about ready to submit its first findings on alleged outside aid to Lebanese rebels.

Into the heart of Siberia a huge flame plummeted downward.

In seconds it thundered to the swampy ground of a forest. There was an enormous explosion.

Shock tore trees from the ground. Windows shattered more than 40 miles away. On the Trans-Siberian Railway, 400 miles distant, an engineer stopped his train for fear it would derail.

This was bombardment from outer space—a barrage of meteorites weighing as much as a locomotive, slamming into the earth and exploding.

It happened shortly before 7 o'clock the evening of June 30, 1908—50 years ago.

Now a Russian expedition is at the site of the explosion says Tass, the Soviet news agency. The Russian scientists hope to learn something of the nature of the meteorite barrage in recognition of the 50th anniversary.

All over the world seismographs trembled. Smoke rose into the morning sky and was said to have tinted European twilights for days afterward.

It found trees scorched or denuded for 15 miles around.

There were 10 craters, some more than 15 yards across.

But hardly anything remained of the several hundred tons of meteorites that ripped into the atmosphere at between 10 and 40 miles per second.

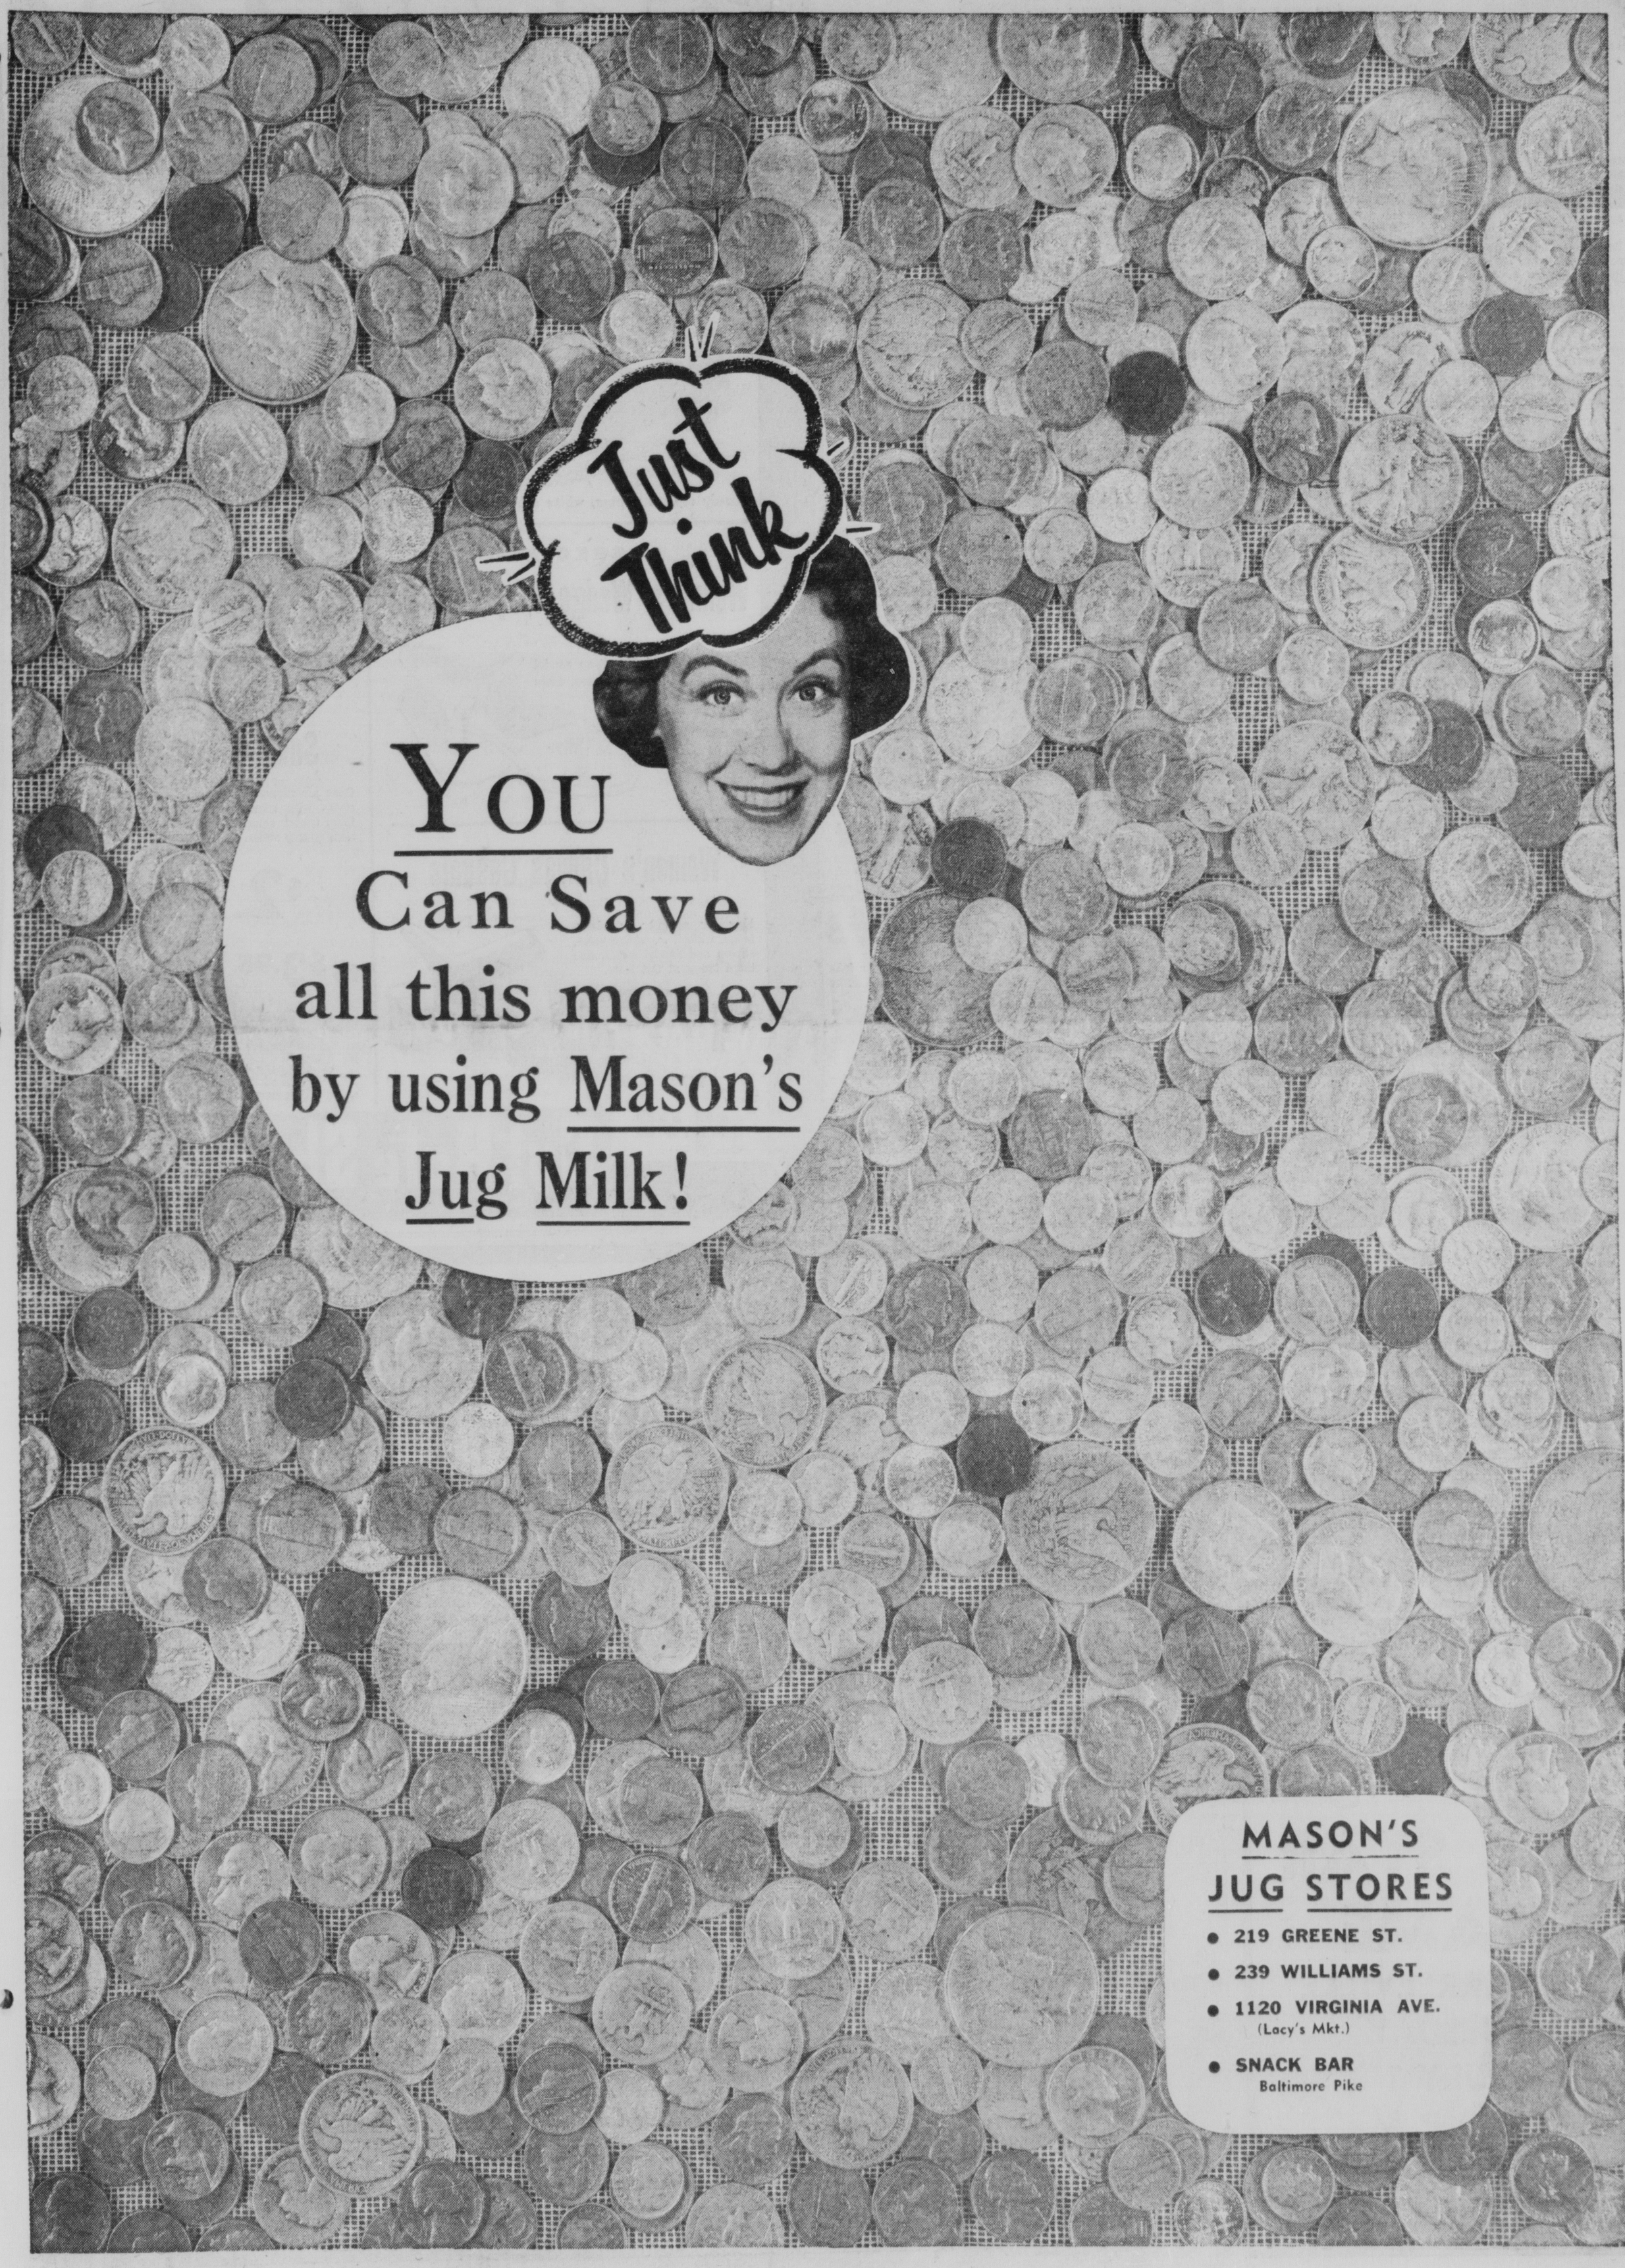

Had the meteorites struck just 4 hours and 47 minutes earlier, they wouldn't have fallen harmlessly into the Siberian wilderness. Instead they would have ploughed into the city of St. Petersburg, undoubtedly with a great loss of life.

For all its spectacular behavior, the Siberian barrage was only a sample of the cannonading the earth takes each year from the traveling junk piles of space.

D'Alesandro Lists Three Key Areas In Elections

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's Third District, and adjacent counties of Baltimore and Anne Arundel, which have shown recent Republican voting trends, are the three key areas in the Maryland elections in November, in the opinion of Mayor D'Alesandro.

The Democratic mayor, running for the U.S. Senate, told Third District leaders of his party Sunday that their bailiwick will determine how the Democrats fare in the city as a whole.

He expressed confidence they would run ahead in the other five legislative districts. But the Third, with more than 118,000 registered voters, could tip the scales.

Although the registered Democrats outnumber Republicans 93,000 to 25,000, Rep. Gov. McKeldin drew more votes in the Third than Democrat H. C. Byrd four years ago.

The district also has had two Republicans in the House of Delegates. There was only one other Republican delegate from the city.

Baltimore County, which has a Democratic registration of 164,000 to 47,000 Republicans, likewise has strayed from the party line. It is the home of Republican James P. S. Devereux who is leaving the House of Representatives to run for governor.

Last year, the county switched to a council form of government and Republicans won a majority of the seats.

In Anne Arundel, the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 43,000 to 14,000. Yet Republican U.S. Sen. Butler beat Democrat George P. Mahoney there in 1956.

Also Republican William B. Prendergast drew more votes than Democrat Richard E. Lankford for the House of Representatives, although it is Lankford's county. Lankford was reelected by virtue of majorities in other counties in the congressional district.

Prendergast is running this time for State Senate against Louis Phipps. A Democratic faction led by Phipps swept the Democratic primary last month. The losers, headed by Ralph Lowman, have not shown signs yet of joining forces.

The Third District factions have responded to a call to arms against the Republicans.

Millard Tawes, the Democratic candidate for governor, said he was not being lulled into any sense of security although "everyone is telling me the election is in the bag."

He expressed concern that too many Democrats are accepting at face value the trend is in their favor this year on account of the business recession and gifts to the White House.

Cuban Consul's Life Threatened

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cuban consul in Baltimore, Carlos Tornes, turned over to the police and FBI two letters threatening his life.

Both letters were dated last Thursday and were found under the door the next day.

One letter, written in pencil, said:

"Cuban consul — We bring you a message from the Sierra Maestra. You are a traitor. We will get you soon."

The other, in black and red ink on heavy cardboard, read:

"By serving Batista you have betrayed not only Cuba but the principles of democracy. We are here to get you."

D.C. Transit System Proposes To Up Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — D. C. Transit System asked Monday for permission to charge higher fares for rides on its streetcars and buses in the Washington area.

It proposed a 20 cent straight fare, the dropping of tokens and weekly permits and an increase in school children's fares from 7½ to 10 cents.

Five tokens now are sold for 95 cents. Riders can pay 90 cents for a weekly permit and 10 cents for a ride. Cash fares are 20 cents.

Accent On Military

TOKYO (AP) — One establishment in Tokyo's cabaret district has come up with a gimmick that puts the accent on the military.

Supply Minister Athol Townley said the end of the range now will be 50 miles inland from the west coast.

Bride Missing Three Months Murder Victim

DENTON, Md. (AP)—A 19-year-old bride of three months, missing from her home since Saturday, was found murdered Monday in a wooded area near the Delaware State Line.

State Police were searching the countryside for 26-year-old Clayton Edward Breeding of Hickman, an ex-convict who they said has been charged with Mrs. Cannon's murder.

State Police said Breeding had been charged with kidnaping before the body of Mrs. Cannon was found, but the charge was changed to murder after discovery of the body.

Dr. Dawson O. George, Caroline County medical examiner, said an autopsy was being performed to determine how Mrs. Cannon died, but "she apparently was strangled."

Mrs. Cannon was last seen in the doorway of her Burrsville home, about 5 miles east of Denton at 1 p.m. Saturday by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jeanette Scott of Denton.

She notified State Police early Sunday that Mrs. Cannon was missing.

At 2:35 p.m. Monday, State Police put out a pickup, to local authorities up and down the Eastern Shore, that Breeding was wanted for kidnaping in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Cannon.

Breeding was reported last seen about 10 p. m. Saturday night, barefoot and wearing a white T-shirt and trousers.

After Mrs. Cannon's body was found, not far from Breeding's home in Hickman, about six miles from Denton, State Police changed the charge from kidnaping to murder.

Easton State Police said officers who went to Breeding's home were told by the man's wife that he had been there about 3:30 p.m.

Threatened Strike May Tie Up Projects

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Millions of dollars worth of construction projects may be tied up Tuesday if a scheduled strike of some 1,800 iron workers materializes.

The employes, members of three iron workers union locals, are scheduled to strike if they fail to win a wage increase in contract negotiations with the Steel Erectors Assn. of Philadelphia and vicinity and the Association of General Contractors of New Jersey.

Affected by the walkout, if it develops, will be workers in southern New Jersey, the Philadelphia metropolitan area, Delaware and part of Maryland.

The first city university in the United States was the University of Cincinnati. This was back in 1870.

Maryland Unemployment Shows Drop For First Time This Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Unemployment in Maryland went down during May—the first month this year that the state jobless figures showed a decline.

And employment climbed over the million mark for the first time this year. May represented the fourth straight month that the number of jobs increased.

But there were still many more out of work last May than there were during the same month a year ago.

These points were included in a monthly summary issued Monday by the State Department of Employment Security.

Executive Director Robert Kimble said there was increased activity in services, construction, agriculture and food-processing, although heavy industry — the hardest hit in the current slump —had not improved.

As a result, he said, the employment picture in Baltimore City is considerably worse than the rest of the state because of the seasonal gain in agriculture and food-processing.

Unemployment dropped 6,700 during May for the state as a whole, and employment rose 13,000, the report said.

The total unemployed during the month dropped to 79,300. In April, there were 86,000 jobless. But in May 1957, the unemployment figure was only 38,200.

Total employment in the state hit 1,008,800 in May, compared with 995,800 in April and 1,034,000 in May 1957.

Harbor Tunnel Is Paying Its Way After All

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore harbor tunnel, still looking new and shiny after seven months of operation, is paying its way after all.

Traffic through the twin tubes under the busy harbor was so slight during the first two or three months after its opening last November that some officials predicted the tolls would have to be raised to meet the payments.

But with summer here, tunnel traffic is averaging about 30,000 cars and trucks a day. That is what the traffic engineering consultants figured originally as the daily usage.

And the tunnel business should pick up still more during the next two months, when more vacationers take to the road, and next fall, when the Baltimore County beltway will be completed. Then through traffic can use the tunnel to bypass the city entirely.

Since its opening, two million dollars have been paid at the row of toll gates by drivers of five million vehicles.

During the seven months, there have been no traffic fatalities in the tunnel, and only one in which someone was seriously injured. The total of accidents, including minor fender brushes, now total 60.

Fugitive Nabbed Near Gambrills

State Police said he had a fake pistol when he was nabbed as he walked along U.S. 301.

He jumped off an institution truck and fled into woods Sunday morning. He was free less than 24 hours.

Explosion To Create Vital Seaway Link

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—Thirty tons of dynamite will be exploded Tuesday in the St. Lawrence River near here to create a lake that will be a vital link in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

American and Canadian dignitaries will watch the explosion to breach a 600-foot-long dike and start formation of the new lake whose overflow will generate the second largest volume of hydroelectric power in the United States.

The new lake, 25 miles long and 1 to 5 miles wide, will convert the turbulent waters of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence into a placid pool.

The 650-million dollar development, constructed jointly by the Power Authority of New York State and the Hydroelectric Power Commission of Ontario Province, is scheduled to provide its first dependable commercial power in September. It will be completed in the fall of 1959.

The dirt and rock dike to be blasted extends from Barnhart Island to Sheek Island. It was built to divert the St. Lawrence from the site of the new Barnhart Island Power Dam during construction.

A new state park will be created on Barnhart Island with a public beach, recreational facilities, bath houses, picnic areas and other attractions for vacationers.

The new lake, to be called Lake St. Lawrence, will be formed by the flooding waters above the two dams which stand athwart the St. Lawrence River at Massena.

The 3,300-foot-long St. Lawrence Power Dam, which will house 32 turbine generator units capable of producing an installed capacity of 1,880,000 kilowatts, spans the North Channel between Canada and Barnhart Island in the United States.

Farther upstream, the Long Sault Dam, a curved structure 2,960 feet long, controls the South Channel between Barnhart Island and the U.S. mainland.

The huge generators will produce hydroelectric power for farms, homes, rural cooperatives, municipalities and industries within a 150-mile radius of the project on the U.S. side.

Owl Invasion Via Chimney Upsets Home

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—It was 6 a.m. when Jim Manask's son awakened him and said: "Dad, there's something flying around my room and it looks like a bat!"

Manask sleepily investigated but saw nothing until Arthur, 13, said: "Look under the bed." He did and found himself staring into two big owl eyes.

He shuffled back to his bedroom and whispered to his wife: "Helen, you awake? There's an owl under Arthur's bed."

"Well," she said, suddenly wide awake, "go get the broom and shoo him out of here."

Manask ambled into the kitchen. There, perched on the handle of a skillet, was another owl.

"Helen," he called "the house is lousy with owls."

They called police, who suggested the humane society.

"That'll take all morning," Mrs. Manask said. "Look at my living room! Feathers and soot all over the place."

The owls evidently had come the chimney. Besides messing up the place, they had knocked over two vases of flowers and attacked a stuffed squirrel in Arthur's room.

"Let's open all the doors and windows and try chasing 'em out by waving towels at 'em," Arthur suggested.

His plan worked, but it took an hour before the owls departed and parked themselves in a nearby tree.

Market Extends String Of Daily Gains To Four

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market ran up its string of daily gains to four straight in active dealings Monday.

Key issues were ahead from fractions to a point or so. Some exceptions made wider gains. There was a scattering of losers.

Industrials carried the ball in the advance. Rails were mixed. Utilities barely nudged ahead on average, but made a new high for the year in so doing.

The over-all gain was moderate. Market background included the record total of construction awards for May and a pickup in defense purchases by the government. A slowing of steel industry output and some uncertainty about the question of higher steel prices also were factors.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to $174.80 with the industrials up $1.30, the rails unchanged and the utilities up 10 cents to a new 1958 peak.

Of 1,185 issues traded, 581 rose and 360 fell. There were 113 new highs for the year and 3 new lows.

Volume was 2,820,000 shares compared with 2,800,000 on Friday.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks advanced and four declined.

American Stock exchange prices were mixed. Volume was 1,010,000 shares compared with 870,000 on Friday.

County Farmers Will Get Wool Incentive Pay

Some 22 farmers of Allegany County are to receive wool incentive payment checks which will be mailed on Thursday.

Elizabeth Hoover, who is in charge of the local office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said a number of the farmers are slated to get two checks, one for shorn wool and the other for unshorn lambs.

Wool incentive payment of 15.5 per cent has been authorized by the Department of Agriculture for wool of the 1957 marketing year, she said.

Payments will be mailed to producers who have presented properly documented claims to the ASC office for wool sold from April 1, 1957 through March 31, 1958.

Incentive payment of 15.5 per cent adds $15.50 to the farmer's income for every $100 the farmer netted from his sale of shorn wool.

Incentive payment for unshorn lambs amounts to 33 cents per hundred pounds of live weight. Properly documented records of sales must be on record at the county ASC office before payment can be made.

Good trick — plump dried prunes in hot prune juice instead of water. Use twice as much prune juice as you have prunes, and let the prunes stand in the juice for 24 hours. For a little extra zip, add a few cloves and a stick of cinnamon. Result is extra flavor all the way.

Hearings Open

7. A federal park would in effect mean an extention of the District of Columbia into Maryland, which is able to develop selected recreational areas on its own along the river.

Not Valid Criticism

Citing each of these points, Hyde said the first and last are not valid because if it were expensive and difficult for the federal government to administer a park, it would be even more so for a state.

As for state sovereignty, Hyde pointed out that the federal government already owns the strip constituting the present C & O Canal right of way and that making the area a national park would not materially affect the present situation.

He said homes and industries still could have use of Potomac waters, and that the area should benefit economically by development of the proposed park.

The Potomac River still would be in Maryland ownership, he added, and declared numerous conservation organizations had endorsed the proposal as one which would lead to the abatement of stream pollution, improve fishing and promote wildlife growth.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, was among a half dozen witnesses strongly backing the park project. It is estimated to involve expenditure of $8,330,000 over a five-year period. Land valued at a million dollars would be needed to widen the existing C & O canal right of way acquired by the government in 1938. The other expenditures would be for roads, trails and buildings.

The committee resumes the hearing today on Hyde's bill and a similar one already passed by the Senate.

More than a score of proponents were lined up to testify during the two-day study.

Other Witnesses

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman, and Jack L. Towler and Patrick Stakem of the Chamber of Commerce tourist committee, attended the hearing. There were witnesses for the proposal from Hancock, Williamsport, Oldtown, Hagerstown, and other sections of Maryland.

It was indicated to the committee that most of the earlier opposition to the idea had been withdrawn and that only two groups probably will be heard in opposition.

Rep. Hyde said he is hopeful that the hearings will result in favorable action on the legislation.

Mrs. Reynolds Receives VFW Citations

Mrs. Raymond Reynolds, Maryland Avenue, immediate past president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Maryland, has been appointed assistant musician for the Maryland auxiliary.

At the convention held in Salisbury (Md.) last week, Mrs. Reynolds was given two citations. One was from the Department of Maryland, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for her work with the VFW during the year she was state auxiliary president. The other was from the Maryland Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society for work she did in heading and organizing the statewide fund-raising campaign.

Mrs. Hallie Smith of Dundalk, new state auxiliary president, complimented Mrs. Reynolds on the theme she developed for the convention. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which has played such an important part in the development and history of the state, was honored. The hall where the ladies' encampment sessions were held was lined with pictures of all phases of the B&O activity, and Mrs. Reynolds followed a B&O theme in her gifts, favors and decorations.

Atom Sharing Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was given Monday much of the authority he had sought for sharing additional atomic military secrets with U. S. allies.

The Senate passed on to the White House legislation providing more freedom to exchange weapons information and materials than the government has possesed since the first atomic energy law was enacted 12 years ago.

City Is Reimbursed For Race Event Cost

The Mayor and Council yesterday received a $1,001.03 check representing payment in full for its costs in connection with the 1958 Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races.

The check was enclosed in a letter from William R. Carscaden, general chairman, who thanked the city and the Municipal Airport Commission for cooperation in the event.

YMCA Camp Plans Events

Special events are planned for the second week of the Central YMCA's day camp, Camp Y's Way, James H. Fortner, program secretary, said yesterday.

There are 45 campers enrolled for the first period of camping at the facilities of the Ali Ghan Shrine Club's picnic grounds.

The first week of the camping period got off to a bad start last Monday when rain spoiled the opening program.

Wednesday the camp is planning to take a trip to Shawnee Park. This trip will be held on Thursday if the weather does not cooperate, Fortner added

On Thursday the entire day program will be devoted to "Pioneer Days," and that evening the first parents' night of the current season will be held. The parents' night is planned at 7 p. m. at the club's picnic grounds.

The next camping period will include such special events as a trip to Hershey Park, Pa., overnight camp-outs, and another special theme.

The camping periods last for two weeks.

W.Va. Voters To Fill New Vacancy At Primary

CHARLESTON (AP) — Judge James B. Riley's unexpected death Sunday has given West Virginia voters another "X" to mark on the primary election ballots Aug. 5.

Although the deadline for filing was passed May 3, Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron issued an opinion saying that candidates for the Riley vacancy should be listed on the primary election ballots.

The precedent for that procedure was contained in a 1956 opinion of the Supreme Court following the death of U. S. Sen. Harley M. Kilgore.

Candidates were quick to avail themselves of the opportunity. The first to present his certificate Monday was former Asst. Atty. Gen. Harold A. Bangert of Charleston, who already was a candidate for Supreme Court nomination.

Bangert, a Democrat, said he would file as a candidate for his party's nomination to both vacancies, and withdraw from one or the other race later.

Bangert already had been certified as one of three Democratic aspirants to serve out the remaining six years of the term of the late Judge W. T. Lovins of Huntington.

The other candidates are incumbent Judge H. L. Ducker of Huntington and Circuit Judge Thornton G. Berry Jr. of Welch.

Judge Ducker was named to succeed Lovins when the latter resigned shortly before the Democratic administration of former Gov. William C. Marland went out of office in January of 1957.

The Republican candidates for the Lovins' term are Circuit Judge Max DeBerry of Harrisville, and E. Franklin Pauley.

The Riley term extends only until Dec. 31, 1960. Gov. Underwood will fill the vacancy by appointment until a successor has been elected in November.

Secretary of State Helen Holt said that certificates of candidacy would be received all this week, until midnight of July 5.

Presumably some counties had proceeded with having their ballots printed, and revision of their plans were in order with developments brought about by the death of Judge Riley.

The Attorney General's opinion said that the interpretation by the Supreme Court in the case of Kilgore's death two years ago would apply in the present circumstances.

In that case, the court rejected the proposition that nominating conventions should be held and ruled that candidates could file for the Senate nomination up to 30 days prior to the election. The statutory deadline for filing for other offices also had passed when Kilgore died.

W.Va. Insurance To Be Awarded

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Board of Insurance decided at its meeting Monday that state insurance contracts expiring Tuesday will be awarded to agents in July.

The board earlier assigned state properties to company field men who volunteered to survey all buildings. A complete inspection was made, including a fire safety survey with recommendations for improvements and estimates of insurable value.

Booklets on each institution with specific information were compiled by these field men. With these, the board began compiling schedules for each state building, showing present insurance, recommended insurance and rates.

These schedules, when completed, together with the rates promulgated by the West Virginia Rating Bureau, will be used by the board in deciding on the agents and the amounts of coverage to be allotted.

Rescuer Drowns

MULLENS, W. Va. (AP) — A 12-year-old Wyoming County girl was drowned Monday while attempting to pull a companion from the Guyandotte River about two miles north of here.

Authorities identified the victim as Linda Lawson, twin daughter of Mrs. Victor Lawson of Itman. Witnesses said the little girl was standing on the river bank and was attempting to pull a girl friend out of the water when she tumbled in. Her body was recovered 40 minutes later.

The platypus, a native of Australia, is a mammal, but it produces its young like a bird. It has a duck's beak and webbed feet. Instead of feathers, it has a coat of short fur. It lays eggs like a bird, but nurses them like a mammal.

West Virginia Folk Festival Planned

GLENVILLE—West Virginia's annual State Folk Festival will be held here again this year, with the celebration set for Friday and Saturday, July 4 and 5. The campus of Glenville State College and the streets of this county-seat will be the scene of the many entertaining features of this year's festival.

Dr. Patrick Gainer, festival director-general, and his assistant, Dr. Harold Orendorff, said the festival will open Friday at 10:30 a. m. on the corner of Main and Court streets.

Honored at the opening ceremony will be the ten 1958 "Belles" who will represent as many Central West Virginia counties.

A new feature at this year's event will be an old-time fiddler's contest which will be held on the college campus as part of the Friday evening program. The director-general added that more attention is being given this year to exhibits and street activities, and that there will be ample entertainment for all visitors to the festival.

The festival committee has voted to award a silver cup and other honors to the winners in the fiddler's contest and will present awards to the winners in all other contests.

Among the many contests scheduled are apple butter stirrings, basket making contests, weaving demonstrations, horse shoe pitching contests, wood chopping contests and nail driving contests. Dr. Gainer also announced that numerous entertainers will be here for the two-day event, with many of them coming from southern West Virginia.

Also listed on the program are exhibits of crafts and displays of antiques.

Railway Freight Shed To Be Razed Soon

Demolition of the Western Maryland freight shed on South Mechanic Street as a part of the project to provide a 100-car parking lot will start in about two weeks.

A railroad spokesman said the metal shed facing on South Mechanic Street will be the first to be torn down. The work will be done by Engineering Department employes.

The brick Western Division freight office will be removed either by Western Maryland crews or by a salvage company.

The new offices of the Western Division freight offices are 90 per cent complete. They have been located in the warehouse building on Canal Street.

The three-story warehouse and the metal freight shed on Canal Street will be retained for the railroad's local service.

The new quarters will be painted and equipment will be moved from the old freight office in about two weeks, the spokesman said.

To make way for this downtown parking center and to allow the railroad to concentrate its freight business at Canal Street the City Council gave the Western Maryland the right to close the thoroughfare.

Two of the tracks that served the South Mechanic Street shed will be removed along with the center unloading platform.

When the shed, office building and tracks are removed, the area will be graded and blacktopped. The operation of the lot will be leased by the railroad to a firm specializing in that business.

Thief Replaces Motor

Missing Youngster's Body Found In Alley

BALTIMORE (AP) — The body of a five-year-old Negro girl was found in an alley about 6 a.m. Monday, ending an all-night search for the child.

Police said the child, Martha McNeil, was reported missing by her parents at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The child's body was found only a few houses from her own home.

The only signs of violence, officers said, were a small abrasion on her forehead and a spot of blood beneath the head.

Girl Scouts Conclude Day Camp

A two-week day camp by Cumberland Council of Girl Scouts has just ended in Constitution Park with 385 girls participating.

During the outdoor sessions, the girls worked on various badge requirements, according to Mrs. William D. Claus, camp director.

They were assisted by their leaders and advisors such as Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, and official Weather Bureau observer here, who helped on the weather badges, and Brooke Bodkin, senior forester for Allegany County, who gave a demonstration on outdoor safety.

Mrs. Claus said 200 girls from Romney, Hyndman, Keyser and Cumberland attended the first week and 185 girls from Hyndman and Cumberland, the second week, which was last week.

Volunteer adult leaders were Mrs. Edward Milbrada, Mrs. David Powers, Mrs. Charles Conners, Mrs. Victor Atwell, Mrs. John Sherman, Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, Mrs. James Kave.

Mrs. A. Frazer, Mrs. B. Huffman, Mrs. Elmer Beachley, Mrs. Walter E. Smith, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Fazenbaker, Mrs. Gordon Miller, Mrs. Richard Fredman, Mrs. Dewy House and Mrs. Kay Lindsay.

Swimming instructions in the park pool were given by Mrs. John McGuire, Judy McKenty and Darlene Whalley.

In one out of every seven fatal traffic accidents, the driver's vision was obscured. Fifteen per cent of all motor vehicle accidents are estimated to have a visual basis.

W.Va. Chairman GOP To Attend Mineral Picnic

Party Invites General Public

KEYSER — Republican State Chairman Daniel Louchery will be one of the honored guests at the Good Neighbor picnic, sponsored by the Mineral County Republican Women's Club, at the Keyser Swimming Pool recreational area Wednesday. An old time picnic will get under way at 6:30 p. m. and a number of well known Republican leaders will be present.

Persons planning to attend are to bring one meat dish and one other dish. Beverages and watermelon will be furnished free.

Chairman Louchery is a native of Clarksburg and has served as state chairman, following the appointment of former Chairman Hoblitzell to the US Senate. He is a practicing attorney and was a candidate for the third congressional district representative, losing in a close race to Congressman Bailey. He has been making an effort to visit every county in the state and expressed pleasure upon receiving the invitation to visit Mineral.

Mrs. Harold J. Snyder, president of the sponsoring organization made a special announcement Monday, that the picnic is not restricted to members of the organization but open to all who would like to be present and enjoy the meal and program. Charles Town, Petersburg, Romney, Piedmont and Ridgeley have made plans to attend.

New Rotarian Governors To Take Offices

Kingwood Attorney Heads District 753

The two governors were elected at the organization's recent convention in Dallas, Texas. The announcement came from headquarters of Rotary International here.

Carper will coordinate the activities of 37 Rotary clubs in southern counties of the state. Carper, an insurance man, has been a Rotarian since 1945 and has served as president of the Princeton club.

Wilhelm, a former circuit judge and one time mayor of Kingwood, heads a district with 23 clubs and 1,153 members. He has been a member of the organization since 1938 and also is a past president of his home club.

FFA Honors Area Youths

COLLEGE PARK—Four boys from Northern Garrett County High School, near Accident, and two from Flintstone High School have been awarded the Maryland Farmer degree at the Maryland Future Farmers of America convention at the University of Maryland.

The area boys were among 40 around the state to receive this degree. Winner over these 40 boys was Paul Twining Jr., 16-year-old boy from Princess Anne in Somerset County, named Maryland's star farmer.

Region 1 boys receiving the farmer degree were William B. Baker and Guy Stonestreet, both of Flintstone, and David Beachy, Roy Beitzel, Samuel Bowman and Roger Lohr, all of Northern Garrett.

The FFA is a national organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture in high schools. The 150 delegates this week came from 48 Maryland chapters with a total membership of 2,500.

Firemen To Collect Coin Containers

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company will begin today to collect the coin containers that were left in the homes here and the surrounding area several months ago for ambulance service. A member of the fire company will call at the homes during the week, pick up the coin containers and give receipts for the amount.

W.Va. Boy Drowns

CHARLESTON (AP) — Sammy Badger, 14, student of Thomas Jefferson Junior High School, was drowned today while swimming with two companions in Elk River.

City police said Badger had strayed into deep water and apparently was unable to swim to the shallows.

Weather Expected To Near Normal

HUNTINGTON (AP) — Near normal summer temperatures are expected in West Virginia during the next four days for the first time in nearly a month.

The Weather Bureau said the temperature should average near the normal of 73 north and 74 south. It's to be warm Tuesday and Wednesday and somewhat cooler Thursday and Friday. Up to one inch of precipitation is expected from scattered showers Wednesday through Friday.

Senator Bean Challenged On Hopemont Blast

Miss Hallanan Urges Airing

CHARLESTON (AP) — Miss Elizabeth V. Hallanan said today that State Senate President Ralph J. Bean has put employes of Hopemont Sanitarium "under a cloud of suspicion" and then gone off fishing.

She said Bean "has refused to shed any light upon the allegations made by him on the floor of the State Senate one week ago."

Miss Hallanan, a Republican is assistant to the State Commissioner of Public Institutions. Bean is a Democrat.

At last week's one-day session of the Legislature, Bean said in a Senate speech that certain charges had been brought to him recently by a committee of three persons from Preston County, where the sanitarium is located.

The committee, Bean said, had informed him of improper use of certain property at the tuberculosis institution, and alleged that one official had carried on immoral affairs with other employes.

Bean said he was told that the Preston group had asked Public Institutions Commissioner Harold Neely to investigate, but the commissioner had refused to do so.

The Senate president urged that the Legislature's Committee on Government and Finance investigate the allegations.

Miss Hallanan said Monday that both she and Commissioner Neely had tried to get from Bean the names of those supposed to have been involved but he had not cooperated. She added:

"He has indicated that it is his desire to bring the charges to attention of the legislative interim committee on July 13. In the meantime, 234 employes at Hopemont remain under a cloud of suspicion. This is manifestly unfair to these employes who must wait indefinitely before a proper investigation can be made."

Miss Hallanan said that Neely had engaged Bean in telephone conversations trying to get further light on the allegations, but Bean "advised us that he will be unable to do so until July 13, because he was going away on a fishing weekend to be followed by a vacation."

She said that having made the charges, it seemed that Bean "would recognize his responsibility in bringing the facts to public appraisal."

Sunshine Girls Meet Tonight

LONACONING — A meeting of Victory Council 1, Pythian Sunshine Girls, will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

All members are urged to attend to plan for the swimming party to be held July 9 at Celanes pool and to return all share papers for the July 4th celebration at the Armory.

A report on the bake sale held Saturday morning will be given and a report on the swimming pool project.

The council will be dismissed so members may attend a 4-H girls club meeting at 7 p. m.

Arion Band Lists Parades, Concerts

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Fire Department and Frostburg's Arion band will participate in the following events during the month of July: Lonaconing, Thursday, July 3; Romney for the West Virginia Firemen's convention, Friday, July 18; and Corriganville on Thursday, July 24.

Visitors

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Dale Arner and daughter, Selma Ala., visited Mr. and Mrs. Francis X. Cosgrove, 170 Mt. Pleasant Street.

Area Witnesses Plan To Attend World Conclave

Schedule Sessions In Yankee Stadium

LONACONING—Jehovah's Witnesses from the Lonaconing congregation have announced plans to attend an international convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York city this summer.

Marshall Morton, presiding minister of the local group, said the convention promises to be the largest in the history of Jehovah's Witnesses. It is scheduled for July 27 through August 3 and will be held simultaneously in Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds.

The last international convention, attended by many Lonaconing Witnesses, was in 1953 in Yankee Stadium and reached a peak attendance of 165,000 including the overflow audiences. Watchtower officials have arranged this year for the program to be held in both places, with most program features repeated at the Polo Grounds immediately following the first presentation in Yankee Stadium.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, governing agency for Jehovah's Witnesses, has been making special travel arrangements for foreign delegates. Many missionaries who have served in other lands will also be brought to the United States for the Bible convention. Purpose of the gathering is to provide stimulus for the New World society of Jehovah's Witnesses in Christian association, Bible instruction and ministerial training.

Mr. Morton stated that it is not yet known how many Witnesses from this area will attend, but special travel arrangements are being made by train.

Ruritans Plan To Extend Fox Eradication

January 1 New Contest Deadline

MOOREFIELD — The Fox Eradication Program sponsored by the Bean Settlement Ruritans Club has been extended until January 1, 1959, according to an announcement last week by Winfred Park, club official. The same prizes offered previously including a $100, first prize, a $50 second prize, a $25 third prize, ten $10 prizes and fifteen $5 prizes will be carried over and awarded after the January 1 date. Special prizes of a turkey at Thanksgiving and a turkey at Christmas will also be offered.

Ruritan Club officials state that not enough entrants in the contest had been made to warrant the prizes on June 30 as originally scheduled. The new date will enable farmers and trappers to destroy fox all through the fall and winter season.

Contest rules are simple. The fox must be killed in Hardy County and the whole fox or fox hide checked at the check points with the tail to be removed by the checker. Checking stations are Williams Service Station, Moorefield, Criders Store, Fabius, Bowman's Store at Needmore, Chris See's Station at Wardensville, Stanley See's Station at Mathias and Conservation Officers Al Lewis at Wardensville or Bart Townsend in Moorefield.

The prevalence of rabies in the fox population and the destruction of livestock, game and poultry by the predators inspired the contest which is open to any one.

Tri-Towns Sr. Council To Meet At Swanton

PIEDMONT — The monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Senior Council will be held at the home of Miss Linda Teets, Swanton, tomorrow evening, according to Miss Patty Kelley, president.

Final plans will be made for the weekend trip to Bethesda, Md., late in October.

Return Home

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shuck and daughter, Baltimore; and Mrs. Helene Marshall and son, Washington, returned after visiting Mrs. Nellie Shuck and Mr and Mrs. Edgar Shuck, Broadway.

Officers Of Women Of The Moose

Police Chief Cites Ban On All Fireworks

FROSTBURG — Lloyd Truly, chief of police, calls the attention of the public to the fact that all fireworks within the state are forbidden by the statutes of the State of Maryland unless approval has been obtained from the state insurance commissioner.

Under the law, fireworks of every description are banned unless such approval has been obtained. It specifically bans the use of firecrackers, squibs, rockets, sparklers, roman candles, torpedoes, bombs, paper caps, grenades, fire balloons, signal lights and any combustible or explosive composition. No section of the state is exempt from operation of this law, and any person violating it by possessing, discharging or selling fireworks is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is subject to a fine of not more than $50.

Any person selling fireworks in violation of the provisions of the law shall be subject to a fine of not more than $200 for each offense.

By reason of the enforcement of the fireworks act, loss of life has been greatly decreased in the state and there have been few accidents as a result of burns and explosions incident to the use of fireworks.

Chief Truly pointed out that several persons have been treated for burns already this year, because they have disobeyed a law designed to protect them.

Registrar Lists Enrollment For Summer School

FROSTBURG — Frederick M. Wescott Jr., registrar at Frostburg State Teachers College, has released the final registration total for the newly-inaugurated summer school as 133 students. According to Wescott, there are 64 students registered in undergraduate courses, and 69 for graduate study.

Students attending the summer session represent 20 colleges and universities in seven states, the summary notes. There are 120 students registered from Maryland, eight from Pennsylvania, four from West Virginia and one from the District of Columbia.

Residency of students by counties finds Allegany County leading with 103 registrants. There are 11 from Garrett, two from Prince Georges, and one each from Frederick, Talbot, Washington and Baltimore City, and 13 from out-of-state.

Women lead the enrollment with 72, as against 61 men. Classes will continue until August 1.

DAR To Hold Antique Display

KEYSER—A display of small antique articles is being planned for October 10-11 by Potomac Valley Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The articles wanted for display are old glass, china, vases, coins, silver, candlesticks, or jewelry.

These will be shown at the homes of Mrs. Martin L. Watson, Overton Place, and Miss Pauline Gelwicks, South Main Street.

Midland Homemakers Mark 32d Anniversary

MIDLAND — The Homemakers Club celebrated their 32nd anniversary with a turkey supper, held in Red Men's Hall, at their recent meeting. Reports were heard from the members who attend the Rural Women's Short Course held at College Park.

The club was organized May 10, 1926, at the Methodist Parsonage, with Mrs. Lynn Arbogast, wife of the minister, as hostess. The charter members, besides Mrs. Arbogast were Mrs. Fannie Stevens, Mrs. Elizabeth Carr, Miss Elizabeth Greenshields, Mrs. Wesley Sheppard, and the late Mrs. Nellie McKinney.

Mrs. Carr and Miss Greenshields, were the only charter members attending the celebration. Tables were decorated in low vases of garden flowers in various colors. Members in charge of the affair were Mrs. Pearl Blair, nutrition chairman, Mrs. Pansy Thrasher, Mrs. Elsie Durst, Mrs. Anna Wilson and Mrs. Ethel Elliott. The invocation was given by Mrs. Blair.

At the business meeting following the supper, Mrs. Pansy Thrasher, president, opened the meeting with the flag salute, the Lord's prayer, and the reading of the thought for the month. Roll call was answered by "My Favorite Covered Dish." The hymn of the month "Immortal Love, Forever Full" was read in unison. Recipes for "Meals From Your Oven," were distributed by Mrs. Blair. At the July 16 dinner meeting, to be held at Layman's Farm, reservations are to be made to the president at once. Mrs. Elsie Durst read the minutes, and reported on the clothing meeting she and Mrs. Patrick Manley attended at the extension office. Miss Mary Manley read a report on the meeting for Mrs. Manley who was absent.

Announcement was made for a hooked rug workshop planning meeting set for July at the extension office. Dates are to be announced by Miss Wise. It was also voted to have a demonstration instead of a theme booth, at the Cumberland Fair in August.

Miners-Pickets Clash Near Philippi

PHILIPPI, W. Va. (AP) — Another brush between pickets and non-union coal miners was under investigation Monday by State Police.

Sgt. O. R. Karickhoff said the latest incident occurred Sunday night when a carload of seven men tried to report for work at the non-union Marra mine near Brownton, about five miles from Philippi.

The officer said he was not certain whether it was bullets or rocks which hit the car when the roving pickets tried to stop the workers.

Occupants of the car had minor bruises and cuts, investigators said. The pickets apparently suffered no injuries.

Two of the pickets were reported to have posted bonds Monday before Magistrate A. C. Simon here.

Kessel News Agency To Move

KEYSER—Announcement was made Monday by William F. Stafford of the transfer of the Kessel News Agency to 46 North Mineral Street about July 20. Stafford will take over the building, which he purchased recently, located next to the Gortner-Ford Sales Agency.

The building was owned and operated until a few months ago by the Simmons Wholesale Store. Stafford will continue to operate under the name of Kessel's News Agency in the new location. The Agency was owned and operated by Mrs. Zerna Kessel Reid for nearly 15 years.

Prior to her purchase of the Agency it was run by the Brown Brothers who had a location for several years at Armstrong Street before moving to the present site. The Agency was started almost 50 years ago by the Brown Brothers and A. P. Brown. Stafford has owned and operated it for the past five years.

West Virginia Activates New Tax Acts Today

CHARLESTON (AP) — New laws taking effect with the fiscal year Tuesday include a modernizing revision of the state's mining laws and boosts in the gross sales and insurance premium taxes.

The acts making these changes were enacted by the Legislature last winter, but the effective date was deferred until the start of the 1958-59 fiscal year

The tax measures are expected to yield an additional 4 to 4½ million dollars in additional yearly revenues.

Mines Chief Crawfor L. Wilson has said there would be no expansion of personnel in his department during the new fiscal year. Salaries will go up substantially, however.

Inspectors-at-large now making $6,540 and inspectors presently paid from $6,000 to $6,240 will be boosted to a range between $7,200 and $8,400. Inspectors also will come under a civil service system, effective Tuesday.

The civil service regulations provide appointments on the basis of competitive examinations, and inspectors may be dismissed only for cause.

Two boards also were created under the act overhauling the Mines Department, but the personnel of neither agency has yet been announced by Gov. Underwood.

They are the Mine Inspectors Examining Board, and the Coal Mine Safety Board of Review.

Keyser Class Plans Reunion

KEYSER — The class of 1933 of Keyser High School will hold a reunion July 26 at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club, Route 50.

A fellowship hour will begin at 5 p. m. with dinner scheduled for 6:30 p. m. EDT. Dress is to be informal, and the husband or wife of the graduates are invited.

Members of the reunion committee have successfully communicated with all class members except two. Mary Jane Paugh and Elva Mecuri have not been heard from and there present whereabouts are not known to the committee. Any class members or others who might know how they can be contacted, should inform Naomi W. Franklin, 42 Maryland Street, Keyser.

Barton Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graney spent a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson. They returned to their home in Winchester Sunday accompanied by Miss Debbie Sue Snyder.

A Well Baby Clinic will be held at the American Legion home July 3 beginning at 8:30 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mowbray and Miss Eleanor Mowbray visited recently in Rice's Landing, Pa. They attended the installation of Mrs. Mowbray's nephew Rev. Kenneth J. Wilkinson as pastor of Hewitt Presbyterian Church.

W.Va. Area Car Inspections Start Today

Sequence Idea Is Abandoned

MOOREFIELD—West Virginia will have a new inspection period for vehicles beginning today, according to an announcement from the Department of Public Safety this week. After today inspections will not be conducted according to the license numbers as has been the procedure in the past. However all vehicles inspected will be up for reinspection the same month they were inspected during the 1957-58 fiscal year.

Vehicles purchased within the state must carry an inspection sticker within three days of purchase. Cars purchased out of state or new residents moving into the state have ten days to secure an inspection sticker.

An improvement in the sticking qualities of the inspection stickers is promised with the use of a pressure sensitive backed sticker. Considerable trouble developed with the previous stickers, particularly when applied in cold weather.

It will be the responsibility of the owner to see that a new inspection sticker is secured within one year of the date of the last inspection.

Laureldale Road Made Part Of Primary System

New Designation Is State Rt. 93

KEYSER — Following a series of meetings, announcement has been made that a project for Grant and Mineral counties has been approved. The Laureldale road is now removed from the state secondary road system and made a primary road. The announcement was made jointly by State Delegates Larkin B. Ours of Grant County and Joseph W. Kessel of Mineral County, following conferences with State Roads Commissioner Patrick Graney in Charleston.

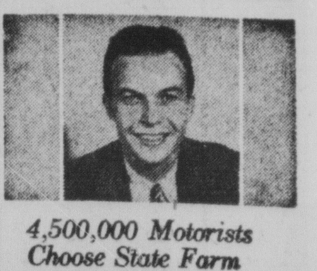

Both Kessel and Ours have been working upon the project constantly and the announcement was received enthusiastically by residents of Petersburg and Keyser. Citizens are encouraged as to development plans for the area.

The road, which runs from U. S. Route 50 at the foot of the mountain at Scherr, where it connects with W. Va. State Route 42, will be known as state Route 93. It has been noted that the new route will be eligible for federal funds under the Federal Road Bill.

Commissioner Graney said he expects Route 93 to be included in the primary road allocation for 1959.

Lonaconing Plans Gala Fourth Of July

LONACONING—Fourth of July holiday in Lonaconing this summer will be a three-day street celebration highlighted by a firemen's street parade sponsored by Good Will Volunteer Fire Company No. 1. Last summer the Old Home Week program was held during the July 4th Homecoming celebration.

A mammoth parade will march off at 7:30 p. m. Thursday from East End, State Street, and prizes are announced. The best appearing fire company with 12 or more members parading, $35; second best, $25.

Best band prize is $35; second best band, $25; best drum corps, $35; second drum corps prize, $25. John Eichhorn, president, has appointed Robert Muir, chairman, Alex Patton, James Muir, George Kelly, Amel Muir, Leo Nolan, James Burt, Felix Foote, James Bosley, John Thomas, Charles Daniels and Robert Love, as the committee in charge of the celebration.

There will be street stands for games and refreshments on the Douglas Avenue corner at Main Street intersection. Children's rides will also be provided.

July 4th there will be a Parade on Wheels when children will compete for prizes of $5, $3 and $2 for decorated bicycles, tricycles and toys. This parade will be at 7:30 p. m.

Saturday, July 5, will feature the street carnival for the final night. Lonaconing City band will play each night and be in the parade on Thursday night. Good Will Volunteer Firemen will be assigned to the carnival stands on the avenue.

Youths Fined After Unusual Accident

An unusual accident took place Sunday night on U. S. Route 30 near Bedford when three young men filled balloons with water and tossed them from their car against passing motorists. State Police at Bedford said the three youths, Theodore Williamson, 21, of Miami, Fla.; Charles Beattie, 18, of Fayetteville, Ark.; and Isaac Williamson, of Wichita, Kan., were vacationing in Bedford.

They drove up and down the highway Sunday tossing the water-filled balloons at motorists. One of their 'missiles' hit a car and broke the left headlight and dented the fender. The driver turned his car around and gave chase.

In an attempt to elude the pursuer, the car of the youths, driven by Beattie, was turned onto a dirt road. Some distance along this road the car failed to negotiate a curve and hit a tree. The boys escaped injury, but were taken into custody by police.

Yesterday the youths were fined $11 costs each, ordered to pay $50 for the damage to the car which was hit by one of the balloons. The Beattie car damages amounted to $500. The case was heard by Justice of Peace C. H. Bingham at Bedford.

W.Va. Car License Tags Expire Today

The West Virginia auto license tags for 1957-58 expired at midnight and those persons who have not acquired new tags will not be allowed to operate their machines after today.

The State Police at Romney said the detachment will strictly enforce the law in regard to the new license tags.

City Approves New Operator At City Dump

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved an order issued by Commissioner William H. Buchholtz asking that Ralph B. Fetters be appointed probationary equipment operator at the city dump at an annual salary of $3,030.

Questioned as to the propriety of the action in view of the new Council taking over next Monday, Buchholtz explained that Fetters had been working as an assistant to the caretaker at the dump, and that the action was necessary in view of the resignation of the caretaker earlier this month.

The dump was formerly operated under the supervision of the City Health Department, but since the Health Department was reorganized under state law, the supervision was now an obligation of the city.

A check in the amount of $116.50 was ordered issued to Mrs. Annie Folk for injuries sustained last October when she fell as the result of a defect on North Cedar Street.

Collections from the city parking meters for the week ending June 22 amounted to $780.55, down $72.18 from the $852.73 for the preceding week.

Playlot Begins Swimming Classes

The classes are being held Monday through Friday from 10 until 11 a.m. and will continue for two weeks. Classes will not be held this Friday.

Today at 7 p. m. the playground will sponsor a talent show with three prizes to be awarded. A dance will be held following the contest.

On Wednesday at 7 p.m. a stuffed animal show will be held and ribbons will be awarded.

Former Local Youth Accidentally Killed

A boyhood friend speared Joseph E. Bludworth Jr., of San Antonio, native of Cumberland, to death in an underwater skindiving accident at Port Aransas, Texas, Sunday.

Bludworth, who left here in the middle-1940's with his parents, was shot by the spear gun wielded by Kenneth Clayburne, who said he thought the victim was a fish.

Bludworth, 22, was skindiving with six other friends in deep water off an oil well rig seven miles south of Port Aransas, Texas.

He and Clayburne, 23, of San Antonio, dived for fish together. Clayburne said he lost sight of Bludworth at a depth of 65 feet and came up to the surface.

He couldn't see Bludworth, and said he assumed Bludworth was chasing fish in another part of the water.

Clayburne dived back down to about 30 feet and shot with his spear gun at what he thought was a fish. The arrow hit Bludworth in the head.

Clayburne pulled on the string attached to the spear, discovered that he had hit Bludworth, and immediately surfaced with the victim.

Bludworth died in a boat as he was being rushed to a Coast Guard cutter.

Clayburne was treated for shock by Port Aransas doctors and put under sedatives.

The two had spent Saturday night in Corpus Christi with Bludworth's father. The victim was a University of Texas student.

Bludworth is survived by his father, Joseph Elliott Bludworth Sr., Corpus Christi; his mother, Mrs. David Reising, Big Spring, Texas, a sister, JoJac, New York, and several half-sisters and half brothers.

Bludworth, Sr., was well known here as a Celanese research chemist who developed a process for producing synthetic rubber from butadiene during World War II, and headed the company's operation at Corpus Christi during its early years. He is now one of the leading petroleum engineers in Texas. The family lived on Cumberland Street and in The Dingle during the approximately ten years of residence here.

The body has been taken to San Antonio and members of the family are at the home of a half-sister, Mrs. Arthur E. Goerges, 714 Clower Street, San Antonio.

W. Md. Chief Freight Clerk Retires Here

A native of Ohio, Mr. Wickertsheim started his long career with the U. S. Express Service there on January 3, 1897.

Since that time he has worked out of various agencies, but has been working at the Western Maryland Railway Company here since October 22, 1920.

Wickertsheim came to Cumberland in 1900 and served as a cashier for the Western Maryland on a temporary basis during World War I.

He first started with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on April 1, 1906 and joined the Western Maryland on a full-time scale in 1920.

Mr. Wickertsheim plans to spend some time at his home in Ohio and Florida.

Javelin Kills Referee

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—A 17-year-old student referee at a track and field meet was injured fatally Sunday when a javelin hit him in the chest.

The youth, Juergen Vogt, walked about 30 yards with the javelin in his body, then collapsed. He died a short time later in a hospital.

New Council To Face 'Clean Slate'

The last full session of the present City Council yesterday was devoted mainly to clearing up matters so that the new Council which will take over next Monday morning will face a "clean slate."

Many of the items of business which would ordinarily have been completed were referred for action of the new council. Routine action included authorizing the city auditor to transfer all unused balances in the levy and appropriation accounts for the 1957-58 fiscal year to the contingent fund.

The city auditor was also ordered to transfer to the appropriations fund such funds as may be needed from the contingent fund, and to transfer the remaining balance in the contingent fund to the operating surplus of the general account.

Council adopted a resolution of respect in the death of Mrs. Josephine Edwards, who died several months after being named to complete the term of her late husband, William J. Edwards, as commissioner of water and light.

Also approved was a resolution giving the city the right to execute an agreement placing members of the City Fire Department under the Social Security Act.

A motion that all bids for a motor grader be rejected was made by Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, and council approved after he explained that such an order should, in his opinion, be left to the discretion of the incoming Council.

The Mayor and Council was also authorized to execute an agreement with Lyndon M. and Ella G. Gump for the construction of a sewer line that will be run to the new National Guard Armory in the Ridgedale Addition.

Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, explained the pact would not bind the city in any way since it stipulated that any new builders along the sewer line would be billed on footage charges and tappage fees.

Also referred for action of the new Council was a request by Frank J. Idoni for the use of city-owned lots at 620-622 North Mechanic Street as a site for a used car business. The referral was made on receipt of a petition signed by 14 residents of the 600-block asking that the permit be not granted.

C. L. Beck, who has the city garbage contract, filed notice of his intention to renew the contract for the sum of $66,000. The letter was ordered filed after it was explained that such action would not bind the new council since Beck was only exercising a clause in the contract which states he must file his intention to renew the existing agreement.

The Mayor and Council also approved the city payroll for the second period of June.

Record A-Test Shocks

TOKYO (AP)—Air shocks from Sunday's U. S. nuclear test explosion in the Pacific were 1½ times stronger than any ever registered here before, the Japanese Weather Bureau reported.

The shocks were recorded throughout Japan 3½ hours after the detonation on Eniwetok Atoll, about 3,000 miles southeast of Tokyo. The Weather Bureau estimated the device was one of more than 20 megatons.

City Issues Permit

City Council yesterday granted permission for the installation of an underground 550-gallon tank at Centre and Knox streets, where a new service station is being constructed. The tank will be used for storing fuel oil.

The bones and beak of a 25-pound pelican weigh about 23 ounces.

Next Move Is Up To Nasser

What happens next in Lebanon rests in large part with Gamal Abdel Nasser. The head of the United Arab Republic—Egypt and Syria, with Yemen affiliated—will naturally do whatever he thinks will bring closer the union of all Arab states under his hegemony.

No matter how often he denies instigating the Lebanese disorders, the whole world from Washington to Moscow to Peking suspects that they'd begin to subside once he gave the word to "lay off." Whether his price for a lay-off order is one that the West can't or won't pay, nobody may actually know just now except U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

If Nasser absorbs Lebanon, it will be hard to keep Iraq, Jordan and Saudi Arabia also from slipping down the voracious Nasser gullet. The pro-West Chamoun regime in Beirut could of course be bolstered for the time being by a U. N. armed intervention. At the same time, the foreign troops on Arab soil could rally almost all Arabs around the Egyptian colonel—as when Israeli, British and French troops moved to overthrow him in the autumn of 1956.

Yet the Nasser dream could degenerate into a nightmare if Russian troops (volunteers"?) landed in force under the pretext of counterbalancing a U. N. intervention. What Nasser likes is to play Russia and the West off against each other without real risk of being dominated by either.

He did make an arms deal with Czechoslovakia and later an aid agreement with the Kremlin, but then complained about the quantity and quality of Russian aid actually received. When he took over Syria in February 1958 he removed or downgraded Communist or pro-Russian officials and Army officers in Damascus. After all, the fable of what happens when a camel gets his nose under the tent is from the Arabian, and what's true of a camel would be true of a bear.

The Gold Discussion

It is becoming increasingly clear that the trend in the world is a return to the gold base for currency. The questions then arise: how much gold does the United States own absolutely? Can we switch our currency to a gold base? What effect will it have upon the American economy if Soviet Russia goes on the gold standard or establishes a gold export rouble?

Now, it turns out, in testimony before the Byrd Committee of the Senate that when the International Monetary Fund was established, the United States paid 25 per cent of its subscription in gold.

Randolph Burgess, testifying concerning this, said:

". . . back of all this talk about no more gold, and so forth, there is a real desire on the part of most people to get back to gold as the eventual value. It is a very interesting thing that this Monetary Fund, which was set up after the war, with a lot of very theoretical economists and so on, Maynard Keynes and Harry White, what they finally came down with after all their discussions was that they had to make it in gold; they had to base it on gold."

So the International Monetary Fund, set up by John Maynard Keynes and Harry Dexter White, was established with gold that the American people thought was at Fort Knox. Furthermore, the West Germans tied their mark to gold and were able to subscribe $100,000,000 in gold to the International Bank.

So Senator George Malone questioned Under Secretary Randolph Burgess of the Treasury Department about how much gold the United States possessed. We start off with the figure $22,600,000,000. Of this amount $9,500,000,000 was earmarked for foreign nations up to the amount of their dollar balances. This leaves the United States $13,100,000,000 absolutely, but $7,500,000,000 is in the hands of foreign nationals, leaving free and clear, for the government of the United States $5,600,000,000 as of the date of the hearing which was August 1957.

In this discussion between Under Secretary of the Treasury Burgess and Senator George Malone, it was finally agreed that certain factors indicated above can be omitted from these intricate calculations. They accepted the figure of $16,246,000,000 as earmarked. Thereupon, Senator Malone asked if that would leave a balance of about $6,500,000,000 of gold absolutely the property of the United States. To this Burgess replied: "Yes; that is about right."

Senator Malone pursued the subject in the following question: "And that is not quite enough to meet the 25 per cent reserve requirement that the law requires behind the $27 billion or $28 billon in currency in circulation today, is it?

"Mr. Burgess. That is right."

". . . Inasmuch as we owned a majority of all the gold in 1933 don't you think it was the intention of these foreign nations, right from the beginning, to get it away from us by making us feel that gold was unimportant?

"Then when we went off the gold standard in 1933 and priced ourselves out of the world market through inflation—and gave them the money to buy most of our gold—then they may start emphasizing the importance of gold again?"

One of the effects of this condition, both the Senator and the Under Secretary of the Treasury agreed, was that in 10 years, from 1947 to 1957, the dollar lost more than half of its value in purchasing power, so that wages were really lowered. In a word, $10 a day in 1947 is equal roughly to $4 a day in 1957. The following discussion is pertinent:

"Senator Malone. And you lowered the purchasing power of the dollar to less than half, you had about $4 a day in purchasing power.

"Mr. Burgess. That is right.

"Senator Malone. And that is the reason for increase in wages continually, that is the major reason and the real necessity for increasing wages, pensions, and annuities of various kinds that the Government pays and that the individual is living on, is it not?

"Mr. Burgess. Well, it has been a major cause. Of course, wages actually have increased faster than the inflation.

"Senator Malone. You think they have? Of course, that is the argument—

"Mr. Burgess. Some of them."

It is still not clear from this discussion precisely how much gold the government of the United States owns absolutely.

Don't Just Stand There, Sam!

Ike Is On Same Spot Anthony Eden Was During Suez Crisis In 1956

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In more ways than one, history regarding the Near East is repeating.

About three weeks ago, when Prime Minister Macmillan of England was in the White House, Eisenhower approached him about cooperating with the United States in armed intervention in Lebanon if necessary.

Macmillan was something less than lukewarm. He did not get up and wave the Union Jack over marching into Lebanon with any degree of enthusiasm. In fact he couldn't help but remind Eisenhower, gently, that it was almost two years ago that Britain intervened in Suez when Eisenhower stopped that intervention.

If British-French-Israeli operations against Nasser had been permitted to continue, the British Prime Minister intimated, it would not now be necessary for the United States to be talking about new intervention against Nasser.

However, since the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary Dulles all agreed on intervention, Macmillan reluctantly consented to go along. To that end, 37,000 British troops are concentrated on Cyprus just a few miles from Lebanon, ready for intervention. This is exactly what happened before the Suez landing in October, 1956.

Meanwhile, Lebanese President Chamoun was offered aid, and U. S. Ambassador Thompson in Moscow was instructed to call on Foreign Minister Gromyko and inform him that the United States was determined to use force if necessary to protect Lebanon independence. Eisenhower figured the threat of American intervention would discourage both the Russians and the Arab rebels in Lebanon.

U. S. Cold Feet

But it hasn't worked out this way. The United States, thanks to our slump in military prestige, can no longer negotiate from strength. Russian and Syrian arms continued to cross the Lebanese border to aid the rebels, while Russia issued a gruff warning that "volunteers" might intervene in Lebanon if the United States and Britain intervened.

At this point Eisenhower and Dulles began to get cold feet. Last week U. S. Ambassador McClintock in Beirut was instructed to urge President Chamoun not to call on the United States for aid under the Eisenhower Doctrine—except in case of "dire emergency." Even then, American Marines and British paratroopers would be used only to evacuate American-British civilians. Turkish-Iraqi troops would be flown in to battle the Arab rebels.

Meanwhile, hesitation in Washington, similar to the British delays just before the Seuz landing, has given the Russians time to prepare "volunteers."

Once again history repeats.

Mr. Adams Went Fishing

During the height of the Washington furor over Sherman Adams, the man who had caused the furor, Mr. Adams, went out to a Washington cocktail party, where he got into a conversation over fishing.

"The best fishing I ever had was in Turkey. I was in Germany visiting with Laurie Norstad," he said, referring to the American commander of NATO. "Norstad flew me to Turkey and we spent two days there fishing. It was a great experience."

The assistant to the President was quite nonchalant about the idea of taking an American Air Force plane and flying from Germany all the way to Turkey just to fish. It didn't seem to worry him that he was spending the American taxpayer's money any more than he was worried about spending Mr. Goldfine's money.

The Admiral's Whisky

Five Navy men who had the idea the Navy's job was to guard our country have found it includes moving whisky for an admiral and hanging clothes in closets for an admiral's wife.

Warrant Officer Martin Bruns, on the staff of Vice Admiral Robert Pirie, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air, reported to a home in Glen Echo, Md., a suburb of Washington, at 8:30 a. m. on Friday, June 13, with his work detail. Their orders were to transport some "personal effects" of Admiral Pirie from a friend's house to his new quarters in Presidential Gardens, Alexandria, Va. They took a Navy truck to do the moving, as well as four men from General Services Administration.

The men worked from 8:30 until 2:15 that afternoon. Admiral Pirie did not give them a lunch break. They ate after they got back to the Pentagon. The "personal effects" consisted of numerous suitcases, some upright wardrobes, and six cases of whisky.

The men were picked for the job by the Air Personnel Office, and included a petty officer as well as Wararnt Officer Bruns.

Note—If a Navy man objects to an order to serve as a servant to an Admiral, it's rank insubordination.

Backstage In Washington

Dictator Trujillo has ordered all Dominican officers taking military courses in the United States to come home. He won't permit anyone to outshine his son by graduating from an American military school after junior failed . . . . Mrs. McElroy, wife of the Secretary of Defense, is not the only one getting free dental care. Mrs. McElroy got it at the Walter Reed Army Hospital. The American Dental Association has asked dentists in the Washington area to give free treatment, if possible, to Congressmen in order to create good will.

World Panorama Presents An Era Of Turbulence

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A turbulent era to be living in — and yet people generally do not seem to be aware of the critical consequences that could ensue at any moment. The world panorama today looks like this:

Blood is flowing in Lebanon. Events these could involve the sudden use of American troops to protect American lives unless the United Nations can enforce peace.

Tension in the relations between the western countries and the Soviet Union is increasing.

Tito in public speeches compares aid that he gets from America without strings to Soviet aid originally promised him and now withdrawn because he will not toe the Moscow line.

The Soviet Government instructs the East German Government not to release nine American servicemen who on June 8 landed their helicopter in the Soviet Military Zone during a storm that took them off their course.

The Soviet Government first promises to participate in a conference of technicians at Geneva who were supposed to explore ways of bringing about an international pact for the suspension of nuclear tests but then backs out, insisting an agreement must first be reached to stop testing.

Talk of a "Summit" conference is receding.

For the sake of appearances and to appease public sentiment, the spokesmen of the West continue to say they want to keep on talking and conferring and negotiating some kind of understanding or agreement between the East and the West. But there seems now to be less and less likelihood of reaching such a result.

Ever since the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary was announced on June 17, the whole world has been showing its disapproval, and the Moscow regime knows that the tide is turning. Moscow's propaganda is diminishing in its effectiveness.

Are the men in the Kremlin, in view of all these adverse happenings, therefore trying desperately to consolidate their own position? Their efforts to arrange a "Summit" conference and to urge the doctrine of "peaceful co-existence" were due largely to a belief that this would help build up their prestige as "statesmen" inside the Soviet Union and placate a growing unrest there.

Moscow is changing from peaceful to threatening words. An external crisis has sometimes been provoked in history by reckless men to bring about internal solidarity.

There is more and more evidence today that Khrushchev is in trouble with the other leaders and that he has adopted a stern course in the belief it will terrify his internal as well as his external adversaries.

These are ticklish moments for a president of the United States. He must bear the burden of decision each hour of the day. The Lebanon crisis gets some attention from the press but not as much as it seems to deserve. Movements of the American Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and the buildup of British armed forces on Cyprus have not been kept secret. There is talk of a Soviet fleet coming into the Mediterranean, too. This is what a president worries about.

In the midst of this atmosphere of international crisis, Washington is nevertheless agog over a Congressional investigation which appears to be a contest in mudslinging. It seems to have given opportunities to disappointed seekers of influence to carry on in public their back-biting over personal grievances. What an orgy of pettiness!

Some day the historians will doubtless perceive the disproportionate attention being given to these passing incidents. Some day perhaps the effort of the government of the United States to do its duty in accord with the noblest of American traditions will be seen in its true light and will be given just acclaim.

For American foreign policy, despite its setbacks, seeks today only to uphold ideals of unselfishness in a troubled world and to aid in preventing a deadly war that could come suddenly to peoples everywhere. Indeed war is a constant danger as long as irresponsible rulers hold power in the Soviet Union and are heedless of warnings. There is, of course, also the danger to those rulers themselves that, at the first sign of international war, an opportunity for internal war can present itself. These are truly turbulent times.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

However it looks like they will be dry-ditched in Chavez Ravine this time next year.

They are rapping Ford Frick for his failure to keep the Bums in Bumsville. He had no more to do with it than you have with the shape of Labrador.

There hasn't been a real tyrant in baseball since Dan Johnson put the American League together with cigaret papers and chewing gum.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis was swept into office on a ripple of indignation over the baseball scandal. The Judge was a genial old fakir who did card tricks with wet soda crackers.

When the Babe came to bat everything was forgotten and the world stood still. All except the outfielders.

Trouble At The Top

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It is hard to see how an explosion can be avoided at this week's meeting between the President and the Republican Congressional leaders.

No doubt the progressive collapse of the Western position in the Middle East and other minor matters can be dealt with amiably enough, or simply passed over as undeserving of much notice. But there is still the case of Sherman Adams; and this all-important matter is plainly moving toward the explosion point.

On the one hand, the President is bitterly, unforgivingly angry with the Republican senators and representatives who have called for Sherman Adams' resignation or dismissal. According to those who ought to know, Eisenhower has taken the "Adams-must-go" statements as so many personal affronts. In the heyday of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, one was always being told how "McCarthy made the President see red." But if he saw red then, he is reported to see crimson, scarlet and maroon now.

On the other hand, the most prominent member of the "Adams-must-go" school of Republican thought, Senate minority leader William S. Knowland of California, will be on hand at the White House leaders' meeting, unless he is prevented from attending by some unforeseen development. Futhermore, Senator Knowland has now gone an important step futher in his position on the Adams case.

About ten days ago, he made a rather careful statement, merely suggesting that both the President and Gov. Adams ought to consider whether Adams' usefulness in the White House has not been too badly impaired. On last Thursday, however, Knowland went the whole hog, forthrightly calling on Adams to resign for the President's sake and the party's sake.

At last week's White House leaders' meeting, Knowland's previous statement on the Adams case was of course in every mind. Adams himself attended, sitting by the President's chair as is his custom. But no word passed between Adams and the leaders of Congress, and the case of Adams was never mentioned. It must have been like one of those ghastly parties at which everyone desperately avoids the only really interesting subject, because discussing the only interesting subject would be impossibly tactless.

The coming meeting will convene with Knowland's second, stronger statement again in every mind. Any other President, in these circumstances, would feel called upon to have the matter out with his Congressional chieftains. This particular Pesident, to be sure, has always dealt rather cavalierly with his second role as leader of his party. But even if the President continues to treat the Adams case as a strictly personal and private matter, there is still a rather strong possibility that Sen. Knowland will bring the matter up on his own initiative.

Altogether, this confrontation between Eisenhower and his party Congressional grandees ought to be an interesting gathering. Furthermore, if the issue of Adams is not thrashed out this week, there will still be next week, and the week after that, and maybe the week after that.

Sooner or later, in truth, the President can hardly avoid discussing this unhappy case that has already inflicted such deep wounds on the Republican Party with the other men who share the responsibility of party leadership. Thus far, he has not done so. The Adams case has been handled in the White House, by the White House, for the White House.

Meanwhile the Republicans who must go before the voters this fall are unanimously clamoring for Adams' resignation. "Adams-must-go" cries have been heard from Barry Goldwater of New Mexico on the extreme right, Robert Kern of New Jersey in the party's liberal wing, and from men in the middle like Knowland and Charles Potter of Michigan. Behind these cries, there is the soreness that comes from a feeling of having been badly let down.

Meanwhile, too, the Adams case continues to unfold. Above all, the celebrated Bernard Goldfine, that friend of all the world, has yet to be heard from. He has yet to be asked a whole series of questions, and especially the central question, whether he took income tax deductions for Gov. Adams' hotel bills and vicuna coat and Persian carpet. So it will be a long time before the Adams case can be marked "Closed," and in such cases, unfortunately, party spirit generally makes time more of an inflamer than a healer.

Lice Can Be A Severe Threat To Community

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Lice on the hair or skin are more embarrassing than serious, provided typhus is not in the neighborhood. This disease is transmitted by the louse and is a severe threat when it breaks out in a community.

The louse or its eggs may be passed directly from person to person through close contact or the use of contaminated clothing, combs, brushes, towels, or bedding. Even a physician may acquire these critters accidentally when making a house call on infested patients.

A child afflicted with these parasites may disrupt an entire school. Youngsters are chummy and the infested boy or girl ought to stay home until cured. It is surprising how apathetic some families can be. Irresponsible parents neglect the vermin, saying "It was caught at school and should be treated by the school." They leave the delousing job to the health department.

The eggs of head lice (nits) are attached to the individual hairs at a slight angle. They are small and gray and are best seen in the hair behind the ears. Nits differ from dandruff particles, which are scattered loosely among the hairs and on the scalp. Body lice (cooties) live on the skin but sometimes seek refuge in the seams of clothing. All types lead to itching and most of the damage stems from scratching.

Recently Dr. John Gardner reported that one application of a new shampoo eliminated all lice and nits from the hair of 83 per cent of a group of 47 children. The remainder were cleared after one or two additional washings. The shampoo is a mixture of gamma benzene hexachloride and a detergent.

A dusting powder containing 10 per cent DDT eradicates lice within 10 minutes but not the nits. This substance is not harmful unless swallowed. Other members of the family should be examined too, as elimination of the pest from the entire household is the only way to prevent reinfection.

EMBEDDED NEEDLE

R. L. writes: It seems I have a needle in my left side near the lung, altho I have no recollection of the mishap. One doctor says to have it removed and another advises that nothing be done. I would appreciate your advice.

REPLY

The embedded needle may never cause trouble but you may continue to worry about it while it remains. Removal is advised if the operation can be done with a minimum of difficulty. But if the surgeon has to search for a needle in a haystack, it is better to let well enough alone.

THIRSTY CHILDREN

Mrs. J. writes: Would the development of great thirst in two youngsters, age 2 and 3, indicate diabetes if the disease doesn't run in the family?

REPLY

No. Thirst is a symptom of diabetes but other tests would be needed to make the diagnosis. Why not ask your family doctor to investigate?

STRESS SITUATIONS

R. T. writes: What is the meaning of stress as applied to certain diseases?

According to the Selye theory, created thru infections, emotional disease may result from stress disturbances, injury, toxins, or environmental situations. The reactions of the body depends upon the ability of the adrenal glands to bolster the defense mechanisms of the body by manufacturing hormones, such as cortisone.

CALCIUM STONES

R. F. writes: My husband had four stones removed from one kidney recently; and 12 years ago he had five taken from the opposite kidney. Now the doctor wants him to give up milk and milk products. Does milk cause kidney stones?

REPLY

Yes, provided the stones consist of the same chemicals found in milk and milk products—calcium, for example. A daily dose of aspirin is said to discourage kidney stones from forming.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At an amusement park last summer a college student who had wangled a vacation job on the scenic railway noticed that one sickly, shaking old gent made no effort to get out of his front seat when a ride was completed, but sat huddled down waiting to go 'round again. Futhermore, the ticket taker never bothered to ask him for his fare. The student approached him after five rounds and said, "Pardon me, but do you get a particular thrill out of this ride?"

"Thrill?," sneered the old man. "I hate it! It makes me acutely sick to my stomach."

man, "owes me 10 dollars, and I'm going to take it out on him in rides if it kills me!"

"A minor operation," explains Melinda Drake, "is an operation performed on somebody else."

Suit Is Filed In Land Case

A land condemnation suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday by the State Roads Commission for a piece of property on U.S. Route 40 in LaVale.

The property, owned by Lester L. and Mildred E. Spencer, is needed for the modernization of the highway. The SRC has deposited a check for $140 with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court, to cover an offer for the land.

The tract comprises 200 square feet. The suit was filed for the SRC by William Walsh.

The kitchen sink is becoming glamorized. American housewives are expressing a strong preference for sinks in six basic colors — peach, blue, yellow, green, red and gray.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Pass	Pass	1 spade
2 hearts	2 spades	3 hearts	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Ace of hearts.

Today, we present a case in which a desperation lead combined with an unorthodox bid to provide declarer with the clews required to land an almost hopeless game contract.

When East failed to keep his partner's heart bid alive it was naturally up to South to act. The conventional procedure with this holding is to make a take-out double.

It was a moral certainty in view of the opening bid that if North and South were to score game it could be only in spades. If South made the orthodox double North might respond in the major suit and then the king of hearts would come down in dummy and be attacked in the opening lead.

South therefore decided to bid one spade. West rebid despite partner's pass and North offered a raise. East and South continued the competition but North's final raise to game was overly ambitious.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued with the queen, putting declarer in with the king. The first problem was the play of the trumps. Holding nine of the suit, the normal procedure is to play for the drop but South made an interesting deduction at trick one.

The lead of the ace of hearts marked East with the king of diamonds despite his pass, for if West had held the ace and king of diamonds he would hardly have been up against the extremity of having to lead from the ace-queen of hearts.

Since East is known to have the king of diamonds, it is hardly likely that he will also show up with the queen of spades since with that honor holding he would probably have kept the bidding open.

Declarer therefore cashed the king of spades, followed with the ten and, when West played low, permitted it to ride. After mopping up the trumps, declarer refused the club finesse, dropping the blank king of clubs with his ace on the same line of reasoning that induced him to finesse in trumps. Two diamonds were discarded from dummy on the long clubs, permitting South to score an overtrick.

MacKay Wins, Mulloy And Patty Lose At Wimbledon

Ohioan Only U. S. Player To Survive

Beats India Star, Plays Rose Today In Quarter-Final

By TOM OCHILTREE

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Barry MacKay hammered his way into the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championship Monday, masking with a boyish grin the worry caused by a blistered hand. He was the only American to make the last eight.

The powerful Dayton, Ohio, giant swept through India's Ramanathan Krishnan 6-3, 11-9, 6-2 with chain lightning services and cross court backhands.

Patty, Mulloy Lose

Two other American warhorses—Budge Patty and Gardnar Mulloy - pitted their great craft against strength but were eliminated in the singles.

Patty, of Los Angeles and Paris, fought a five-setter with Sven Davidson, Sweden. Davidson finally walked off with the decision 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 9-7, 6-4 after Patty, the 1950 titleholder, dissipated a service break that could have given him the fourth set and the match.

Mulloy, 44, caught Mervyn Rose when the Australian left-hander had everything working. Rose won 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

MacKay Faces Rose

In the women's singles, Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont, 40, of Wilmington, Del., defeated Fay Muller of Australia 6-3, 6-2, to give Uncle Sam three contenders in the quarter - finals. Defending champion Althea Gibson of New York and Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., gained the round of eight Saturday.

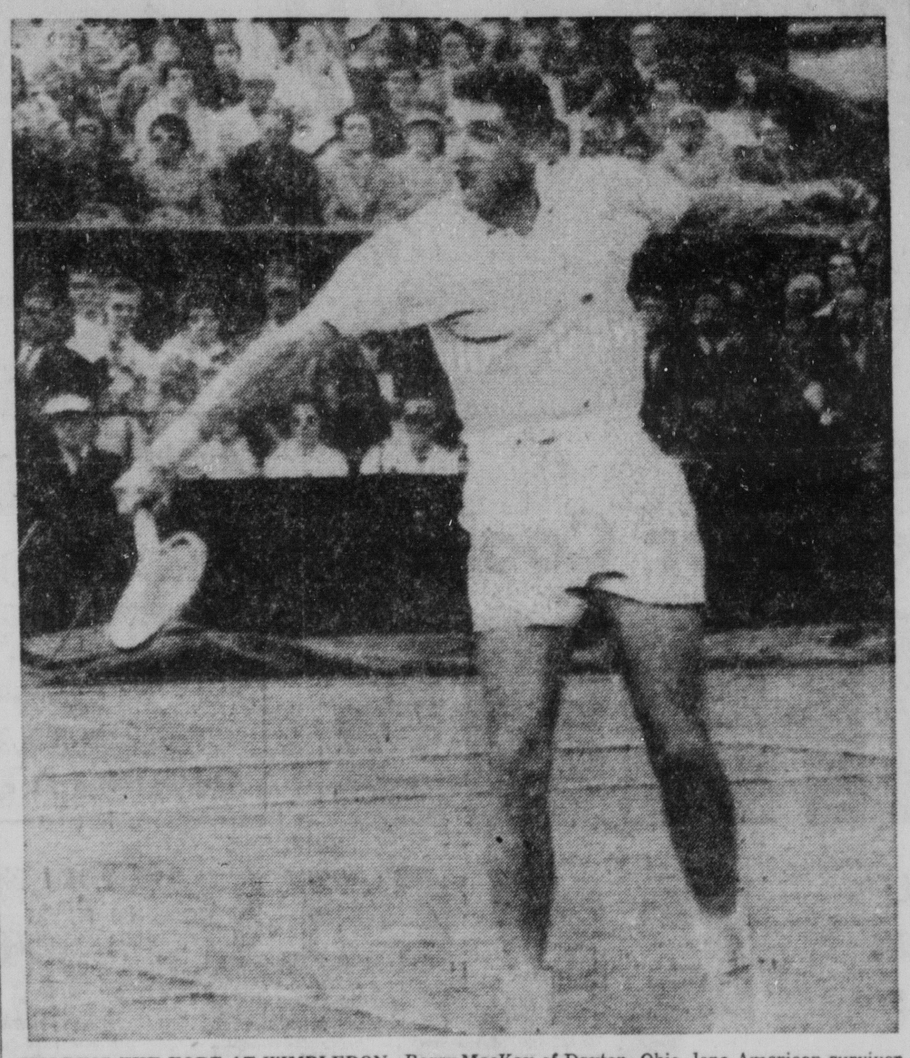

So now it is MacKay or nobody for Uncle Sam in the men's singles. And every time the Ohio boy hits a ball his bat wears a little more on the blister on his right hand.

Rain interrupted play again today — the sixth time this has happened in seven days of competition.

Cooper Is Extended

The men's singles matches, all fourth-round ones, produced fluent tennis with few surprises. But eyebrows were raised over the way Australia's Ashley Cooper struggled before getting by Abe Segal of South Africa.

Top-seeded Cooper finally won the match 13-11, 6-3, 3-6, 14-12, but he needed a couple of netted volleys by Segal at key points to get through. The experts said Cooper, on this form, hardly looks like the next champion.

HOLDING THE FORT AT WIMBLEDON—Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, lone American survivor in the men's section of the Wimbledon tennis championships, makes a backhand return in his victorious match with India's Ramanathan Krishnan on the British court yesterday. MacKay entered the quarter-finals with a 6-3, 11-9, 6-2 triumph while the other two Americans, veterans Gardnar Mulloy and Budge Patty, were being eliminated. (AP Photofax via radio from London).

Barton retained its half game lead in the Twilight Baseball League by blanking Wright's Crossing yesterday by the score of 2-0 behind the gilt-edge pitching of southpaw Grover Fazenber who fashioned a two-hitter, whiffed 14 and posted his fifth consecutive triumph of the campaign.

A single by Baker in the fourth and a double by Allen in the sixth were the only hits credited to Wright's Crossing.

Midland stayed right on the heels of the leaders by whipping Finzel on the latter's field by the score of 5-1.

Bill Truly had three hits and Carl Donald and George Miller had two each for Midland. Ronnie Rice, Finzel hurler, fanned 13 but gave up 12 hits. Finzel's three safeties were Rice's triple, Jack Burner's double and McGraw's single.

Westernport remained 1½ games off the pace by trimming Lonaconing, 7-6. Ollie Smith, relieved by Kip Montgomery in the 6th, got credit for the win.

Dave Marple collected a pair of singles and Junie Perry slammed a triple for Westernport while J. Spiker banged two doubles, "Ike" Love a double and single and L. Dawson three hits for Lonaconing.

Cumberland returned to the .500 class by scoring its seventh win of the season over Zihlman, 5 to 3.

Theater TV Pays $210,000 For Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Closed circuit theater television rights to the Patterson-Harris fight in Los Angeles Aug. 18 have been sold to TelePrompTer Corp., promoter Bill Rosensohn announced Monday. There will be no home television, and the question of radio rights has not been settled. TelePrompTer has guaranteed $210,000 to the fight.

Stan Musial Leads Cards To Triumph

McDaniel Defeats Los Angeles, 4-2

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, led by Stan Musial defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-2, Monday night. Lindy McDaniel was the winning pitcher for the second-place Red Birds. He gained his fifth victory against seven defeats with a complete - game effort.

Musial had a home run and a double in three times at bat and drove in two runs.

Musial homered in the first inning with the bases empty. Ken Boyer's double and Gene Green's RBI single added another run in the first and made rookie Bob Giallombardo's third major league start a one-inning venture.

The Cardinals scored a run without a hit on a walk, a wild pitch and shortstop Don Zimmer's throwing error, in the third. Musial doubled to drive home Blasingame in the fifth.

Cresaptown's Lions and Frostburg, co-leaders of the Bi-State Pony Baseball League, scored decisive victories over Lonaconing and Mt. Savage while LaVale reeled off its fourth straight triumph at the expense of Ellerslie in games played yesterday in the six club circuit.

The Lions chalked up 10 runs in the third frame and seven tallies in the fourth inning to crush Lonaconing, 19-3.

Two of the three hits given up by Ernie Stouffer and BillyLovett were credited to Tedd Wilson. Stouffer was the winner and Miller the loser.

Evans led the Frostburg stickers with three blows while Watlinson, Eisel and Evans had two each. Tommy Linn obtained two of the hits yielded by Allan, who struck out five.

LaVale outslugged Ellerslie to win by the score of 12-8 at LaVale.

Manager Gene Scaletta's outfit racked up 12 hits, four of which were shared by Jimmy Willets and Evan Smith. The latter cleaned the bases with a timely double during a five-run rally in the second frame. Teddy Bennett larruped a triple for the victors.

Twain Lowery belted a homer and single and John Cook also had two hits for Ellerslie.

Bobby Wharton, who twirled until the 5th when relieved by Klosterman, got the win, his fourth agaist one loss. Hartman was the loser.

Lynnwood Robinette, Ellerslie centerfielder, turned in the fielding gem — an over-the-shoulder stab of a long drive from the bat of Tem Femi.

The LaVale at Lonaconing game will be staged today at 6 p. m., instead of Friday, July 4. Scores:

Johnny Price struck out 25 of the 27 batsmen he faced in nine innings as he pitched the Kiwanis Club a 2-1 decision over the Rotary Club in a Hot Stove Baseball League game last night at Penn Avenue Field.

After the Rotarians tied the score at 1-1 in the 7th inning the Kiwanians emerged the victors in the second extra frame when Jimmy Powelson walked, Mickey Robinson was hit by a pitched ball and Harvey "Duke" Shanholtz singled to left to score Powelson with the deciding marker.

Price failed to issue a walk. He has yielded only one run in 30 innings and had a string of 26 consecutive scoreless frames. Manges' single in the third was the Rotarians lone hit.

Ronnie Manges, who hooked up with Price in the slab duel, struck out 19, walked three and gave up seven hits. Sammy Brehm, Charley Boone and Shanholtz collected two hits each and Price slammed a three-bagger.

The win put the Kiwanis Club a half game out of first place, now occupied by the Jaycees.

Suffolk Downs' Missing Horse Mystery Solved

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Will See Ya, a 5-year-old gelding race horse that disappeared from his stable at Suffolk Downs race track, was found Monday tied to a tree in Saugus five miles from where he was last reported.

Police said George Caswell, 13, walking in woods near his home, saw the horse and a man resting on the ground beside him. The man asked if the youngster knew where he could board a horse, and George suggested he see his father.

The unidentified man gave the father, Lorin Caswell, $100 for the horse's room and board, and said he would return later with additional money. When he left Caswell called police.

Anthony E. Timpani of Revere, also was called, and he identified the thoroughbred as his horse.

The Senators and the Athletics went into a tie for second place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by winning games played yesterday. Both contests were played at East Side Field.

Scoring in every inning, the Senators trimmed the Indians by the score of 16-8 while Bob Ziler's A's downed the Tigers to the tune of 10-7.

Jimmy Cornelius yielded nine hits and struck out six Indians. The Senators racked up 11 hits, including a homer and two singles by Cornelius, a triple, double and single by John Roy and two one-base raps by Larry Eversole. Pope belted a round-tripper and single, Valocos had a two-bagger and single and Scaletta hit for the circuit for the Indians.

Arrowood batted in six runs for the Tigers with a homer, triple and single but that was not enough to overtake the Athletics. Zembower homered and Bishop had two hits for the losers. Ronnie Isner, A's hurler, belted a homer and single and struck out seven batsmen. Ronnie Klingler also had two hits for the winners. Zembower went the route for the Tigers and whiffed five. Scores:

Jensen's 23 Homers Ties 1957 Output

Fox And Mays Top Hitters In Majors

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Jackie Jensen has powered his way into the American League home run lead with a June spree that has also enabled him to equal his entire output for 1957 and close in on his career high.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder has walloped 14 homers this month, giving him 23 in 69 games. Jensen had 23 circuit blows in 145 games last season. Jackie's major league high is 26 in 1955.

York Holds Record

The home run record for one month is 18 by Rudy York of Detroit in 1937. Jensen, 31-year-old San Francisco native, also has taken over the circuit's runs batted in lead from Bob Cerv of Kansas City. Jensen drove in 10 tallies last week, boosting his aggregate to 60. Cerv has 58.

Mickey Vernon of Cleveland collected only four hits in 23 times at bat last week and lost the batting lead to Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox.

Vernon dropped 25 points to .327 while Fox, with eight safeties in 27 tries, fell four points but took over first place with .332.

Preston Ward of Kansas City remained in third place at .326. Vic Power of Cleveland moved into fourth position at .323.

Mays Leads By Ten

In the National League, Stan Musial of St. Louis closed to within 10 points of pace-setting Willie Mays of San Francisco.

The records include Sunday's games.

By hitting two homers, Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh lengthened his home run lead over Chicago's Ernie Banks. Thomas now has 22, four more than Banks.

Thomas also is the runs batted in leader with 66.

LaVale moved into first place as Fort Hill's Scouts and Rangers dropped matches in the Western Maryland Legaue's seventh rifle contest held Sunday evening on the Morningside Drive range.

Harold Everline's 399-31x tally paced the winning LaVale crew as they conquered the Rangers, 1591-101x to 1587-93x. High for the losers was a 400-28x possible by Frank Simpson.

Hercules gunners scored their first mark of the season by upsetting Fort Hill's Scouts, 1585-94x to 1583-82x. The two point victory was made possible by Joe Eirich's tally of 398-29x. Leo Leasure topped the Scouts with a 400-24x possible.

Pirates Draw Good

Spahn Notches 10th Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves concentrated their scoring with ten hits in two innings Monday night, walloping Cincinnati 9-2 as southpaw Warren Spahn became the first National League pitcher with 10 victories this season.

Spahn, who now has a 10-4 record in 1958, built his career record against the Redlegs to 48 victories against 16 losses. It was his 234th victory in the National League.

The Braves kept their 2½ game lead over the second place St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2 Monday night.

The Braves got all but two of their hits in the fourth and fifth innings, scoring four runs in the fourth and five in the next inning.

The losing pitcher, starter Bob Purkey, gave up five hits in 3 2-3 innings as he suffered his fifth loss against eight victories.

Purkey allowed only one hit, a single to Spahn, in the first three innings, but a combination of four Milwaukee hits and two bad pitches forced him off the mound in the fouth.

1930 Pitcher Says Athletes Are Pampered

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The players, observes 57-year-old Pete, who won 134 games in the big leagues, are too pampered.

Donohue went from Texas Christian University to the Cincinnati Reds in 1921, winning 7 and losing 6 games his first season. He was with the Reds until 1930 and his record included 21 victories in 1923 and 1925 and 20 in 1926. After developing a sore arm in 1930 he was sent to the New York Giants. The Giants released him in 1931 and he signed on with the Cleveland Indians.

But the Boston Red Sox bought him at the start of the 1932 season for $65,000 with the understanding that if he stayed with the club at least 30 days, he would get a bonus of 30 per cent of the purchase price.

"I was to pitch the opening game," Donohue says, "and I awoke that morning about to freeze to death. All during the game I was freezing and I'd wrap up in those heavy coats between innings."

After the team went back to the hotel, a doctor was called. He said Donohue had blood poisoning.

"They called old Dr. King of the Yankee club and he came to see me," Donohue recalls. "He leaned over the bed to look at me and said, 'that boy's going to die' right in my face."

Donohue was bedfast for the next 10 days and after recovering he went to Boston and started working out while the Red Sox were on the road. "Then the manager telephoned me and said to come to New York," Donohue says. "I was going to pitch against the Yankees the next day."

In batting practice Donohue was hit on the shoulder by a ball and it was the next day before he pitched. He lost 2-1.

Richard Robinson's double scored Miller from second base with the run that gave the Red Sox a 9-8 decision over the Giants in an eight inning battle yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

The win moved the Red Sox into first place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan League.

Each team collected 13 hits. Willis paced the winners with three blows, Snider hit a homer and single and Robertson and Robinson had two hits each for the Sox. Jimmy Snider excelled in right field with several nice catches.

Jimmy Seeders was the "big gun" for the Giants with two homers, a double and single. Jackson collected three hits and Lease and Dean hit for the circuit.

Wayne Jewell scattered six hits and whiffed an even dozen as the Pirates took the Yankees into camp at Post Field by the score of 14-7.

Jewell also blasted a pair of home runs, Lonnie Lewis slammed a home and single and Don Yaider had a pair of singles for the winners. The Yankees' six hits included a triple by Wallace and a three-bagger and single by Helmick. The scores:

Cleveland Beats White Sox, 5-3

CHICAGO (AP)—Reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm put down an eighth inning Chicago White Sox uprising and preserved a 5-3 victory for the Cleveland Indians and right-hander Cal McLish Monday night.

With two runs in, a man on second and none out, Wilhelm got the Sox out without further damage as McLish gained his fourth victory against five defeats.

Minnie Minoso, formerly of the Sox, and veteran first baseman Mickey Vernon provided most of Cleveland's offense. Minoso crashed his 12th homer to start the second inning and Vernon singled home a run in the fifth and another in the seventh.

Chicago starter Dick Donovan, one of the league's leading pitchers last year, suffered his ninth setback against only three victories.

CROWN "custom-tailors" its fuels exclusively for automotive needs

The chart on the right helps to make this clear. At the top of the tower are the high-energy components. Other companies siphon off these richer ingredients for aviation fuels and other uses. But CROWN, whose specialty is automotive fuels, puts all these high-energy components back into the gasoline that goes into your car. That's the BIG DIFFERENCE!

The result is CROWN GOLD, a super-octane fuel—a better-balanced fuel—that gives your car greater power, smoother performance, and delivers maximum miles per gallon.

Try the two-tank test . . . and prove the BIG DIFFERENCE!

Kansas City Miscues Help Detroit Win

A's Blow In Ninth, Suffer 7-6 Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers scored three runs — two unearned—in a wild ninth inning and defeated the Kansas City Athletics 7-6 Monday.

Detroit trailed the Athletics 6-4 going into the big inning.

Third baseman Preston Ward threw an apparent double-play grounder into right field and let in two runs, then right-fielder Roger Maris made a wild heave over third base allowing the winning run to score.

The Tigers loaded the bases with one out on three singles that drove out relief pitcher Tom Gorman. Harvey Kuenn then hit Murray Dickson's first pitch to Ward and the run parade started.

It was a shabbily played contest from start to finish.

The Lions defeated the Elks at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-1, behind the one-hit twirling of Ronnie Evans and Mike Miller, who came on in the fifth inning as relief hurler.

The Elks' only hit was a triple by Glen Shipway, who was cut down at the plate on a play executed by Stratton, Evans and Whiteman.

Miller supplanted Evans in the 5th with the bases loaded and one out and stopped the Elks by fanning Rice while Shipway went out via the infield.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

OVER THE last several weeks, the sports pages have been loaded with items about bonus players.

This club, and that club, have signed a sensational high school kid to a big bonus, and the list is getting bigger.

We're not against such deals, but it seems to be getting out of line and the first thing an outstanding high school or sandlot star wants to know is "How much?"

The clubs with money to spend can go to big figures, but the poorer clubs are left out in the cold when money talks. That's a big disadvantage, it appears, and yet over the years you can count the big bonus guys who made good in the majors on a few hands.

Sure, some of them have starred for a while, but how many of them have become Fellers or DiMaggios?

Actually, many of them have failed to produce, generally winding up in the minors or eating their way out of condition.

• • •

GEORGE WEISS, the very able general manager of the Yankees, who seldom pay out big bonuses to kids—they don't have to—says that the bonus problem is one of the more serious ones confronting the game today.

Weiss, who berates the clubs for paying out sums up to $100,000 for untried teen-agers, admits that he doesn't have a solution. Weiss was recently quoted as saying that "we've already tried four bonus rules and not one of them has worked."

• • •

WHILE YOU have to admire the zeal of certain clubs to pay big bonuses in an attempt to build for the future, the bonus payments in baseball probably do more damage than good. Established stars can't help but be irked to see a fellow teammate, a rookie, sitting on the bench with a big hunk of dough in his pocket. The minor league players, signed without bonuses, certainly aren't going to be happy to have a big bonus baby as a teammate, playing as they do on small salaries.

• • •

IT'S NOT EASY to solve the bonus problem, as proven by the four shots the leagues already have had at it.

A possible suggestion might be to set up territorial rights, now that we have transcontinental baseball, and let the chips and the players fall as they may, with each club given certain areas to work their bird dogs.

Additionally, this would make it easier for the clubs to scout the hopefuls, limited to a territory.

Bragan Named Spokane Pilot

Will Succeed Holt In Coast League

SPOKANE (AP) — Bobby Bragan was hired Monday as manager of the Spokane Indians of the Pacific Coast League. He succeeds Goldie Holt.

Bragan was let out only last week as manager of the Cleveland Indians and was replaced there by Joe Gordon.

Bragan will be returning to the PCL where he managed the Hollywood Stars for three years before being signed to manage the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1956.

A's Send Burnette To Denver Team

Burnette, 29, from Blairs, Va., came to the Athletics from Denver in mid-1956. This year he has a 1-1 record with an earned run average of 3.50 in 28 1-3 innings of work.

Record Daily Double

Highest daily double payoff in the 26-year history of Charles Town race track was $2,643 for each $2 wager on Spring Rain and Lady of Knock on February 28, 1956. Eight winning tickets were sold on the combination.

Winner But No Second

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The crew race between Harvard and Yale produced a winner but no second in 1873. Yale won the race held at Springfield but some person or persons moved the finish line 150 yards beyond its original point. Harvard stopped rowing before the finish.

Tighter Than Scotsman

Possibly the only race track ever to have dead heats in three races on one day is Charles Town in West Virginia. On August 19, 1957 there was one tie finish for first place and two others for second place.

Thomson Fires Spectacular 63 In British Open Golf Tourney

Stranahan Posts 68 And Sarazen 73 In Qualifying Round

ST. ANNE'S — ON — SEA, England (AP)—Former champion Peter Thomson fired a spectacular course record 63, and Frank Stranahan, chief American hope, scored a subpar 68 Monday in the first qualifying round of the British Open Golf Championship.

The 27 - year - old Australian, three-times winner of this tournament, clipped eight strokes off Lytham's par with his 31-32 — 63. The Lytham Links has a par of 35-36—71 for its rugged 6,635 - yardage. Stranahan, playing despite a painful back injury, carded a 36-32—68 over the same course.

Sarazen Posts 73

Gene Sarazen, 56, of Germantown, N. Y., who won this championship 26 years ago, scored 38-35—73 over the adjoining Fairhaven Links. Fairhaven has an easier 37-35—72 par for its 6,512 yard length.

Fred Brown, an amateur from Los Angeles, tied Lytham's par with 33-38—71 for second honors among the small American contingent.

Thomson's round broke the course record of 67 set by Fred Daly in 1952.

Stranahan said he injured his back Sunday night while bending over in his hotel room.

"A muscle gave in my back," he said. "When I got up this morning I could hardly walk."

He tied for fourth place.

To Switch Courses

The players will switch courses Tuesday. Those who played Fairhaven Monday will play Lytham Tuesday. Observers figured it will take about 150 to qualify for the tournament proper on Wednesday.

Doolan Blanks McIntyre's, 5-0

"Pickles" Doolan pitched a two-hitter yesterday as Local 26 chalked up its ninth victory in 10 outings in the City Rec Softball League at the expense of Don McIntyre's in a game played at Naval Reserve Field. The score was 5-0.

The league leaders scored all their runs in the first two innings off Regis Fair who went the route for the losers.

Morgan Morgan collected two singles and Ed Barley blasted a triple for the Rubber Workers. Regis and Bill Fair accounted for McIntyre's two hits.

Forty Niners Win Over Toy Shop, 8-3

Jimmy O'Neal kept six hits well spaced and mowed down via the strikeout route in hurling the Forty Niners to their second straight win of the season over the Toy Shop in a City High School Baseball League game yesterday at Taylor Field. The score was 8-3.

The winners obtained nine hits, including a homer and single by Bruce Smith and two one-base knocks by John Mills.

Baldwin collected two of the six hits yielded by O'Neal.

Henry, who started on the mound for the Toy Shop and was replaced by Nines in the sixth, was tagged with the loss. He struck out six. Score:

Airline Fares Cut

HONG KONG (AP)—Passenger and freight fares on Communist China's domestic airlines will be cut 40 per cent beginning Tuesday, Peiping radio reports.

It said airline business in Red China has increased 30 per cent in the past five years and that new planes will be ordered from the Soviet Union soon to help meet growing demands.

Daniel Beard organized the "Sons of Dan'l Boone," which later became known as the Boy Scouts of America.

and you don't miss ANYTHING when you have Cumberland's Cable TV. Four unduplicated programs to select from plus additional sports from five other TV stations. These additional sports now include all of the televised baseball games of the Pittsburgh Pirates, plus the NBC and the CBS baseball games of the week. NOTE: By popular requests Pirate games will be carried if any other games are scheduled at the same time.
One of the reasons that an area like Washington does not broadcast the home baseball, college football and Professional football is that by agreement the home games are not broadcast in order to encourage personal attendance to the game. By having so many more TV stations to select from, you can be assured of receiving at least a dozen more football games this fall, including regularly the college game of the week, plus not only the away from home games of the Washington Redskins, but the complete schedule. These Redskin home games will be relayed thru Richmond, Virginia and Harrisonburg, Virginia.
Watch and talk Cable TV—Improvements have been made. A fifth active channel has been added—at no additional cost! Call us today for a prompt FREE demonstration.

We take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved father and husband, Terence P. Woods, Lonaconing. We also wish to thank Rev. Charles Bogan, those who sent floral tributes, Mass offerings, and loaned cars for the funeral.
MRS. TERENCE P. WOODS AND FAMILY.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us in our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved father, and grandfather, John A. Metz. We also wish to thank Reverend Carl Price, the Methodist Choir, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
RAYMOND AND JOHN B. METZ AND FAMILIES, AND DAUGHTER MRS. SARAH MORGAN AND FAMILY.

I take this means to thank my friends and neighbors for the kindness extended to me during the illness and following the death of my beloved husband, James A Lowery. I especially wish to thank the George Funeral Home, Rev. Jacob H. Snyder and those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
MRS. JAMES A. LOWERY

½ ton pickup

This like-new pickup has always been here at the garage. We used it for small parts pickup. It has not been titled and will carry a new truck warranty. The six cylinder engine and standard shift make this very economical to operate. The mileage is low and the tires are good. It has heater, defroster, signal lights, and the paint is not scratched. This is a wonderful opportunity to buy a like-new pickup for less than book value at our low price of

Writing Is Murder, Declares English Mystery Author Agatha Christie

By EDDY GILMORE

Out of the vile subject of murder, of course, the gentle Mrs. Christie has earned a fortune.

She has truly made crime pay.

Asked how large an income she reaps from nearly 60 mysteries, novels and plays, her backer Peter Saunders replied:

"Something astronomical. Out of all belief."

Her detective stories have been published in many lands. Millions of people have read them. Millions are reading them and presumably unborn millions will read them.

Two years ago she sold the movie rights of "Witness for the Prosecution" to Hollywood for $325,000.

With its 2,239th consecutive curtain last month her detective story "The Mousetrap" set a new continuous performance record for a British play, beating "Chu Chin Chow" of the 1920s.

Like its author, "The Mousetrap" is still going strong.

Still another mystery play, "Verdict," had its premier in London May 22. It didn't fare so well. The final curtain accidentally came down a minute too soon and spoiled the ending for an already disgruntled first night audience.

At one time last year she had three plays showing simultaneously at three London theaters.

"For years," said Mrs. Christie, "I used to go home and think, 'One day they'll find me out. I'm no writer at all.'

"Only now I'm beginning to believe I'm not so bad and it's a little late."

Mrs. Christie does not like to talk about her age. Who's Who skips the subject. Dates in earlier record books and magazines show she is now 67 or 68.

She was born Agatha Mary Clarissa Miller in Torquay, England, and her father was an American, Frederick Alvah Miller, of New York.

She married Col. Archibald Christie in 1914. They had one daughter. The marriage ended in divorce in 1928.

In 1930 she married the eminent archaeologist Max Edgar Lucien Mallowan, whom she met in Ur, Iraq.

The professor was digging in some ancient ruins at the time. Twenty-eight years later he was still digging, with his wife taking an increased interest in the excavations.

The Mallowans—or the professor and the authoress—flew to Iraq this spring. It was digging again.

"I find archaeology more fascinating than inventing murder mysteries," said Mrs. Christie, "perhaps because I myself have to search for clues instead of laying them."

Agatha Christie did not embark in life's bustling stream as a writer. During World War I she was a volunteer ambulance driver in France. She had received professional training as a prescriptionist and in the vastly dissimilar business of an opera singer.

The high notes came out, but the career never came off.

Fairly early in life, however, her English mother and a friend of the family, author Eden Phillpotts, encouraged her to write.

"Of course," she said, "I have always loved thrillers ever since I read Conan Doyle."

It failed to thrill several publishers to whom it was submitted. The fact that it didn't remains one of the monumental bad guesses in the tricky business of publishing books.

Mrs. Christie is rich. Big rich. She owns eight houses, preferring to live at Greenway House on a Devon hill overlooking the river Dart.

She has a fine, sensitive nose, a powerful chin, a soft voice and softly waved white hair.

She loathes publicity, despises posing for photographs and refuses to make public speeches.

At one of her triumphant first nights when the audience roared "Author, author, author," she shrank in a plush-lined box like a frightened hare and told Peter Saunders:

"If you dare shine a light on me you'll never have another play of mine."

Incidentally, she started writing plays because she did not like the way some of her books were being staged.

She attributes her shyness to childhood but staunchly believes that authors should be read, not seen or interviewed. She dislikes big parties and she neither smokes nor drinks.

"I tried them both just to be sociable, but I never managed them."

Others are reading, traveling and swimming.

She spends a lot of time in her tub. Lying there in the warm, engulfing suds and nibbling on an apple, she has thought out many a plot.

And when the story has been mapped out in her mind she quickly types it, using three fingers.

A book takes from two to eight months.

All of her tales are not detective stories. Under the name of Mary Westmacott she has penned several straight novels. The whodunit, however, is really her love.

Agatha Christie is that rare writer who can manage a constant high pitch of suspense. Her solutions are whip-crackers. They are surprises and never anticlimaxes.

She can manipulate her characters with the skill of a juggler and keep six suspects in the air at the same time.

This infuriates a few readers and has driven some critics to exclaim that she doesn't play fair. Goodnaturedly, she denies this but admits a deft shading of emphasis may sometimes throw readers off the hot scent.

Gentle by nature, she even carries it into her dark plots.

"I prefer poison," she once said. "It's a nice tidy death. Shooting is more trouble."

She works best on rainy days and gets most of her words on paper after breakfast and dinner.

"I don't like a strict routine," she says. "Time was made for man."

Mrs. Christie doesn't like sordid stories and is convinced she couldn't write them if she tried.

For her, the mystery is the thing. Her characters attract no great sympathy and her drama doesn't harrow. It's all so orderly.

The suspense is the suspense of the crossword puzzle, more cerebral than emotional and her characters are so polite. So frightfully polite, monsieur.

Her principal detective is Hercule Poirot, the original egg-head. The bald little Belgian with the mustaches hardly works up adoration, but he does a workmanlike job. Big Ten posseses more sex appeal.

Mrs. Christie's own thoughts about her work should encourage discouraged would - be authors: "I've never written a book that I haven't abandoned in dust halfway through."

Pakistan, Afghan Aid

KARACHI (AP)—The U.S. government is said to be preparing to sign separate aid agreements with Pakistan and Afghanistan to improve transport links between the neighbor countries.

Informed sources reported the move and said it would improve the flow of exports from landlocked Afghanistan, thus decreasing Afghan dependence on the Soviet Union.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"No, it's NOT the same thing as running around in Bermuda shorts!"

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sunglass Glamour

It's no trick at all to select sun glasses that actually flatter the contour of your face. Just be sure your frames are as wide as the widest part of your face and that no lines of the frame repeats a line of your face that you'd rather not emphasize. Remember those two points.

Let the color of your frames be important and forthright against your skin—an intentional color relationship. Pastel hues cannot give this effect against a brunette or deeply tanned complexion. The delicate shades are meant for and are just right for the lily-white maid.

It's the high-fashion styling of this summer's frames that makes it possible for you to use sun glasses as an attractive accent for your outfit as well as your looks. Consider these new variations: a model with a plastic shade for active sports; with side pieces wrapped in rattan— a stunner for play clothes; for the pulled-together look, any of the styles that are slotted at the end of the temple pieces so you can slip a scarf through, an arrangement that makes it easy to hold your hair in place and accessorize your costume dramatically.

If you wear prescription glasses, the "clip-on" lenses are the ticket. For the hard-to-fit, there are flexible glasses that bend at the temples.

All sun glass lenses are safe, no matter what the price, if they meet the specifications of the U. S. Bureau of Standards. Darkness of lens, not color, is the important factor. Sun glasses do not harm the eyes nor do they improve the vision. Their virtue is prevention of squinting and the resulting wrinkles, fatigue and headache. They also prevent impairment of night vision, which can be damaged by excessive exposure to sunlight.

Question Of France Joining Atom Club Of Nations Hot Paris Issue

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS (AP)—The question of bringing France into the atomic club of nations possessing nuclear weapons is fission hot in Paris.

For that reason, it is considered certain that Premier de Gaulle will give the subject a high priority in his talks with Secretary of State Dulles. They are scheduled to meet in Paris July 5.

From time to time reports circulate that France will soon test-fire a nuclear weapon of its own. "France can have an A-bomb in two months," says one. Another says the test is expected by the end of 1958.

Non-French observers doubt both statements.

An atomic reactor at Marcoule in central France already is producing plutonium, a prime material in nuclear explosives. A remote spot in western Algeria — Colomb-Becher — is supposed to be the scene of the test shot whenever it is attempted.

French arguments for being admitted to the atomic club, now composed of only the U.S. and Britain in the West and the Soviet Union, have been spelled out in these forms:

1. Alphonse Juin, the only living marshal of France, said it would strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. "Our alliance otherwise would be a system of vacillating friendships," he said. "Since the bomb is the guarantee of peace, Europe and France should have it."

2. Adm. Henry Nomy, navy chief of staff, said France would feel more secure if, like her allies, she were to make, "even on a more modest scale, these same tools of power and security."

3. Others cite tactical considerations. They say that equipping NATO forces with atomic weapons plus the fact that the potential enemy has them, forces all major nations to "consider readapting and reorganizing their ground forces."

American technical experience would help France produce the "tools of power and security" more quickly.

Then why not share it?

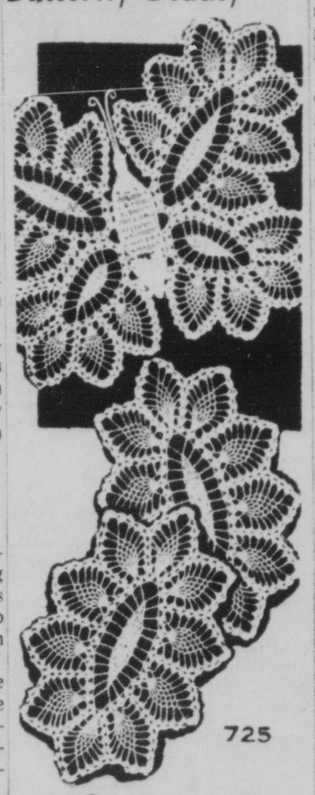

Non-French technicians spell out a variety of reason—costs, the U.S. disinclination to distribute "do-it-yourself-kits" for making bombs, possibly greater difficulties over an agreement to suspend nuclear tests, and a general feeling that "the more nations making the big bombs, the more likelihood of someone using them."

If an agreement is reached to stop testing nuclear weapons before France is able to test-fire its first bomb, what will de Gaulle's government do?

Officials say only that France is "leaving the door open." Whether that means to make one test shot and then accede to the agreement is not clear.

Boots Home Six Winners In Row

STANTON, Del., June 30 (AP)—Eldon Nelson, the 30-year-old cattle rancher and jockey from Glenrose, Okla., set an all-time Delaware Park riding record today with six straight victories from the third through the eighth and final race. He had no mount in the first and finished fourth in the second contest on Olive Tree.

Only two weeks ago, Nelson won with five of six mounts—the five winners coming consecutively. That equalled the Delaware record dating back to June 7, 1955, when Bill Hartack scored with five mounts in seven attempts.

This was the popular little pilot's greatest day in the saddle and boosted his total triumphs for the 28-day old meeting to 32, or 10 more than his closest pursuer for local honors, Steve Brooks.

Eldon's winners beginning with the third race were: Sun Bolt, $13.80, Pecks Bad Boy, $12; Tempted, $3.40; Gannet, $9.80; Handshake, $5.80, and Unleashed, $6.40.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

I H U K L K H L S K D Z K I H C H A P H C N S S - S E V X G J D G G J K F Z E A J D S C - M D F G H U K K G N G — R K Z Z H S P.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: LIFE IS NOT SO SHORT BUT THAT THERE IS ALWAYS TIME ENOUGH FOR COURTESY—EMERSON.

City Surplus May Approach $100,000 Mark

Final Bills Are Being Received

The answer will not be known for several days, but Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, made a rough guess that the surplus may approach $100,000.

That, he said, is "all I can see until all June bills and payrolls are in."

The Finance Department yesterday was busy as invoices for June purchases rolled in and payrolls were submitted.

A $100,000 surplus would be good news, of course, but if the figure stands near that point when books are closed it would still be about $137,000 short of the $237,000 surplus on hand last July 1 to prime the 1957-58 levy.

Pensions Cost More

A $100,000 surplus would fall about $9,000 short of meeting the costs of pensions for city employes during the year which ended yesterday.

Defeat of the $500,000 Urban Development bond issue referendum on June 17 prohibits the incoming Mayor and Council—at least for the present—from restoring to the city treasury funds being withheld by the State Roads Commission under a contractual agreement for the Cumberland Thruway.

Mr. Gibson estimates that the city's share of the 1957 gas and oil taxes should have been about $93,826.

Collections Good

As the 11th month ended May 31, collections on the all-time high $2,005,860 levy totaled $1,717,250.40. This left $294,711.94 to come in, but this figure would be reduced by excess collections of $6,102.34.

Not all of this $2,005,860 is subject to taxation, as the figure includes $247,500 for sewer service charges which are paid by all who discharge sewage into city lines.

Mr. Gibson said it is possible the surplus could drop below the $100,000 mark.

Part of the $100,000 guess was based on the cancellation by the Mayor and Council yesterday of bids for a motor grader which had been advertised by the Street Department.

This will leave about $20,000 in the Street Department appropriation but may merely defer the purchase until the current fiscal year.

State Income Lags

City income from state auto license fees, Mr. Gibson said, is way behind—$38,551 short of the amount levied. He added that the money is coming but that the city does not know when.

Another $24,394 of the surplus will represent unexpended funds in a $37,000 account set up last year for relocation of sewers on the Industrial Boulevard.

He added this will not represent extra money as an account will have to be set up for such work next year.

Some appropriations will have some money left over but some departments were overdrawn at the end of May and will be deeper in the red as the year ended.

Ain't We Got Fun!

This happy group of youngsters is looking forward to two weeks of fun at Sunshine Camp located just off MacDonald Terrace. Thanks to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, the girls started their vacation at camp yesterday morning and will be kept busy with all sorts of camping activities. In the pool with a group of the children is George K. Conway, teacher at Allegany High School, who is director of the camp. The 25 deserving girls were screened by the Associated Charities Office here and were given physical and dental examinations before leaving for camp. Boys' camp will follow the girls' turn.

Boy Jailed In Vandalism

A 17-year-old Polish Mountain area youth has been charged with breaking and entering and larceny and is being held in the County Jail.

State Trooper Kenneth Messmer said the youth, Jack W. Poffenberger, broke into the home of Merle Hinkle near Flintstone on June 26.

Trooper Messmer said the youth broke into the residence and took a 30-30 rifle, target pistol, hunting knife, a $20 bill and box of shells.

The youth then went outside and fired several rounds into the house, according to the trooper. Trooper Messmer said the bullets went through the house and damaged several pieces of clothing, a small camera and a new power lawnmower.

The trooper said the youth, who had been drinking, also fired a shot which damaged an electrical wire outside the house.

Juvenile Court authorities have waived jurisdiction over the youth and he will be given a preliminary hearing later this week in Trial Magistrate Court.

County Issues Home Permits

The Allegany County Assessing Department has issued two building permits to county residents who plan to construct homes.

Charles A. Benson, McMullen Highway, plans to construct a 37-by-48-foot brick dwelling at a cost of $12,000. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof and a cellar. He lives in District 31 at RD 3, Keyser.

Douglas B. Heavner, of 430 Kean Terrace, plans to build a five-room frame dwelling at a cost of about $8,000. The 26-by-40-foot home with a full cellar will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof.

Forgiveness Month Will Begin Today at Library

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, announced yesterday that through the month of July, all overdue books of the library will be accepted with no questions asked. There will be no fine imposed for overdue books.

About five years ago the library started the plan and each year has done very well in getting overdue books back on the shelf.

Miss Walsh urges persons with overdue books to take advantage of forgiveness month. She said the library will have a three-day holiday over the Fourth of July. It will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Three Jailed In Default In Safecracking

Three youths were committed to the County Jail yesterday in default of $1,000 bond each after preliminary hearings on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Committed to jail were Phillip Miller, 18, Springfield, W. Va.; Albert T. Rockwell, 18, of 612 Virginia Avenue, and his brother, Edward Rockwell, 17, of the same address.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya obtained a waiver from Juvenile Court for the 17-year-old boy and the three were given preliminary hearings in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick conducted the hearings and set bond for action of the October term of the Grand Jury.

City Police arrested the three youths last week in connection with the breaking and entering and theft of over $200 from the safe of Brock's Junk Yard in South Cumberland.

Detective Kenneth Morrisey, who questioned the youths last Thursday and Friday, said they admitted they broke into the junk yard office and took the money and a .22 calibre pistol.

Police said they recovered $170.85 of the approximately $240 which was stolen.

Dayton Firm Gets Contract At Sugar Grove

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy has awarded the first contract on its 60-million-dollar research facility at Sugar Grove, W. Va., to Maxon Construction Co. Inc., of Dayton, Ohio, a naval spokesman reported today.

The Maxon firm submitted a low bid of $76,346 for facilities for a 60-foot antenna. Next lowest bidders were Rockingham Construction Co., of Harrisonburg, Va., $81,575, and Nielsen Construction Co. Inc., of Harrisonburg, $81,858.

The contract awarded the Maxon firm provides for construction of a reinforced concrete building and a base for an antenna, with masonry additions for an office, a shop and storage spaces, plus necessary utilities.

Local 307 Adopts Summer Schedule

Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, will go on its summer meeting schedule this month, according to George W. Lucas, business agent.

Meetings will be held on fourth Fridays at 8 p. m. in July, August and September, he said.

Buchholtz Resigns Post For Tax Job

The present City Council will be without a Commissioner of Streets and Public Property for the last week of its administration, William H. Buchholtz resigning that position yesterday.

In a letter to the council, Mr. Buchholtz asked that his resignation be effective as of the end of yesterday's work to permit him to qualify for a position with the State Comptroller's office today.

Buchholtz informed Council that he will begin work as an auditor for the cigaret tax unit which will begin operations today when the three-cent tax on each pack of cigarets sold in the state goes into effect.

Was Elected In 1952

Mr. Buchholtz ends nearly eight years of service in the city government. He was first elected to office in 1948 when he was named finance commissioner. He was re-elected to Council in 1950 and was again named to the finance post.

He ran for the office of mayor in 1952, being defeated for the position by Mayor Roy W. Eves in the city's last election under the two-year term of office statute.

He was elected to council in the 1954 balloting and selected to head the Streets and Public Buildings Department. Buchholtz was defeated for re-election in the recent city general election, and was scheduled to leave office at the council meeting next Monday morning.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long apparently voiced the feeling of his Council associates when he wished Buchholtz the best of luck in his new undertaking.

Thanks Council, Employes

In his letter of resignation, Buchholtz said "I have enjoyed the several terms that I have been fortunate enough to spend with you gentlemen and others at the City Hall. While there have been differences of opinion on many occasions, most times we have been able to resolve our problems to a successful conclusion.

"I also want to express my sincere appreciation to all employes of the City of Cumberland, as they have been most cooperative during all these years."

After the meeting, Mr. Buchholtz said he had always worked for the best interests of the city, and will continue to have a personal interest in the operations and progress of city government.

He added that he was sorry his action was on such short notice, but explained that it was necessary so that there would be no conflict with the law in holding more than one position of public trust where remuneration is involved.

Mr. and Mrs. Arno B. Hott, Augusta, W. Va., a son last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Growden, rear 611 Piedmont Avenue, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Kaylor, RFD 1, city, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Riley, Springfield, W. Va., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Wagoner, Wiley Ford, a daughter yesterday.

To Name Committees

225 Bicycle Tags Issued On Final Day

City Police issued 225 bicycle licenses yesterday as youngsters swarmed into headquarters to get the permits on the final day for the old tags to be used.

The sales of the new license plates and permits for the bicycles rose over the 1,000 mark with yesterday's last-hour rush, police traffic safety officials said.

Last year more than 1,700 licenses were issued to boys and girls in the city, so police expect quite a few more visits to headquarters the next few days.

Girl, 3, Hit By Car, Is Reported 'Fair'

A 3½-year-old Georgia girl is in "fair" condition in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where she was admitted yesterday after being struck by an automobile near Lonaconing.

State Police said the youngster, Eleanor Lee Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welsh, 3449 Hildon Circle, Chamblee, Ga., was hit when she ran in front of the vehicle operated by William John Patton, 22, of Scotch Hill, Lonaconing.

Tfc. Robert Dishong reported the little girl was visiting in the Lonaconing area with her parents and was playing in the yard at the home of relatives about 1½ miles north of Lonaconing on State Route 36.

She suddenly darted across the sidewalk into the highway in front of Patton's car, the state trooper said. The force of the impact knocked her, unconscious, under a parked vehicle.

The girl later regained consciousness at the hospital where she was taken by ambulance. Attendants said she sustained a concussion, abrasions of the body and lacerations of the scalp. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of her injuries.

The accident occurred about 12:55 p. m. No charges have been placed against the driver of the car pending completion of the investigation.

Church Notices Due Tonight

Because of the observance of the July 4 holiday, all church notices for next Sunday's services must be in the Times-News office by 11 p.m. today to insure publication.

Queen City Buys Property Of Co-Operative

The Queen City Co-Operative Dairy Inc., 310 South Mechanic Street, has purchased property at 416 Pennsylvania Avenue from Co-Operative Milk Service Inc.

The one-story modern building will continue to be used as an active receiving station by the local firm. The Co-Operative Milk Service is reported to have decided to ship milk directly from nearby Pennsylvania dairymen to Washington, D.C., and discontinue the local receiving station.

A deed recorded in the land office of Allegany County Court yesterday indicated the property was sold for about $26,500.

The same property was formerly operated by the Embassy Dairy Inc. The property was conveyed by Lilian F. Ward and her husband and the dairy to the Cooperative Milk Service on April 21, 1948.

In other deeds filed yesterday, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has sold lots in the Horse Rock Hill Subdivision in Westernport to William M. Thompson and his wife Mabel L. Thompson, of Luke, and George R. Failing and his wife, Marion C. Failing, 212 Miller Street, Westernport.

Thompson has acquired Lot 71 as laid out in Section One of the subdivision. It has a front of 100 feet on the east side of Horse Rock Road.

Request Granted For Parking Area

The Mayor and Council yesterday granted, on recommendation of City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, the request of Robert E. Zimmerla to use a city-owned lot adjacent to his machine shop at 718 North Mechanic Street for a parking lot for employes.

The recommendation was passed with the proviso that some month-to-month rental agreement be reached which would be satisfactory to both parties.

Meeting Set Today

Plans for the coming year and committee appointments will be made by the Bedford Road Optimist Club at its meeting today at 7 p. m. at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

Greater Cumberland Fair Scheduled August 18-23

The 41st annual Cumberland Fair will be held August 18 through August 23 at Fairgo, "America's Most Beautiful Fair Grounds," located along McMullen Highway two and a half miles southwest of the Queen City.

A 110-page premium list has been compiled, showing annual exhibits will include agricultural, livestock, poultry, ceramics, antiques, pet stock, flowers, art and soil conservation.

Fair Association officials announce the tentative program which will be held on the midway. There will be five nights of fireworks, Tuesday through Saturday.

Jack Kochman Auto Daredevils, billed as the greatest of all thrill shows, will present a matinee and evening performance Monday, August 18, one day only.

Cooke and Rose will present six stage acts four days of the week, Tuesday through Friday, with Jimmy Stanton and his Rock-A-Bye band.

Saturday, August 23, will be a big day. "Cousin Minnie Pearl" of the Grand Ole Opry, the 101 Ranch Boys, with Cathy Glick, the Rambling Hoedowners and the square dance band will put on a show during the afternoon and evening.

Some 36 attractions and 18 rides with side shows and fun for all will be presented by Prell's Broadway Shows for six days during the afternoon and evening.

Donald Mason Will Head GOP Campaign Here

Republicans To Open Headquarters

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, has been appointed Republican campaign chairman by the county State Central Committee, J. Glenn Beall, Jr., chairman, announced yesterday.

The committee plans to open a campaign headquarters on the first floor of the Commercial Bank building sometime this month, and will name a headquarters manager, finance chairman, and committeemen to work with Mr. Mason.

Mr. Mason, a native of Cumberland, graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1945 and served with the Coast Guard in the European and Pacific theatres aboard the USS Wakefield during World War II.

He graduated from Washington and Lee University with a law degree in 1951 and began a law practice in Cumberland. He served as administrative assistant to former State Senator Robert B. Kimble during sessions of the General Assembly from 1952 to 1955.

Mr. Mason was appointed a trial magistrate in 1952, and served until March of this year, when he resigned to accept appointment as assistant state's attorney by James S. Getty, state's attorney.

Active in Republican politics, Mr. Mason has held office in the Young Republican Club of Allegany County, and is a member of the Lonaconing Republican Club, the Cumberland Optimist Club, Junior Association of Commerce, American Legion, and Cumberland Outdoor Club.

He is vice president of the church council of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, and is a member of Potomac Lodge 100, A.F. and A.M., and of the Ali Ghan Shrine. He holds membership in the American Bar Association and in the Maryland State Bar Association.

Mr. Mason and his wife, the former Miss Dorothy Ebert, live at 435 North Centre Street.

The State Central Committee is holding regular meetings in various towns in the county. Mr. Beall said the next will be at 8 p. m. Tuesday, July 15, at the Lonaconing City Hall.

Police To Quiz Youth, 17, In Assault Case

City Police picked up a 17-year-old Cumberland youth last night for investigation in the reported assault on an 18-year-old college student early Saturday.

The boy was released about an hour later into the custody of his mother. He will be brought to Police Headquarters today and questioned, police said.

Investigators also indicated several other persons will be quizzed in the probe into the alleged assault on Allen Emerick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Emerick, 570 Patterson Avenue.

Young Emerick was released yesterday from Sacred Heart Hospital where he had been a patient since making his way home, beaten and bloody, Saturday.

The youth said he was on his way home early Saturday morning when he was attacked by a gang of youths on Paca Street near West Side Elementary School. His billfold, containing only a few dollars, could not be located after the fight, he told police.

Hospital attendants said he sustained facial and head injuries and had been badly beaten.

Man Injured In Auto Crash

A 57-year-old New York man was injured yesterday morning when he crashed his automobile into an embankment about 8½ miles north of Bedford, Pa., on U. S. Route 220.

Pennsylvania State Police said Harry C. Kaufman, 9 Lexington Avenue, New York City, was taken to Bedford Memorial Hospital where he complained of back, wrist, thigh and elbow injuries.

Police said the accelerator on the man's car became stuck and when he attempted to dislodge it, he lost control of the car, a sports model, hit an embankment, crossed the highway and struck another embankment. Damage to the new car was estimated at nearly $2,000.

Meanwhile, hospital attendants report the condition of Mrs. Katherine Sayre, Elkins, W. Va., who was hurt last Tuesday in a one-car accident, is still "critical." She was injured when the car in which she was riding plunged over an embankment into a farm pond along U.S. 220 near Bedford.

Also treated for injuries in the accident were Mrs. Sayre's daughter, Constance, 19, and William E. Hancock, 19, of Bloomfield, N. J., who police said was the driver of the car.

City Building Permits Hit $1,911,566

The June permits included eight for new construction jobs estimated to cost $59,800 and 12 additions and improvements totaling $11,934.

Included were eight residences with a total value of $59,300; four additions to residences, $3,014; three improvements to residences, $619; two additions to businesses, $1,300; two improvements to business, $5,500 and a $1,500 improvement to a business establishment.

State Asked To Help Put Out Coal Mine Fire

Powers Says Blaze Threatens Reserves

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Emergency state aid was requested Monday to help extinguish a coal mine fire which has been burning out of control in Western Maryland.

Frank J. Powers, director of the state Bureau of Mines at Westernport, said the blaze has been burning since early May in the Pittsburgh (Big Vein) coal seam of the Koontz Coal Co., about half a mile west of Lord, Md.

He said if it isn't extinguished it "will destroy valuable resources in the Pittsburgh coal seam and will eventually extend to the Lonaconing area on the west side of Georges Creek where known coal reserves are still available."

US To Put Up $20,000

Powers said the Federal Bureau of Mines has offered to put up half of a $40,000 fund to extinguish the fire and requested that the state Board of Public Works match it with an emergency allocation.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) called from Washington Monday to urge that the money be advanced.

Gov. McKeldin was en route to a judicial conference at Hot Springs, Va., when Powers' letter arrived, but aides said he would probably take the matter up with the Board of Public Works.

The board's next scheduled meeting is July 14. Its membership consists of the Governor, Comptroller and State Treasurer.

Burned Five Years

According to Powers' letter the fire had been burning in a slate bank for about five years before entering the coal seam. He said it was started by "parties unknown, probably timber cutters."

Powers said an inspection on May 12 by state, federal and coal company officials showed that the fire will continue to spread and possibly affect adjacent coal resources.

He said it already presents a safety hazard to those traveling in the immediate vicinity and is a a source for possible forest and brush fires.

330 Marriage Licenses Are Issued In June

Vacation Bible School Is Well Attended

Of the total enrollees, 62 were presented with certificates for perfect attendance during the two weeks. Handicraft was displayed by the children and the teachers reviewed the work covered during the course of study.

Miss Christine Alderton was director and was assisted by 28 teachers and assistants. Miss Dorothy Streett was music director and Mrs. Helen Northcraft, pianist.

At the closing session, prayer was offered by Ellsworth Emerick and tribute was paid to the workers by Eugene Streett.

Allender Is Home

F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024, has been discharged from Memorial Hospital and is recuperating at his home, 44 North Mechanic Street. He became ill at his home early last month.

Hearings Open On C&O Canal Park Project

Judge Henderson Chief Witness

George Henderson, a former mayor of Cumberland and recently retired chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit Court of Maryland, was the principal witness yesterday at a Congressional hearing on the C & O Canal parkway project.

The House Public Lands subcommittee, which conducted the hearing on proposed legislation authorizing the establishment of a national park out of the 165-mile long canal between Cumberland and Washington, is headed by Mrs. Gracie Pfost, Democratic Congresswoman from Idaho.

Judge Henderson was the first of some 20 or more proponents of the park project to be heard. He outlined for the committee the history of the canal, told why it was constructed, how and why it was used for many years, and why it was eventually abandoned.

He urged that the area along the canal be preserved as a national park, and explained to the committee that the canal has considerable historical significance and should prove to be a great attraction for many people.

Urges Establishment

Within a radius of 350 miles of the canal, he pointed out, more than half of the population of the country reside. Recreation and tourist areas are needed, and this type of national park can and should be established for the benefit of this and future generations, he said.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde (R-Md), author of the House bill on the subject, turned down a suggestion by acting committee chairman Pfost that action be withheld until Congress gets a Potomac River water utilization study from Army Engineers.

"It may be four or five years before that report is ready for submission to Congress," Hyde said.

Asked whether establishment of the proposed park might interfere with possible future plans for one or more dams on the Potomac to provide additional water for metropolitan Washington, Hyde said: "The question of a dam would be exactly the same whether or not the park is established. The federal government already owns the C & O right-of-way."

Hyde Answers Objections

Hyde referred to seven objections to the park proposal raised by the Maryland Board of Natural Resources. These objections, submitted to the committee, were:

1. The park would be expensive to maintain and difficult to administer.

2. It would require Maryland to surrender to federal control nearly all the northern shore and bed of the Potomac from Washington to Cumberland.

3. If established, Maryland's southern boundary would for practical purposes be moved back 40 rods from the Potomac's shores.

4. A narrow ribbon of federal land along the northern shore of the Potomac would allow Maryland citizens access to the river only on the sufferance of the federal government.

5. The park would constitute a curtain which would prohibit normal development of homes and industries along the river.

6. Land along the north shore of the river now is available to hunters, fishermen and naturalists.

Alaska Approved As State

Short Cut Rejected By Supreme Court In Little Rock Case

Tribunal Refuses To Bypass Appeals Court In St. Louis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused Monday to shortcut usual procedures and rule directly and promptly on an appeal from an order suspending desegregation in Little Rock.

But in so doing, the court said it was sure the U. S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis would act on the appeals "in ample time to permit arrangements to be made for the next school year."

In another unanimous action Monday, the Court struck down a $100,000 fine levied against the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by an Alabama judge.

Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones imposed the fine in Montgomery June 1, 1956, on the ground the NAACP was in contempt of court for failing to comply with an order for production of a list of its members. The judge also barred the NAACP from doing business in Alabama.

Harlan Speaks For Court

Speaking for the Court, Judge Harlan said the order for production of the membership list "must be regarded as entailing a substantial restraint upon the exercise by petitioner's (NAACP) members of their right to freedom of association."

Noting that the Little Rock desegregation case has been before the Court of Appeals in St. Louis in one form or another three different times, the Supreme Court said:

"That Court is the regular court for reviewing the orders of district court here concerned, and the appeal and the petition for a stay are matters properly to be adjudicated by it in the first instance."

Stay Of Order Refused

The order suspending desegration in Little Rock for 2½ years—until January 1961—was issued June 21 by U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley.

Two days later, the judge turned down a plea by attorneys representing Negroes to stay effectiveness off his order pending the outcome of an appeal.

Under the integration plan now suspended, nine Negroes attended Little Rock's Central High School the past school year under protection of federal troops sent there by President Eisenhower.

Lemley said he granted the suspension of desegregation "in the public interest, including the interest of both Negro and white students."

U.S. And Soviet Delegates See Parley Success

The statement cleared away any lingering suggestion that Soviet delegates might not show up for the conference on ways of detecting nuclear weapons testing.

Prof. Yevgeni K. Federov, head of the Soviet delegation, met for two hours with Dr. James B. Fisk, U. S. delegation leader. They agreed the conference will deal solely with means of detecting any cheating that might be tried under a ban.

Last week the Russians threatened to boycott the meeting unless the United States agreed beforehand to make a commitment toward a nuclear test ban. The United States replied that it would go on with the conference as scheduled in accordance with an exchange of notes between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev.

After meeting with Fisk, Federov told reporters:

"The Soviet delegation feels the work which will start soon is very important and that it will be possible to find a common language with our colleagues of the United States and other nations."

Fisk, who stood next to him, said:

"I, too, am sure we will find the common language of which Dr. Federov speaks. We believe the technical problems before us are very difficult and will deserve all the attention that the delegations give them.

"I also believe we will be able to provide our governments with the technical basis they will need for reaching a future agreement."

Neither Fisk nor Fedorov would discuss in detail what had been arranged during their session in the Soviet delegation villa near the U. N. building.

Fisk merely said it had been an effective meeting.

U.S. Envoy Asks Russ Free Nine

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States asked the Russians Monday to release at once nine American airmen forced down inside Soviet Armenia. Some quarters in Moscow believed the Soviets would comply.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. took his government's request to the Soviet foreign ministry. He also transmitted Washington's denial that the unarmed DC6A military transport purposely flew into Soviet territory last Friday.

It was forced down by two Soviet jets and burned after landing 150 miles from Turkey's border, the Russians say.

The U.S. Defense Department has suggested the plane—headed for Iran with supplies for Americans there and in Pakistan—strayed off course while flying on instruments in overcast weather.

Costello Rebuffed

Costello was convicted of evading $28,532 in taxes for 1948 and 1949. Sentenced to five years' imprisonment, he was released on $25,000 bail after serving 11 months. His release was granted pending final action on contentions he should have a new trial.

Rebels Driven From Two Hills Outside Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Government forces and mountain tribesmen fought a see-saw battle in the hills overlooking Beirut Monday after the rebels drove closer to the capital than ever before.

Followers of young rebel leader Kamal Jumblatt made a surprise dawn push into hills between Chemlan and Kayfoun, only five miles from Beirut International Airport.

Rebels on another hill swept across the valley in an attempt to relieve their comrades. They were driven back.

Irregulars helping the security forces blocked roads and approaches to Kayfound and Chemlan to choke off the rebel advance.

Security forces claimed they suffered no casualties. They said many rebels were killed. The size of the attacking force was not given.

Jumblatt, leader of the Progressive Socialist political organization, controls a large area south and east of Beirut. His followers are largely Druse tribesmen.

The rebels fired only small arms. They were too far away to fire on the airport.

An Arab studies center, operated in Chemlan by the British Foreign Office, was evacuated. A British Embassy spokesman said Jumblatt had warned he planned to attack the town.

The fighting near Beirut came after fierce weekend battles in Tripoli. The clashes there began on Thursday and the combat area extended 10 to 15 miles around the northern port city.

The American Presbyterian Hospital, surrounded by rebel territory, was the center of fighting. Government guards were still inside the hospital with 25 Lebanese patients and 42 staff members. American personnel left the hospital two weeks ago.

Golf Equipment Makers Indicted

CHICAGO (AP) — Five major manufacturers of golf equipment were charged Monday with violating the antitrust law.

A federal grand jury returned a two-count indictment accusing the companies of conspiring to restrain trade and engaging in monopoly agreements.

Those indicted are True Temper Corp. of Cleveland, producer of 90 per cent of all steel golf club shafts made in the United States; Wilson Athletic Goods Manufacturing Co. of River Grove, Ill; A. G. Spalding & Bros. Inc., of Chicopee, Mass.; MacGregor Sport Products Inc. of Cincinnati; and Hillerich & Bradsby Co. of Louisville.

Butler Votes "No" On Alaska Statehood

Unpredictable Irish Elect Widow Dublin Lord Mayor

DUBLIN (AP)—The unpredictable Irish have done it again.

Two years ago they elected a Jew as lord mayor of Dublin—often known as the world's most Catholic capital.

Monday night they elected a Scots-born widow, slight, graying Mrs. Catherine Byrne. She is a Roman Catholic.

"This is the biggest shock I have ever had in all my life," she gasped, breathless with excitement and weighted down as the heavy chain of office was draped over her shoulders.

Mrs. Byrne won on the fourth ballot in the City Council voting after a neck-and-neck race with Robert Briscoe, a leader of the Jewish community who was mayor two years ago.

Mrs. Byrne is in her late 50s and has two grown daughters. She polled 23 votes to 17 for Briscoe, who ran as the nominee of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's Fianna Fail party.

The outgoing mayor, James Carroll, 52, an independent, sought reelection, but was never a serious contender.

Briscoe took his defeat in the same good spirit that won him many American friends when he toured the United States first as lord mayor and later as ex-lord mayor.

"You won fairly," he told the little widow. "There will be no recriminations and no hard feelings. You are assured of the support of all of us in the discharge of the heavy duties you now assume."

Mrs. Byrne is no novice in politics.

She sat in the 45-member City Council for nine years as a representative of the Fine Gael party, main opposition to De Valera's Fianna Fail.

Fox Planning $1,000,000 Libel Suit Against Adams

New Charges, Denials Mark Influence Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) —Business promoter John Fox casually announced Monday he is starting a million dollar libel suit against Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams—who has charged him with malicious accusations.

Fox also promised million-dollar suits against others who have been criticizing him.

This sudden development came just before Fox concluded three days of testimony to a House subcommittee. Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters: "Mr. Adams will have no comment on that. How silly can this whole thing get?"

The Fox testimony exploded sensations and uproars, accusations and denials, involving Adams, his wealthy Boston friend and benefactor, Bernard Goldfine, and the Boston Herald and Traveler and their publisher, Robert Choate.

Grounds Not Spelled Out

Fox said he has instructed his lawyers to file suits for a million dollars each against Choate, the Herald-Traveler Corp., its attorney, William J. Dempsey, and Goldfine's attorneys, Roger Robb and Samuel Sears.

He didn't spell out the grounds for the suits. But he said after the hearing:

"All the individuals and the newspapers made thoroughly scurrilous and libelous statements about me in writing."

With denials coming quickly, Fox last week had depicted Adams as using his weight with government agencies to help Goldfine, a former friend and now a business foe of Fox.

More Charges, Denials

And, to the accompaniment of more denials, Fox had testified that his Boston Post collapsed in 1956 under powerful pressures from within the Eisenhower administration, which he linked to enmity of Choate and Goldfine.

Along the way, Fox quoted Goldfine as having told him Adams had promised to help Goldfine out of trouble with the Federal Trade Commission over mislabeling of textiles, that he had given Adams checks over a period of years, bought him some securities, and purchased him a house to live in here in Washington.

Adams fired back with a formal statement he personally read to reporters last Thursday night. It accused Fox of making malicious accusations and added:

"It is difficult to separate the many falsehoods in Mr. Fox's incredible testimony. Virtually everything he said about me—in one way or another—is false."

Crazed Gunman Kills 2 Officers

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—Two Pawtucket police detectives were shot to death Monday when they invaded a Pawtucket home to rescue a mother who had been held captive all afternoon by her son.

Det. Lt. Thomas Truesdale and Det. Emil Newberg died at Rhode Island Hospital.

Truesdale was shot in the lung and Newberg in the stomach.

The son, who evidently went berserk, was identified by police as Robert Genereux.

He was hospitalized under heavy police guard. He was covered with blood.

It was not determined immediately whether he had been shot. His condition was reported as not serious.

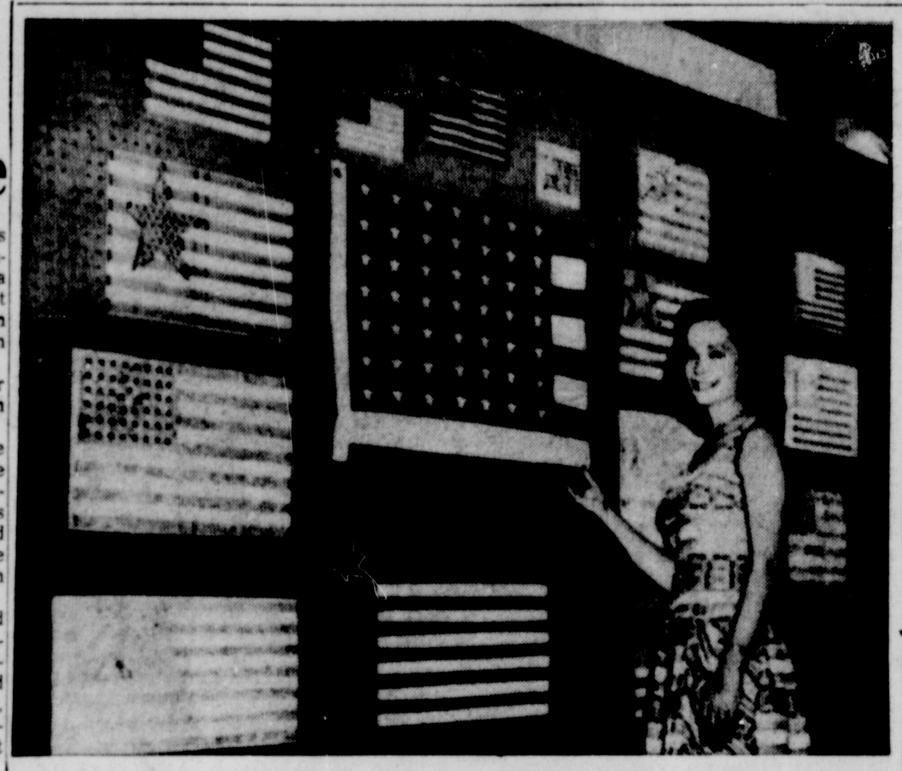

The mother was snatched from the house, apparently uninjured.

Genereux was dragged out of the house, near busy Route 1, after police raked the dwelling with machinegun fire and tear gas.

Genereux was seized by Capt. Joseph E. McAlvey and Det. James E. Brennan, who shot their way into a bathroom where he had barricaded himself in a closet. He was armed when taken.

Two revolvers and a shotgun were found on the premises.

Newberg and Truesdale were shot when they entered the house and tried to persuade Genereux to free his mother. They were found sprawled in the bathroom.

Suggestions For New Flag Design

Mrs. Jersey Spittle, Army Quartermaster Corps employe, poses in Washington before a display of a few of the several hundred designs volunteered by Americans for their flag in the event of Alaskan statehood. The Senate voted last night to admit Alaska to the Union, leaving only the requirement of presidential approval and acceptance by Alaskans of the bill's terms to make Alaska the 49th state.

Rockefeller To Seek N.Y. Governorship

NEW YORK (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller announced Monday that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor. His candidacy posed the possibility of a battle of millionaires in the fall political campaign.

Rockefeller has been an undeclared candidate for weeks. Unofficial polls have depicted him as his party's strongest potential candidate.

"The people of the State of New York are entitled to government of the highest quality. I believe that the government they are getting is inadequate to meet the needs of our times, the changing facts of modern life and the insecurities of the present day," Rockefeller said in his announcement.

The only candidate in the field against Rockefeller as of now is Leonard Hall, former Republican national chairman. He said he welcomed Rockefeller as a rival and suggested a series of debates on issues.

Rockefeller's nomination, if he can obtain it at the Aug. 25-26 state convention, would pit two scions of vast wealth in the political arena of the Empire State. The prize would be not only the governorship but national stature within the winner's party.

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman plans to run for a second term. Like Rockefeller, he inherited a fortune from his father. Harriman's wealth stems from railroads, Rockefeller's from oil.

Rockefeller, as a candidate, would be in about the same underdog position that Harriman was when he first sought political office in the gubernatorial race of 1954. Both men brought to their maiden political campaign a fairly extensive background of appointive federal service. But neither had in advance of their campaigns any first-hand elective experience.

Army Demonstrates Missile Muscles

MCGREGOR MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—The Army flexed its missile muscles Monday for the nation's top brass, knocking a hole in a mountain and sending a World War II Flying Fortress down in flames.

Some 75 generals — with 150 stars between them—were on hand.

Heading the military part of those attending were Gen Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker was expected to get in on part of the action.

Cuba Rebels Kidnap 2 More Americans

Efforts To Free 44 Prisoners Continue

HAVANA (AP) — Two more Americans were kidnaped by Fidel Castro's rebels Monday, boosting the total now held by insurgents to 41 Americans and three Canadians.

Two U.S. consular officials were striving in rebel mountain country of eastern Cuba to free the prisoners. One official made contact with rebel leaders, but was reported awaiting word from the insurgent high command on their release.

U.S. embassy sources in Havana indicated the two officials might have some report on the missing men Monday night or Tuesday.

While the rebel kidnap campaign went on, there were reports of a new flareup of violence by the dissident forces seeking to overthrow Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

Dispatches from Cienfuegos on Cuba's south coast said eight rebels and two soldiers were killed in a clash in that area Saturday. Several soldiers were reported wounded.

Another report said a rebel band surprised an Army detachment in a ravine on a farm near Guantanamo and killed a lieutenant and five soldiers. Six other soldiers were wounded.

Working for the release of the North American hostages were U.S. Consul Park Wollam and U.S. Vice Consul Robert Wiecha. Wollam was in contact with rebels in northeast Cuba seeking to free the first Americans and Canadians seized last week.

It was disclosed Monday that Wiecha had gone into the hills around Guantanamo to contact rebels for the release of Guantanamo Naval Base personnel men in rebel hands. There was no word that he had made contact. Wiecha, of Saginaw, Mich., is vice consul at Santiago.

Carried off in a fast swoop on a work camp in eastern Cuba were Sherman Avery White, about 52, of New York, general manager of the big U.S.-built Nicaro nickel plant; and his assistant, J. Andrew Poll, 45, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The latest strike in Castro's campaign to draw attention to his sputtering rebellion was carried out by eight rebels, the U. S. Embassy said.

The other captives are 10 U.S. and 2 Canadian engineers, seized last Thursday in the city of Mao; 28 U.S. servicemen from the U.S. Navy Base at Guantanamo; and two sugar mill executives kidnaped over the weekend. The last two are Daymond Elmore, 53, of Haynesville, La.; and Richard Sargent, about 50, of Toronto.

Canada Hunts Bomb Planters

KELOWNA, B.C. (AP)—Squads of extra police moved into this central British Columbia region Monday seeking the persons who planted four time bombs in public places over the weekend.

One man was arrested and police said charges may be preferred. The man's identity was not disclosed.

The bombs caused deep official concern, as Britain's Princess Margaret is due here for a visit July 18-21. Authorities said they will take extraordinary measures to insure her safety, but have not yet considered whether her tour of this area should be canceled or revised.

U.S. Debt Due To Hit New High As Fiscal '59 Begins

More and bigger deficit spending loomed ahead for fiscal 1959, bringing with it new inflationary pressure and damaging prospects for any substantial tax relief next year or soon thereafter.

In a few weeks, the administration will ask Congress to boost the federal debt ceiling for the second time this session. Some officials indicated a new temporary ceiling of 290 billion dollars may be sought. The earlier five billion dollar boost brought it to 280 billion.

The widening gap between income and outgo in the new fiscal year—now estimated at around 11 billion dollars, or possibly even close to 12 billion—makes substantial new Treasury borrowings inevitable. Some believe the deficit won't be that large, but nevertheless the federal debt is considered certain to pass the high water mark of $280,821,000,000 reached in December, 1955.

High administration sources estimated Monday night that a deficit of 2¾ to 3 billion dollars will have been rolled up for fiscal 1958 when all the paid bills are counted.

That is just an estimate. Nobody's guess on fiscal 1959 can be considered very reliable until Congress stops passing laws and making appropriations.

But the trend of higher spending and lagging receipts is unmistakeable. Originally, President Eisenhower told Congress that 1958 would bring his third balanced budget in a row.

Senate Votes To Plant 49th Star In Flag

House-Approved Bill Sent To Ike By 64-20 Margin

Acceptance of the House-passed bill left only the requirement of presidential approval and acceptance by Alaskans of the bill's terms to extend the Union to a point 55 miles from Russian Siberia.

The roll call vote was 64-20.

The bill would permit Alaska to take its place late this fall or early winter as the first new state since the 1912 admission of Arizona and New Mexico. Its two senators and lone House member could take their seats in the Congress in January.

Extension of statehood to Alaska would add to the United States an area roughly one-fifth the size of the existing 48 states and 2½ times that of Texas.

It would end the territorial status which has been Alaska's since it was acquired from Russia 1867 for 7.2 million dollars.

42-Year Fight Over

Alaskans for the first time would be permitted to cast their vote for president and vice president, have voting representation in the national Senate and House and to elect their own governor and state officers. Proponents of statehood for Alaska have been battling since 1916 when the first bill was introduced.

Passage of the bill on the sixth day of Senate debate came over the opposition of a determined group of senators, largely from the South, who argued that Alaska was not prepared for statehood either from the standpoint of economy or population.

They pointed also to Alaska's geograpnical location and said the overstepping of Canada to extend statehood to a non-contiguous area would be a precedent for admission of other offshore areas such as Hawaii, Puerto Rico or Guam.

Reports linking southern opposition to the civil rights issue and fears that Alaska's admission would lead to election of senators unfriendly to the southern stand were denied by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) in one of the final appeals made against the bill.

Psychological Weapon

During debate, statehood supporters cited Alaska's admission as a redemption of the pledge for self-government made in the treaty acquiring it from Russia. They saw it also as a psychological weapon of great value in the Western world's battle for world opinion.

They said Alaska's admission would give the area the impetus and stability required for further development of its economy and population.

In addition to granting Alaska self-government and congressional representation, the bill also gives it the right to select 103,350,000 acres, including mineral rights, from lands not already reserved by the government.

Under one provision of the bill, however, the President would be given the right at any future time to withdraw from the state for national defense purposes all or part of the area north and west of the Porcupine, Yukon and Kuskokwim rivers.

Tax Bill Signed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed a bill Monday repealing the 3 per cent tax on freight shipments but extending for another year the wartime tax rates on corporate income and a wide range of consumer goods.

Elimination of the tax on rail, road, air and water shipments will cost the government half a billion dollars a year in revenue.

But continuation of the 52 per cent rate on corporate incomes, the 10 per cent tax on passenger travel and excises on new autos, automotive accessories, cigarets, whisky, wines and beer will yield an extra $2,115,000,000.

All the rates would have dropped Tuesday, the start of a new fiscal year, in the absence of extension legislation.

Mobsters' Mystery Meeting Bore Mafia Pattern, Probe Told

The testimony came from Martin F. Pera, a 10-year veteran of the Narcotics Bureau, as the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee launched public hearings on an alleged crime syndicate operating in this country.

"The Apalachin meeting followed the Mafia pattern," Pera said. He described the alleged secret criminal society as one ruled by a grand council in this country and in Sicily, its reputed birth place. He said it commands an army of hoodlums who may win rewards for such missions as an efficient murder.

Pera said the Narcotics Bureau's investigations indicate the Mafia has made a concerted effort to penetrate the labor-management relations field.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, told reporters he will ask Pera to expand on this when the witness resumes his testimony Tuesday.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), committee chairman, said at the start of the hearing the nation's economy may be in peril from what he termed a massive infiltration of businesses and labor unions by gangsters and racketeers.

"There exists in America today," McClellan said, "what appears to be a close-knit, clandestine criminal syndicate."

Black hand or otherwise, McClellan said, there exists a criminal syndicate in this country, masking its operations behind the respectable fronts of business and labor union operations. He said it uses the businesses as a convenient screen to conceal the true source of its revenues from narcotics, gambling and prostitution rackets.

As the starting point for hearings in which McClellan said he will call "figures in the national criminal hierarchy" as witnesses, the committee chose the Apalachin meeting. This was a gathering the police raided last November. They rounded up 60 men, many of them known mobsters, who insisted to the skeptical law they had assembled only to visit a sick friend.

The committee said the investigation will run four or four and one half months, off and on. It has 100 witnesses under subpoena now.

Jet Pilot Admits Plane Collision Wasn't His First

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pilot of the jet trainer that collided with an airliner near Brunswick, Md., May 20, acknowledged Monday that he has been involved in at least two previous airplane collisions.

Capt. Julius R. McCoy of Baltimore, a member of the Maryland Air National Guard, acknowledged the previous collisions with obvious reluctance and declined to give details.

McCoy said he could no longer trust his memory as to the accidents, and also was not sure that he was privileged to talk about them. The Air Force usually is the authority for releasing information as to military accidents.

McCoy testified at a Civil Aeronautics Board inquiry into the collision between his T33 jet and a Capital Airlines Viscount airplane. All 11 persons aboard the Viscount were killed, as was McCoy's passenger, Army National Guard Pfc. Donald Chalmers.

Withholding Tax Laws Get New, Sharper Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collectors are preparing a new crackdown on businessmen who pocket taxes withheld from their employes' pay.

Starting Tuesday, any employer who ignores the withholding tax laws will be liable to a sentence of up to a year in jail and a $5,000 fine.

Heretofore the Internal Revenue Service has been able only to attach business assets to satisfy claims for delinquent withholding taxes.

Of 4.4 million businesses that withhold taxes for the government, 377,253 were delinquent to the extent of nearly 301 million dollars in 1957. This was an increase from 356,748 in 1956, when delinquencies totaled 279 million dollars.

Officials said almost all delinquents were small businessmen. They said few if any really large firms run afoul of the withholding tax regulations.

In addition to providing criminal penalties, the new law provides that a businessman who ignores warnings can be required to deposit taxes within two banking days after withholding them. The normal procedure is for businesses to deposit withheld taxes in special accounts once a month.

New Charges

In fact, he added something—that Adams had obviously ordered Goldfine to "keep his mouth shut" when, Fox said, Goldfine proposed a toast to Adams on May 10, 1955, and remarked that "he never let's his friends down and he isn't letting me down at this time." At this time, Goldfine was in difficulty with the FTC.

Adams has conceded that he accepted gifts and payment of hotel bills from Goldfine—but only on a basis of friendship. He has testified he was imprudent—and President Eisenhower agreed—in making inquiries at the FTC and the Securities and Exchange Commission about Goldfine's troubles. But he said he used no influence to gain favorable treatment for his friend, and none was granted.

Fox's forum has been a hearing in which the Harris subcommittee has been digging into the way federal regulatory agencies operate and the question of whether Adams used any influence with any of them on behalf of Goldfine.

The White House, Choate, and members of Congress all have jumped on the subcommittee's conduct of the hearings, protesting that it permitted itself to be used for smearing innocent people.

CRAZED GUNMAN SUBDUED—Robert J. Genereux, 35, is led from a Pawtucket, R. I., home by detectives after he went berserk last night and shot two policemen to death. The officers were cut down as they tried to enter the house where Genereux, recently discharged from a VA hospital, had been holding his mother captive. Genereux finally was subdued with tear gas and a volley of machine gun fire from 35 to 40 policemen surrounding the home. (AP Photofax)

U.S. Brushes Off 15-Day Red Chinese Ultimatum

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China demanded Monday the United States resume ambassadorial talks in Geneva within 15 days and threw in a threat against Formosa, guarded by the U.S. 7th Fleet.

Peiping radio said if no action is taken by July 14, it will make little difference to Red China. But the United States would be considered responsible for breaking off the talks.

In Washington, the State Department issued a statement rejecting what it called a 15-day Chinese ultimatum. Press Chief Lincoln White said the United States had been considering for a month whether to propose moving the talks from Geneva. He added:

"We are withholding any further action with respect to another meeting until we have had an opportunity fully to consider the Chinese Communist message."

The Chinese implication was that if the United States refuses to send an ambassador back to Geneva to discuss improvement of relations between the two countries, Red China might move against Formosa. Formosa is Nationalist China's stronghold.

Peiping put it this way:

"The Chinese people are by no means afraid of U.S. aggression and there is no reason whatever that they should be pining for talks with the United States.

The talks began in Geneva in 1955 between U.S. Ambassador Alexis Johnson and Red China's Wang Ping-Nan. They were called for negotiations on the release of 40 Americans in Red China. When most of the prisoners were released, the talks switched to other issues.

After the 73rd meeting last December 12, the talks were adjourned with no future meetings set. Johnson later was transferred to another post and Edwin W. Martin, first secretary of the U.S. embassy in London, was made temporary U.S. representative.

GOP Move For Probe Of Inquiry Spurned

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas ruled out of order a resolution proposed by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) contending the investigating subcommittee publicly aired testimony tending to defame, degrade or incriminate, without first determining the nature of the testimony in executive session.

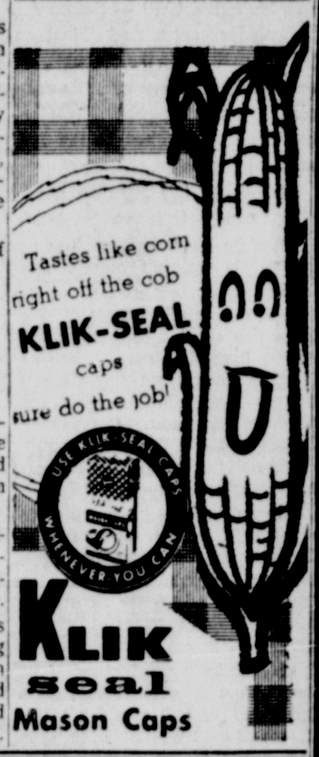

It called for an investigation of the subcommittee's procedure.

Queen Elizabeth Tours Coal Mine

ROTHES, Scotland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II donned white coveralls, black rubber boots and a helmet Monday and went down a coal mine.

With her husband, Prince Philip and lady-in-waiting, the Countess of Euston, the Queen descended about 1,700 feet in an elevator.

Then she walked three-quarters of a mile to watch miners hewing a seam of coal and loading it on a conveyor belt. She splashed through puddles and was pelted by water dripping from the roof.

Suzy Parker Sues Railway For $350,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Suzy Parker, injured in an automobile-train collision which killed her father, filed a $350,000 damage suit Monday against the Florida East Coast Railway Co.

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court, said the former model was unable to pursue her career because of the injuries.

The car in which she was riding with her father, George Lofton Parker, and the train collided last June 7 at a railroad crossing near St. Augustine, Fla.

She suffered broken arms and other injuries.

Trujillo Yacht Reeks Of Luxury

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. gives a party aboard his yacht, the Angelita, the guests will find that it practically reeks of luxury.

The Dominican Republic playboy is planning such a party, but a warmup affair Zsa Zsa Gabor had been arranging for him was canceled Monday by the actress. It was to have been on July 8 in the plush L'Escoffier Room of the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

"So many friends requested invitations that I am afraid the party got out of hand," Zsa Zsa said in cancellation telegrams to the invitees. "I hope that my early invitation has not inconvenienced you. Love, Zsa Zsa."

But the yacht party, if and when it is given—now there will be a party!

The four-masted sailing barque, which also has diesel engines, is docked at nearby San Pedro.

"We hit the hardwood plank deck just after seista hour," Coates wrote. "And we are escorted amidships to a flotilla of blue denim-upholstered lounge chairs. A white-jacketed waiter brought cool, potent drinks."

The general, entitled to wear admiral's whites aboard his personal man o'war, appeared in English tweeds, a gray cashmere sweater, white sport shirt, silk neckerchief, brown rubber-soled moccasins and Hollywood - type dark glasses.

"We were ushered first into the main salon," Coates said.

"From its hand-carved, wood-beamed ceilings to its gold-embossed books, the room reeked of luxury. Its marble-faced fireplace bore a royal emblem inscribed 'Angelite Reina,' under the oil portrait of Angelita, the general's favorite sister.

"We were then led into the dining salon. Protocol on a Dominican general's private yacht demands that he be attended by at least three personal servants—a maitre d'hotel, a waiter and a chef all his own. Even if he dines alone, the general is given an elaborately printed menu of the courses he will be served."

Coates added these details about the yacht: "Latest in two-way radio equipment. . . automatic pilots and radar equipment. . . crew of 65 sailors and 15 officers. . . antique furniture, marble baths, a $70,000 Persian rug covering the general's stateroom floor. . . half a dozen standard model television sets."

Russian Scientists Return To Scene Of 1908 Siberian Meteorite Barrage

Into the heart of Siberia a huge flame plummeted downward.

In seconds it thundered to the swampy ground of a forest. There was an enormous explosion.

Shock tore trees from the ground. Windows shattered more than 40 miles away. On the Trans-Siberian Railway, 400 miles distant, an engineer stopped his train for fear it would derail.

This was bombardment from outer space—a barrage of meteorites weighing as much as a locomotive, slamming into the earth and exploding.

It happened shortly before 7 o'clock the evening of June 30, 1908—50 years ago.

Now a Russian expedition is at the site of the explosion says Tass, the Soviet news agency. The Russian scientists hope to learn something of the nature of the meteorite barrage in recognition of the 50th anniversary.

All over the world seismographs trembled. Smoke rose into the morning sky and was said to have tinted European twilights for days afterward.

The Russians didn't visit the site until 1927—some 19 years later when a scientific expedition scoured the area near the stony Tanguska River.

It found trees scorched or denuded for 15 miles around.

There were 10 craters, some more than 15 yards across.

But hardly anything remained of the several hundred tons of meteorites that ripped into the atmosphere at between 10 and 40 miles per second.

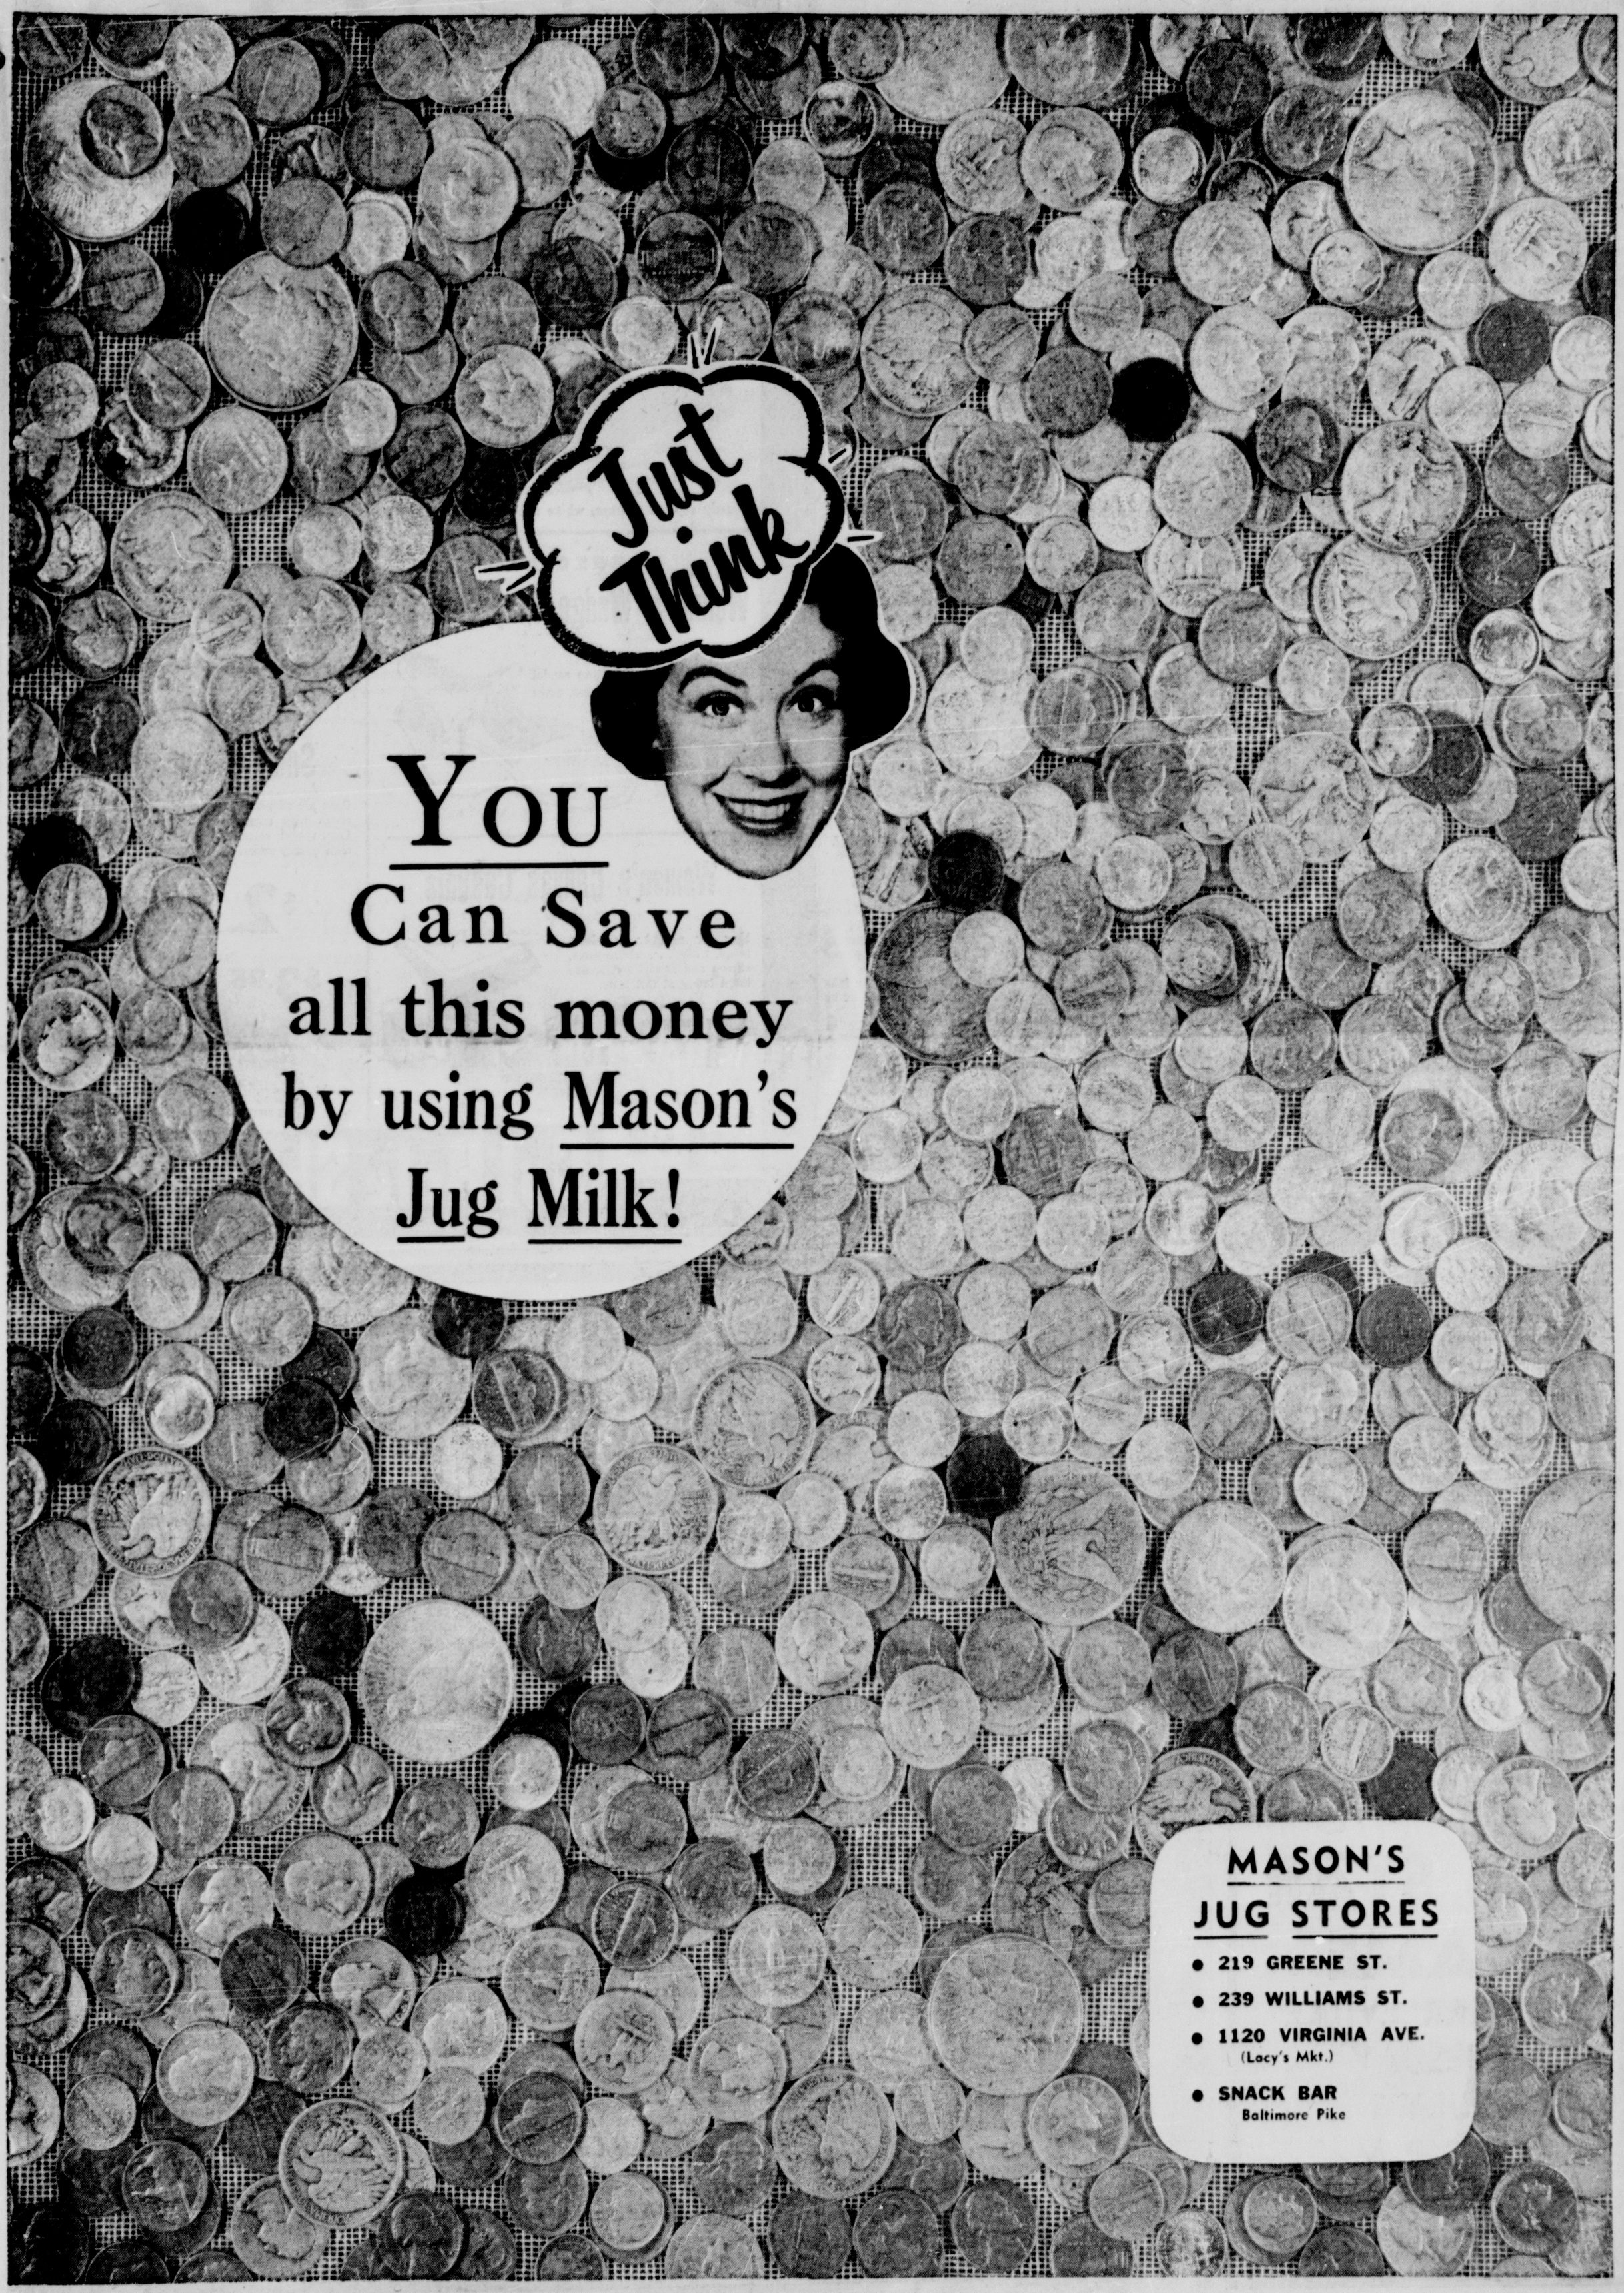

Had the meteorites struck just 4 hours and 47 minutes earlier, they wouldn't have fallen harmlessly into the Siberian wilderness. Instead they would have ploughed into the city of St. Petersburg, undoubtedly with a great loss of life.

For all its spectacular behavior, the Siberian barrage was only a sample of the cannonading the earth takes each year from the traveling junk piles of space.

D'Alesandro Lists Three Key Areas In Elections

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's Third District, and adjacent counties of Baltimore and Anne Arundel, which have shown recent Republican voting trends, are the three key areas in the Maryland elections in November, in the opinion of Mayor D'Alesandro.

The Democratic mayor, running for the U.S. Senate, told Third District leaders of his party Sunday that their bailiwick will determine how the Democrats fare in the city as a whole.

He expressed confidence they would run ahead in the other five legislative districts. But the Third, with more than 118,000 registered voters, could tip the scales.

Although the registered Democrats outnumber Republicans 93,000 to 25,000, Rep. Gov. McKeldin drew more votes in the Third than Democrat H. C. Byrd four years ago.

The district also has had two Republicans in the House of Delegates. There was only one other Republican delegate from the city.

Baltimore County, which has a Democratic registration of 164,000 to 47,000 Republicans, likewise has strayed from the party line. It is the home of Republican James P. S. Devereux who is leaving the House of Representatives to run for governor.

Last year, the county switched to a council form of government and Republicans won a majority of the seats.

In Anne Arundel, the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 43,000 to 14,000. Yet Republican U.S. Sen. Butler beat Democrat George P. Mahoney there in 1956.

Also Republican William B. Prendergast drew more votes than Democrat Richard E. Lankford for the House of Representatives, although it is Lankford's county. Lankford was reelected by virtue of majorities in other counties in the congressional district.

Prendergast is running this time for State Senate against Louis Phipps. A Democratic faction led by Phipps swept the Democratic primary last month. The losers, headed by Ralph Lowman, have not shown signs yet of joining forces.

The Third District factions have responded to a call to arms against the Republicans.

Millard Tawes, the Democratic candidate for governor, said he was not being lulled into any sense of security although "everyone is telling me the election is in the bag."

He expressed concern that too many Democrats are accepting at face value the trend is in their favor this year on account of the business recession and gifts to the White House.

Cuban Consul's Life Threatened

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cuban consul in Baltimore, Carlos Tornes, turned over to the police and FBI two letters threatening his life.

Both letters were dated last Thursday and were found under the door the next day.

One letter, written in pencil, said:

"Cuban consul — We bring you a message from the Sierra Maestra. You are a traitor. We will get you soon."

The other, in black and red ink on heavy cardboard, read:

"By serving Batista you have betrayed not only Cuba but the principles of democracy. We are here to get you."

D.C. Transit System Proposes To Up Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — D. C. Transit System asked Monday for permission to charge higher fares for rides on its streetcars and buses in the Washington area.

It proposed a 20 cent straight fare, the dropping of tokens and weekly permits and an increase in school children's fares from 7½ to 10 cents.

Accent On Military

TOKYO (AP) — One establishment in Tokyo's cabaret district has come up with a gimmick that puts the accent on the military.

Waitresses wear military caps and salute when taking orders. Free beer is offered any customer wearing a complete uniform of the wartime imperial armed forces.

Rocket Range Project

Supply Minister Athol Townley said the end of the range now will be 50 miles inland from the west coast.

Bride Missing Three Months Murder Victim

DENTON, Md. (AP)—A 19-year-old bride of three months, missing from her home since Saturday, was found murdered Monday in a wooded area near the Delaware State Line.

State Police were searching the countryside for 26-year-old Clayton Edward Breeding of Hickman, an ex-convict who they said has been charged with Mrs. Cannon's murder.

State Police said Breeding had been charged with kidnaping before the body of Mrs. Cannon was found, but the charge was changed to murder after discovery of the body.

Dr. Dawson O. George, Caroline County medical examiner, said an autopsy was being performed to determine how Mrs. Cannon died, but "she apparently was strangled."

Mrs. Cannon was last seen in the doorway of her Burrsville home, about 5 miles east of Denton at 1 p.m. Saturday by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jeanette Scott of Denton.

She notified State Police early Sunday that Mrs. Cannon was missing.

At 2:35 p.m. Monday, State Police put out a pickup, to local authorities up and down the Eastern Shore, that Breeding was wanted for kidnaping in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Cannon.

Breeding was reported last seen about 10 p. m. Saturday night, barefoot and wearing a white T-shirt and trousers.

After Mrs. Cannon's body was found, not far from Breeding's home in Hickman, about six miles from Denton, State Police changed the charge from kidnaping to murder.

Easton State Police said officers who went to Breeding's home were told by the man's wife that he had been there about 3:30 p.m.

Threatened Strike May Tie Up Projects

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Millions of dollars worth of construction projects may be tied up Tuesday if a scheduled strike of some 1,800 iron workers materializes.

The employes, members of three iron workers union locals, are scheduled to strike if they fail to win a wage increase in contract negotiations with the Steel Erectors Assn. of Philadelphia and vicinity and the Association of General Contractors of New Jersey.

Affected by the walkout, if it develops, will be workers in southern New Jersey, the Philadelphia metropolitan area, Delaware and part of Maryland.

The first city university in the United States was the University of Cincinnati. This was back in 1870.

Maryland Unemployment Shows Drop For First Time This Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Unemployment in Maryland went down during May—the first month this year that the state jobless figures showed a decline.

And employment climbed over the million mark for the first time this year. May represented the fourth straight month that the number of jobs increased.

But there were still many more out of work last May than there were during the same month a year ago.

These points were included in a monthly summary issued Monday by the State Department of Employment Security.

Executive Director Robert Kimble said there was increased activity in services, construction, agriculture and food-processing, although heavy industry — the hardest hit in the current slump —had not improved.

As a result, he said, the employment picture in Baltimore City is considerably worse than the rest of the state because of the seasonal gain in agriculture and food-processing.

Unemployment dropped 6,700 during May for the state as a whole, and employment rose 13,000, the report said.

The total unemployed during the month dropped to 79,300. In April, there were 86,000 jobless. But in May 1957, the unemployment figure was only 38,200.

Total employment in the state hit 1,008,800 in May, compared with 995,800 in April and 1,034,000 in May 1957.

Harbor Tunnel Is Paying Its Way After All

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore harbor tunnel, still looking new and shiny after seven months of operation, is paying its way after all.

Traffic through the twin tubes under the busy harbor was so slight during the first two or three months after its opening last November that some officials predicted the tolls would have to be raised to meet the payments.

But with summer here, tunnel traffic is averaging about 30,000 cars and trucks a day. That is what the traffic engineering consultants figured originally as the daily usage.

And the tunnel business should pick up still more during the next two months, when more vacationers take to the road, and next fall, when the Baltimore County beltway will be completed. Then through traffic can use the tunnel to bypass the city entirely.

Since its opening, two million dollars have been paid at the row of toll gates by drivers of five million vehicles.

During the seven months, there have been no traffic fatalities in the tunnel, and only one in which someone was seriously injured. The total of accidents, including minor fender brushes, now total 60.

Fugitive Nabbed Near Gambrills

State Police said he had a fake pistol when he was nabbed as he walked along U.S. 301.

He jumped off an institution truck and fled into woods Sunday morning. He was free less than 24 hours.

Explosion To Create Vital Seaway Link

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—Thirty tons of dynamite will be exploded Tuesday in the St. Lawrence River near here to create a lake that will be a vital link in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

American and Canadian dignitaries will watch the explosion to breach a 600-foot-long dike and start formation of the new lake whose overflow will generate the second largest volume of hydroelectric power in the United States.

The new lake, 25 miles long and 1 to 5 miles wide, will convert the turbulent waters of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence into a placid pool.

The 650-million dollar development, constructed jointly by the Power Authority of New York State and the Hydroelectric Power Commission of Ontario Province, is scheduled to provide its first dependable commercial power in September. It will be completed in the fall of 1959.

The dirt and rock dike to be blasted extends from Barnhart Island to Sheek Island. It was built to divert the St. Lawrence from the site of the new Barnhart Island Power Dam during construction.

A new state park will be created on Barnhart Island with a public beach, recreational facilities, bath houses, picnic areas and other attractions for vacationers.

The new lake, to be called Lake St. Lawrence, will be formed by the flooding waters above the two dams which stand athwart the St. Lawrence River at Massena.

The 3,300-foot-long St. Lawrence Power Dam, which will house 32 turbine generator units capable of producing an installed capacity of 1,880,000 kilowatts, spans the North Channel between Canada and Barnhart Island in the United States.

Farther upstream, the Long Sault Dam, a curved structure 2,960 feet long, controls the South Channel between Barnhart Island and the U.S. mainland.

The huge generators will produce hydroelectric power for farms, homes, rural cooperatives, municipalities and industries within a 150-mile radius of the project on the U.S. side.

Owl Invasion Via Chimney Upsets Home

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—It was 6 a.m. when Jim Manask's son awakened him and said: "Dad, there's something flying around my room and it looks like a bat!"

Manask sleepily investigated but saw nothing until Arthur, 13, said: "Look under the bed." He did and found himself staring into two big owl eyes.

He shuffled back to his bedroom and whispered to his wife: "Helen, you awake? There's an owl under Arthur's bed."

"Well," she said, suddenly wide awake, "go get the broom and shoo him out of here."

Manask ambled into the kitchen. There, perched on the handle of a skillet, was another owl.

"Helen," he called "the house is lousy with owls."

They called police, who suggested the humane society.

"That'll take all morning," Mrs. Manask said. "Look at my living room! Feathers and soot all over the place."

The owls evidently had come the chimney. Besides messing up the place, they had knocked over two vases of flowers and attacked a stuffed squirrel in Arthur's room.

"Let's open all the doors and windows and try chasing 'em out by waving towels at 'em," Arthur suggested.

His plan worked, but it took an hour before the owls departed and parked themselves in a nearby tree.

Market Extends String Of Daily Gains To Four

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market ran up its string of daily gains to four straight in active dealings Monday.

Key issues were ahead from fractions to a point or so. Some exceptions made wider gains. There was a scattering of losers.

Industrials carried the ball in the advance. Rails were mixed. Utilities barely nudged ahead on average, but made a new high for the year in so doing.

The over-all gain was moderate. Market background included the record total of construction awards for May and a pickup in defense purchases by the government. A slowing of steel industry output and some uncertainty about the question of higher steel prices also were factors.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to $174.80 with the industrials up $1.30, the rails unchanged and the utilities up 10 cents to a new 1958 peak.

Of 1,185 issues traded, 581 rose and 360 fell. There were 113 new highs for the year and 3 new lows.

Volume was 2,820,000 shares compared with 2,800,000 on Friday.

Eleven of the 15 most active stocks advanced and four declined.

County Farmers Will Get Wool Incentive Pay

Some 22 farmers of Allegany County are to receive wool incentive payment checks which will be mailed on Thursday.

Elizabeth Hoover, who is in charge of the local office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said a number of the farmers are slated to get two checks, one for shorn wool and the other for unshorn lambs.

Wool incentive payment of 15.5 per cent has been authorized by the Department of Agriculture for wool of the 1957 marketing year, she said.

Payments will be mailed to producers who have presented properly documented claims to the ASC office for wool sold from April 1, 1957 through March 31, 1958.

Incentive payment of 15.5 per cent adds $15.50 to the farmer's income for every $100 the farmer netted from his sale of shorn wool.

Incentive payment for unshorn lambs amounts to 33 cents per hundred pounds of live weight. Properly documented records of sales must be on record at the county ASC office before payment can be made.

Good trick — plump dried prunes in hot prune juice instead of water. Use twice as much prune juice as you have prunes, and let the prunes stand in the juice for 24 hours. For a little extra zip, add a few cloves and a stick of cinnamon. Result is extra flavor all the way.

7. A federal park would in effect mean an extention of the District of Columbia into Maryland, which is able to develop selected recreational areas on its own along the river.

Not Valid Criticism

Citing each of these points, Hyde said the first and last are not valid because if it were expensive and difficult for the federal government to administer a park, it would be even more so for a state.

As for state sovereignty, Hyde pointed out that the federal government already owns the strip constituting the present C & O Canal right of way and that making the area a national park would not materially affect the present situation.

He said homes and industries still could have use of Potomac waters, and that the area should benefit economically by development of the proposed park.

The Potomac River still would be in Maryland ownership, he added, and declared numerous conservation organizations had endorsed the proposal as one which would lead to the abatement of stream pollution, improve fishing and promote wildlife growth.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, was among a half dozen witnesses strongly backing the park project. It is estimated to involve expenditure of $8,330,600 over a five-year period. Land valued at a million dollars would be needed to widen the existing C & O canal right of way acquired by the government in 1938. The other expenditures would be for roads, trails and buildings.

The committee resumes the hearing today on Hyde's bill and a similar one already passed by the Senate.

More than a score of proponents were lined up to testify during the two-day study.

Other Witnesses

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman, and Jack L. Towler and Patrick Stakem of the Chamber of Commerce tourist committee, attended the hearing. There were witnesses for the proposal from Hancock, Williamsport, Oldtown, Hagerstown, and other sections of Maryland.

It was indicated to the committee that most of the earlier opposition to the idea had been withdrawn and that only two groups probably will be heard in opposition.

Rep. Hyde said he is hopeful that the hearings will result in favorable action on the legislation.

Mrs. Reynolds Receives VFW Citations

Mrs. Raymond Reynolds, Maryland Avenue, immediate past president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Maryland, has been appointed assistant musician for the Maryland auxiliary.

At the convention held in Salisbury (Md.) last week, Mrs. Reynolds was given two citations. One was from the Department of Maryland, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for her work with the VFW during the year she was state auxiliary president. The other was from the Maryland Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society for work she did in heading and organizing the statewide fund-raising campaign.

Mrs. Hallie Smith of Dundalk, new state auxiliary president, complimented Mrs. Reynolds on the theme she developed for the convention. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which has played such an important part in the development and history of the state, was honored. The hall where the ladies' encampment sessions were held was lined with pictures of all phases of the B&O activity, and Mrs. Reynolds followed a B&O theme in her gifts, favors and decorations.

Atom Sharing Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was given Monday much of the authority he had sought for sharing additional atomic military secrets with U. S. allies.

The Senate passed on to the White House legislation providing more freedom to exchange weapons information and materials than the government has possesed since the first atomic energy law was enacted 12 years ago.

City Is Reimbursed For Race Event Cost

The Mayor and Council yesterday received a $1,001.03 check representing payment in full for its costs in connection with the 1958 Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races.

The check was enclosed in a letter from William R. Carscaden, general chairman, who thanked the city and the Municipal Airport Commission for cooperation in the event.

YMCA Camp Plans Events

Special events are planned for the second week of the Central YMCA's day camp, Camp Y's Way, James H. Fortner, program secretary, said yesterday.

There are 45 campers enrolled for the first period of camping at the facilities of the Ali Ghan Shrine Club's picnic grounds.

The first week of the camping period got off to a bad start last Monday when rain spoiled the opening program.

Wednesday the camp is planning to take a trip to Shawnee Park. This trip will be held on Thursday if the weather does not cooperate, Fortner added.

On Thursday the entire day program will be devoted to "Pioneer Days," and that evening the first parents' night of the current season will be held. The parents' night is planned at 7 p. m. at the club's picnic grounds.

The next camping period will include such special events as a trip to Hershey Park, Pa., overnight camp-outs, and another special theme.

W.Va. Voters To Fill New Vacancy At Primary

CHARLESTON (AP) — Judge James B. Riley's unexpected death Sunday has given West Virginia voters another "X" to mark on the primary election ballots Aug. 5.

Although the deadline for filing was passed May 3, Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron issued an opinion saying that candidates for the Riley vacancy should be listed on the primary election ballots.

The precedent for that procedure was contained in a 1956 opinion of the Supreme Court following the death of U. S. Sen. Harley M. Kilgore.

Candidates were quick to avail themselves of the opportunity. The first to present his certificate Monday was former Asst. Atty. Gen. Harold A. Bangert of Charleston, who already was a candidate for Supreme Court nomination.

Bangert, a Democrat, said he would file as a candidate for his party's nomination to both vacancies, and withdraw from one or the other race later.

Bangert already had been certified as one of three Democratic aspirants to serve out the remaining six years of the term of the late Judge W. T. Lovins of Huntington.

The other candidates are incumbent Judge H. L. Ducker of Huntington and Circuit Judge Thornton G. Berry Jr. of Welch.

Judge Ducker was named to succeed Lovins when the latter resigned shortly before the Democratic administration of former Gov. William C. Marland went out of office in January of 1957.

The Republican candidates for the Lovins' term are Circuit Judge Max DeBerry of Harrisville, and E. Franklin Pauley.

The Riley term extends only until Dec. 31, 1960. Gov. Underwood will fill the vacancy by appointment until a successor has been elected in November.

Secretary of State Helen Holt said that certificates of candidacy would be received all this week, until midnight of July 5.

Presumably some counties had proceeded with having their ballots printed, and revision of their plans were in order with developments brought about by the death of Judge Riley.

The Attorney General's opinion said that the interpretation by the Supreme Court in the case of Kilgore's death two years ago would apply in the present circumstances.

In that case, the court rejected the proposition that nominating conventions should be held and ruled that candidates could file for the Senate nomination up to 30 days prior to the election. The statutory deadline for filing for other offices also had passed when Kilgore died.

A requiem mass was celebated last Wednesday at St. Coleman's Catholic Church, Turtle Creek.

W.Va. Insurance To Be Awarded

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Board of Insurance decided at its meeting Monday that state insurance contracts expiring Tuesday will be awarded to agents in July.

The board earlier assigned state properties to company field men who volunteered to survey all buildings. A complete inspection was made, including a fire safety survey with recommendations for improvements and estimates of insurable value.

Booklets on each institution with specific information were compiled by these field men. With these, the board began compiling schedules for each state building, showing present insurance, recommended insurance and rates.

These schedules, when completed, together with the rates promulgated by the West Virginia Rating Bureau, will be used by the board in deciding on the agents and the amounts of coverage to be allotted.

Rescuer Drowns

MULLENS, W. Va. (AP) — A 12-year-old Wyoming County girl was drowned Monday while attempting to pull a companion from the Guyandotte River about two miles north of here.

Authorities identified the victim as Linda Lawson, twin daughter of Mrs. Victor Lawson of Itman. Witnesses said the little girl was standing on the river bank and was attempting to pull a girl friend out of the water when she tumbled in. Her body was recovered 40 minutes later.

The platypus, a native of Australia, is a mammal, but it produces its young like a bird. It has a duck's beak and webbed feet. Instead of feathers, it has a coat of short fur. It lays eggs like a bird, but nurses them like a mammal.

West Virginia Folk Festival Planned

GLENVILLE—West Virginia's annual State Folk Festival will be held here again this year, with the celebration set for Friday and Saturday, July 4 and 5. The campus of Glenville State College and the streets of this county-seat will be the scene of the many entertaining features of this year's festival.

Dr. Patrick Gainer, festival director-general, and his assistant Dr. Harold Orendorff, said the festival will open Friday at 10:30 a. m. on the corner of Main and Court streets.

Honored at the opening ceremony will be the ten 1958 "Belles" who will represent as many Central West Virginia counties.

A new feature at this year's event will be an old-time fiddler's contest which will be held on the college campus as part of the Friday evening program. The director-general added that more attention is being given this year to exhibits and street activities, and that there will be ample entertainment for all visitors to the festival.

The festival committee has voted to award a silver cup and other honors to the winners in the fiddler's contest and will present awards to the winners in all other contests.

Among the many contests scheduled are apple butter stirrings, basket making contests, weaving demonstrations, horse shoe pitching contests, wood chopping contests and nail driving contests. Dr. Gainer also announced that numerous entertainers will be here for the two-day event, with many of them coming from southern West Virginia.

Also listed on the program are exhibits of crafts and displays of antiques.

Railway Freight Shed To Be Razed Soon

Demolition of the Western Maryland freight shed on South Mechanic Street as a part of the project to provide a 100-car parking lot will start in about two weeks.

A railroad spokesman said the metal shed facing on South Mechanic Street will be the first to be torn down. The work will be done by Engineering Department employes.

The brick Western Division freight office will be removed either by Western Maryland crews or by a salvage company.

The new offices of the Western Division freight offices are 90 per cent complete. They have been located in the warehouse building on Canal Street.

The three-story warehouse and the metal freight shed on Canal Street will be retained for the railroad's local service.

The new quarters will be painted and equipment will be moved from the old freight office in about two weeks, the spokesman said.

To make way for this downtown parking center and to allow the railroad to concentrate its freight business at Canal Street the City Council gave the Western Maryland the right to close the thoroughfare.

Two of the tracks that served the South Mechanic Street shed will be removed along with the center unloading platform.

When the shed, office building and tracks are removed, the area will be graded and blacktopped. The operation of the lot will be leased by the railroad to a firm specializing in that business.

Thief Replaces Motor

Missing Youngster's Body Found In Alley

BALTIMORE (AP) — The body of a five-year-old Negro girl was found in an alley about 6 a.m. Monday, ending an all-night search for the child.

Police said the child, Martha McNeil, was reported missing by her parents at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The only signs of violence, officers said, were a small abrasion on her forehead and a spot of blood beneath the head.

Girl Scouts Conclude Day Camp

A two-week day camp by Cumberland Council of Girl Scouts has just ended in Constitution Park with 385 girls participating.

During the outdoor sessions, the girls worked on various badge requirements, according to Mrs. William D. Claus, camp director.

They were assisted by their leaders and advisors such as Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, and official Weather Bureau observer here, who helped on the weather badges, and Brooke Bodkin, senior forester for Allegany County, who gave a demonstration on outdoor safety.

Mrs. Claus said 200 girls from Romney, Hyndman, Keyser and Cumberland attended the first week and 185 girls from Hyndman and Cumberland, the second week, which was last week.

Volunteer adult leaders were Mrs. Edward Milbrada, Mrs. David Powers, Mrs. Charles Conners, Mrs. Victor Atwell, Mrs. John Sherman, Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, Mrs. James Kave.

Mrs. A. Frazer, Mrs. B. Huffman, Mrs. Elmer Beachley, Mrs. Walter E. Smith, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Fazenbaker, Mrs. Gordon Miller, Mrs. Richard Fredman, Mrs. Dewy House and Mrs. Kay Lindsay.

Swimming instructions in the park pool were given by Mrs. John McGuire, Judy McKenty and Darlene Whalley.

In one out of every seven fatal traffic accidents, the driver's vision was obscured. Fifteen per cent of all motor vehicle accidents are estimated to have a visual basis.

W.Va. Chairman GOP To Attend Mineral Picnic

Party Invites General Public

KEYSER — Republican State Chairman Daniel Louchery will be one of the honored guests at the Good Neighbor picnic, sponsored by the Mineral County Republican Women's Club, at the Keyser Swimming Pool recreational area Wednesday. An old time picnic will get under way at 6:30 p. m. and a number of well known Republican leaders will be present.

Persons planning to attend are to bring one meat dish and one other dish. Beverages and watermelon will be furnished free.

Chairman Louchery is a native of Clarksburg and has served as state chairman, following the appointment of former Chairman Hoblitzell to the US Senate. He is a practicing attorney and was a candidate for the third congressional district representative, losing in a close race to Congressman Bailey. He has been making an effort to visit every county in the state and expressed pleasure upon receiving the invitation to visit Mineral.

Mrs. Harold J. Snyder, president of the sponsoring organization made a special announcement Monday, that the picnic is not restricted to members of the organization but open to all who would like to be present and enjoy the meal and program. Charles Town, Petersburg, Romney, Piedmont and Ridgeley have made plans to attend.

New Rotarian Governors To Take Offices

Kingwood Attorney Heads District 753

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — New governors of two West Virginia Rotary districts take office Tuesday.

The two governors were elected at the organization's recent convention in Dallas, Texas. The announcement came from headquarters of Rotary International here.

Carper will coordinate the activities of 37 Rotary clubs in southern counties of the state. Carper, an insurance man, has been a Rotarian since 1945 and has served as president of the Princeton club.

Wilhelm, a former circuit judge and one time mayor of Kingwood, heads a district with 23 clubs and 1,153 members. He has been a member of the organization since 1938 and also is a past president of his home club.

FFA Honors Area Youths

COLLEGE PARK—Four boys from Northern Garrett County High School, near Accident, and two from Flintstone High School have been awarded the Maryland Farmer degree at the Maryland Future Farmers of America convention at the University of Maryland.

The area boys were among 40 around the state to receive this degree. Winner over these 40 boys was Paul Twining Jr., 16-year-old boy from Princess Anne in Somerset County, named Maryland's star farmer.

Region 1 boys receiving the farmer degree were William B. Baker and Guy Stonestreet, both of Flintstone, and David Beachy, Roy Beitzel, Samuel Bowman and Roger Lohr, all of Northern Garrett.

The FFA is a national organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture in high schools. The 150 delegates this week came from 48 Maryland chapters with a total membership of 2,500.

Firemen To Collect Coin Containers

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company will begin today to collect the coin containers that were left in the homes here and the surrounding area several months ago for ambulance service. A member of the fire company will call at the homes during the week, pick up the coin containers and give receipts for the amount.

W.Va. Boy Drowns

CHARLESTON (AP) — Sammy Badger, 14, student of Thomas Jefferson Junior High School, was drowned today while swimming with two companions in Elk River.

City police said Badger had strayed into deep water and apparently was unable to swim to the shallows.

Weather Expected To Near Normal

HUNTINGTON (AP) — Near normal summer temperatures are expected in West Virginia during the next four days for the first time in nearly a month.

The Weather Bureau said the temperature should average near the normal of 73 north and 74 south. It's to be warm Tuesday and Wednesday and somewhat cooler Thursday and Friday. Up to one inch of precipitation is expected from scattered showers Wednesday through Friday.

Senator Bean Challenged On Hopemont Blast

Miss Hallanan Urges Airing

CHARLESTON (AP) — Miss Elizabeth V. Hallanan said today that State Senate President Ralph J. Bean has put employes of Hopemont Sanitarium "under a cloud of suspicion" and then gone off fishing.

She said Bean "has refused to shed any light upon the allegations made by him on the floor of the State Senate one week ago."

At last week's one-day session of the Legislature, Bean said in a Senate speech that certain charges had been brought to him recently by a committee of three persons from Preston County, where the sanitarium is located.

The committee, Bean said, had informed him of improper use of certain property at the tuberculosis institution, and alleged that one official had carried on immoral affairs with other employes.

Bean said he was told that the Preston group had asked Public Institutions Commissioner Harold Neely to investigate, but the commissioner had refused to do so.

The Senate president urged that the Legislature's Committee on Government and Finance investigate the allegations.

Miss Hallanan said Monday that both she and Commissioner Neely had tried to get from Bean the names of those supposed to have been involved but he had not cooperated. She added:

"He has indicated that it is his desire to bring the charges to attention of the legislative interim committee on July 13. In the meantime, 234 employes at Hopemont remain under a cloud of suspicion. This is manifestly unfair to these employes who must wait indefinitely before a proper investigation can be made."

Miss Hallanan said that Neely had engaged Bean in telephone conversations trying to get further light on the allegations, but Bean "advised us that he will be unable to do so until July 13, because he was going away on a fishing weekend to be followed by a vacation."

She said that having made the charges, it seemed that Bean "would recognize his responsibility in bringing the facts to public appraisal."

Sunshine Girls Meet Tonight

LONACONING — A meeting of Victory Council 1, Pythian Sunshine Girls, will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

All members are urged to attend to plan for the swimming party to be held July 9 at Celanes pool and to return all share papers for the July 4th celebration at the Armory.

A report on the bake sale held Saturday morning will be given and a report on the swimming pool project.

The council will be dismissed so members may attend a 4-H girls club meeting at 7 p. m.

Arion Band Lists Parades, Concerts

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Fire Department and Frostburg's Arion band will participate in the following events during the month of July: Lonaconing, Thursday, July 3; Romney for the West Virginia Firemen's convention, Friday, July 18; and Corriganville on Thursday, July 24.

Visitors

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Dale Arner and daughter, Selma Ala., visited Mr. and Mrs. Francis X. Cosgrove, 170 Mt. Pleasant Street.

Area Witnesses Plan To Attend World Conclave

Schedule Sessions In Yankee Stadium

LONACONING—Jehovah's Witnesses from the Lonaconing congregation have announced plans to attend an international convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York city this summer.

Marshall Morton, presiding minister of the local group, said the convention promises to be the largest in the history of Jehovah's Witnesses. It is scheduled for July 27 through August 3 and will be held simultaneously in Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds.

The last international convention, attended by many Lonaconing Witnesses, was in 1953 in Yankee Stadium and reached a peak attendance of 165,000 including the overflow audiences. Watchtower officials have arranged this year for the program to be held in both places, with most program features repeated at the Polo Grounds immediately following the first presentation in Yankee Stadium.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, governing agency for Jehovah's Witnesses, has been making special travel arrangements for foreign delegates. Many missionaries who have served in other lands will also be brought to the United States for the Bible convention. Purpose of the gathering is to provide stimulus for the New World society of Jehovah's Witnesses in Christian association, Bible instruction and ministerial training.

Mr. Morton stated that it is not yet known how many Witnesses from this area will attend, but special travel arrangements are being made by train.

Ruritans Plan To Extend Fox Eradication

January 1 New Contest Deadline

MOOREFIELD — The Fox Eradication Program sponsored by the Bean Settlement Ruritans Club has been extended until January 1, 1959, according to an announcement last week by Winfred Park, club official. The same prizes offered previously including a $100, first prize, a $50 second prize, a $25 third prize, ten $10 prizes and fifteen $5 prizes will be carried over and awarded after the January 1 date. Special prizes of a turkey at Thanksgiving and a turkey at Christmas will also be offered.

Ruritan Club officials state that not enough entrants in the contest had been made to warrant the prizes on June 30 as originally scheduled. The new date will enable farmers and trappers to destroy fox all through the fall and winter season.

Contest rules are simple. The fox must be killed in Hardy County and the whole fox or fox hide checked at the check points with the tail to be removed by the checker. Checking stations are Williams Service Station, Moorefield, Criders Store, Fabius, Bowman's Store at Needmore, Chris See's Station at Wardensville, Stanley See's Station at Mathias and Conservation Officers Al Lewis at Wardensville or Bart Townsend in Moorefield.

The prevalence of rabies in the fox population and the destruction of livestock, game and poultry by the predators inspired the contest which is open to any one.

Tri-Towns Sr. Council To Meet At Swanton

PIEDMONT — The monthly meeting of the Tri-Towns Senior Council will be held at the home of Miss Linda Teets, Swanton, tomorrow evening, according to Miss Patty Kelley, president.

Final plans will be made for the weekend trip to Bethesda, Md., late in October.

Return Home

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shuck and daughter, Baltimore; and Mrs. Helene Marshall and son, Washington, returned after visiting Mrs. Nellie Shuck and Mr and Mrs. Edgar Shuck, Broadway.

Police Chief Cites Ban On All Fireworks

FROSTBURG — Lloyd Truly, chief of police, calls the attention of the public to the fact that all fireworks within the state are forbidden by the statutes of the State of Maryland unless approval has been obtained from the state insurance commissioner.

Under the law, fireworks of every description are banned unless such approval has been obtained. It specifically bans the use of firecrackers, squibs, rockets, sparklers, roman candles, torpedoes, bombs, paper caps, grenades, fire balloons, signal lights and any combustible or explosive composition. No section of the state is exempt from operation of this law, and any person violating it by possessing, discharging or selling fireworks is guilty of a misdemeanor, and is subject to a fine of not more than $50.

Any person selling fireworks in violation of the provisions of the law shall be subject to a fine of not more than $200 for each offense.

By reason of the enforcement of the fireworks act, loss of life has been greatly decreased in the state and there have been few accidents as a result of burns and explosions incident to the use of fireworks.

Chief Truly pointed out that several persons have been treated for burns already this year, because they have disobeyed a law designed to protect them.

Registrar Lists Enrollment For Summer School

FROSTBURG — Frederick M. Wescott Jr., registrar at Frostburg State Teachers College, has released the final registration total for the newly-inaugurated summer school as 133 students. According to Wescott, there are 64 students registered in undergraduate courses, and 69 for graduate study.

Students attending the summer session represent 20 colleges and universities in seven states, the summary notes. There are 120 students registered from Maryland, eight from Pennsylvania, four from West Virginia and one from the District of Columbia.

Residency of students by counties finds Allegany County leading with 103 registrants. There are 11 from Garrett, two from Prince Georges, and one each from Frederick, Talbot, Washington and Baltimore City, and 13 from out-of-state.

Women lead the enrollment with 72, as against 61 men. Classes will continue until August 1.

DAR To Hold Antique Display

KEYSER—A display of small antique articles is being planned for October 10-11 by Potomac Valley Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The articles wanted for display are old glass, china, vases, coins, silver, candlesticks, or jewelry.

These will be shown at the homes of Mrs. Martin L. Watson, Overton Place, and Miss Pauline Gelwicks, South Main Street.

Midland Homemakers Mark 32d Anniversary

MIDLAND — The Homemakers Club celebrated their 32nd anniversary with a turkey supper, held in Red Men's Hall, at their recent meeting. Reports were heard from the members who attend the Rural Women's Short Course held at College Park.

The club was organized May 10, 1926, at the Methodist Parsonage, with Mrs. Lynn Arbogast, wife of the minister, as hostess. The charter members, besides Mrs. Arbogast were Mrs. Fannie Stevens, Mrs. Elizabeth Carr, Miss Elizabeth Greenshields, Mrs. Wesley Sheppard, and the late Mrs. Nellie McKinney.

Mrs. Carr and Miss Greenshields, were the only charter members attending the celebration. Tables were decorated in low vases of garden flowers in various colors. Members in charge of the affair were Mrs. Pearl Blair, nutrition chairman, Mrs. Pansy Thrasher, Mrs. Elsie Durst, Mrs. Anna Wilson and Mrs. Ethel Elliott. The invocation was given by Mrs. Blair.

At the business meeting following the supper, Mrs. Pansy Thrasher, president, opened the meeting with the flag salute, the Lord's prayer, and the reading of the thought for the month. Roll call was answered by "My Favorite Covered Dish." The hymn of the month "Immortal Love, Forever Full" was read in unison. Recipes for "Meals From Your Oven," were distributed by Mrs. Blair. At the July 16 dinner meeting, to be held at Layman's Farm, reservations are to be made to the president at once. Mrs. Elsie Durst read the minutes, and reported on the clothing meeting she and Mrs. Patrick Manley attended at the extension office. Miss Mary Manley read a report on the meeting for Mrs. Manley who was absent.

Announcement was made for a hooked rug workshop planning meeting set for July at the extension office. Dates are to be announced by Miss Wise. It was also voted to have a demonstration instead of a theme booth, at the Cumberland Fair in August.

35 Lonaconing Scouts Attend Camp Potomac

LONACONING—Thirty-five Boy Scouts of Lonaconing spent a week at Camp Potomac, June 22 to June 28. Leonard Johnson directed the boys in waterfront activities, swimming and earning merit badges.

Lonaconing Troop No. 26, Boy Scouts of America, was represented by Edward Groves, Clyde Foor, Garvin Steele, James Stevenson, James Thomas, Freddie Creighton, Richard Jeffries, John Steiding, John Warnick, James Smith, Freddie Sloan, Michael Warnick, Fred Metz, James Warnick, Terrance Broadwater, Tommy Devlin, Charles Connor, Donald Dawson, Stephen James, Walter Abbott, Ronnie Alexander, James High, Roger Wilt, Benny Evans, Ronald Smith, Danny Williams and George Schramm.

Mrs. Nedra Walsh Is Senior Regent Of Moose Chapter

KEYSER—Mrs. Nedra Walsh, Keyser, was installed as senior regent of Keyser Chapter No. 191, Women of the Moose at the Keyser Moose Home Saturday night. William F. Miller, secretary of the local lodge of Moose was installing officer, with Mrs. Lillian Miller, installation chairman, assisting.

Louis Wertman was installing chaplain with Hilda Wilcox, guide and Marie Myers, pianist, together with Edith Wertman and Clydette Conlon serving as escorts.

Miners-Pickets Clash Near Philippi

PHILIPPI, W. Va. (AP) — Another brush between pickets and non-union coal miners was under investigation Monday by State Police.

Sgt. O. R. Karickhoff said the latest incident occurred Sunday night when a carload of seven men tried to report for work at the non-union Marra mine near Brownton, about five miles from Philippi.

The officer said he was not certain whether it was bullets or rocks which hit the car when the roving pickets tried to stop the workers.

Occupants of the car had minor bruises and cuts, investigators said. The pickets apparently suffered no injuries.

Two of the pickets were reported to have posted bonds Monday before Magistrate A. C. Simon here.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Klosterman, Mt. Savage, announce the birth of a son at Miners Hospital, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Llewellyn, Midland, announce the birth of a son, in Miners Hospital, Saturday.

West Virginia Activates New Tax Acts Today

CHARLESTON (AP) — New laws taking effect with the fiscal year Tuesday include a modernizing revision of the state's mining laws and boosts in the gross sales and insurance premium taxes.

The acts making these changes were enacted by the Legislature last winter, but the effective date was deferred until the start of the 1958-59 fiscal year

The tax measures are expected to yield an additional 4 to 4½ million dollars in additional yearly revenues.

Mines Chief Crawfor L. Wilson has said there would be no expansion of personnel in his department during the new fiscal year. Salaries will go up substantially, however.

Inspectors-at-large now making $6,540 and inspectors presently paid from $6,000 to $6,240 will be boosted to a range between $7,200 and $8,400. Inspectors also will come under a civil service system, effective Tuesday.

The civil service regulations provide appointments on the basis of competitive examinations, and inspectors may be dismissed only for cause.

Two boards also were created under the act overhauling the Mines Department, but the personnel of neither agency has yet been announced by Gov. Underwood.

They are the Mine Inspectors Examining Board, and the Coal Mine Safety Board of Review.

Keyser Class Plans Reunion

KEYSER — The class of 1933 of Keyser High School will hold a reunion July 26 at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club, Route 50.

A fellowship hour will begin at 5 p. m. with dinner scheduled for 6:30 p. m. EDT. Dress is to be informal, and the husband or wife of the graduates are invited.

Members of the reunion committee have successfully communicated with all class members except two. Mary Jane Paugh and Elva Mecuri have not been heard from and there present whereabouts are not known to the committee. Any class members or others who might know how they can be contacted, should inform Naomi W. Franklin, 42 Maryland Street, Keyser.

W.Va. Area Car Inspections Start Today

Sequence Idea Is Abandoned

MOOREFIELD—West Virginia will have a new inspection period for vehicles beginning today, according to an announcement from the Department of Public Safety this week. After today inspections will not be conducted according to the license numbers as has been the procedure in the past. However all vehicles inspected will be up for reinspection the same month they were inspected during the 1957-58 fiscal year.

Vehicles purchased within the state must carry an inspection sticker within three days of purchase. Cars purchased out of state or new residents moving into the state have ten days to secure an inspection sticker.

An improvement in the sticking qualities of the inspection stickers is promised with the use of a pressure sensitive backed sticker. Considerable trouble developed with the previous stickers, particularly when applied in cold weather.

It will be the responsibility of the owner to see that a new inspection sticker is secured within one year of the date of the last inspection.

Laureldale Road Made Part Of Primary System

New Designation Is State Rt. 93

KEYSER — Following a series of meetings, announcement has been made that a project for Grant and Mineral counties has been approved. The Laureldale road is now removed from the state secondary road system and made a primary road. The announcement was made jointly by State Delegates Larkin B. Ours of Grant County and Joseph W. Kessel of Mineral County, following conferences with State Roads Commissioner Patrick Graney in Charleston.

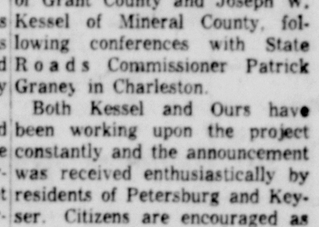

Both Kessel and Ours have been working upon the project constantly and the announcement was received enthusiastically by residents of Petersburg and Keyser. Citizens are encouraged as to development plans for the area.

The road, which runs from U. S. Route 50 at the foot of the mountain at Scherr, where it connects with W. Va. State Route 42, will be known as state Route 93. It has been noted that the new route will be eligible for federal funds under the Federal Road Bill.

Commissioner Graney said he expects Route 93 to be included in the primary road allocation for 1959.

Lonaconing Plans Gala Fourth Of July

LONACONING—Fourth of July holiday in Lonaconing this summer will be a three-day street celebration highlighted by a firemen's street parade sponsored by Good Will Volunteer Fire Company No. 1. Last summer the Old Home Week program was held during the July 4th Homecoming celebration.

A mammoth parade will march off at 7:30 p. m. Thursday from East End, State Street, and prizes are announced. The best appearing fire company with 12 or more members parading, $35; second best, $25.

Best band prize is $35; second best band, $25; best drum corps, $35; second drum corps prize, $25. John Eichhorn, president, has appointed Robert Muir, chairman, Alex Patton, James Muir, George Kelly, Amel Muir, Leo Nolan, James Burt, Felix Foote, James Bosley, John Thomas, Charles Daniels and Robert Love, as the committee in charge of the celebration.

There will be street stands for games and refreshments on the Douglas Avenue corner at Main Street intersection. Children's rides will also be provided.

July 4th there will be a Parade on Wheels when children will compete for prizes of $5, $3 and $2 for decorated bicycles, tricycles and toys. This parade will be at 7:30 p. m.

Saturday, July 5, will feature the street carnival for the final night. Lonaconing City band will play each night and be in the parade on Thursday night. Good Will Volunteer Firemen will be assigned to the carnival stands on the avenue.

Youths Fined After Unusual Accident

An unusual accident took place Sunday night on U. S. Route 30 near Bedford when three young men filled balloons with water and tossed them from their car against passing motorists. State Police at Bedford said the three youths, Theodore Williamson, 21, of Miami, Fla.; Charles Beattie, 18, of Fayetteville, Ark.; and Isaac Williamson, of Wichita, Kan., were vacationing in Bedford.

They drove up and down the highway Sunday tossing the water-filled balloons at motorists. One of their 'missiles' hit a car and broke the left headlight and dented the fender. The driver turned his car around and gave chase.

In an attempt to elude the pursuer, the car of the youths, driven by Beattie, was turned onto a dirt road. Some distance along this road the car failed to negotiate a curve and hit a tree. The boys escaped injury, but were taken into custody by police.

Yesterday the youths were fined $11 costs each, ordered to pay $50 for the damage to the car which was hit by one of the balloons. The Beattie car damages amounted to $500. The case was heard by Justice of Peace C. H. Bingham at Bedford.

W.Va. Car License Tags Expire Today

The West Virginia auto license tags for 1957-58 expired at midnight and those persons who have not acquired new tags will not be allowed to operate their machines after today.

The State Police at Romney said the detachment will strictly enforce the law in regard to the new license tags.

City Approves New Operator At City Dump

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved an order issued by Commissioner William H. Buchholtz asking that Ralph B. Fetters be appointed probationary equipment operator at the city dump at an annual salary of $3,030.

Questioned as to the propriety of the action in view of the new Council taking over next Monday, Buchholtz explained that Fetters had been working as an assistant to the caretaker at the dump, and that the action was necessary in view of the resignation of the caretaker earlier this month.

The dump was formerly operated under the supervision of the City Health Department, but since the Health Department was reorganized under state law, the supervision was now an obligation of the city.

A check in the amount of $116.50 was ordered issued to Mrs. Annie Folk for injuries sustained last October when she fell as the result of a defect on North Cedar Street.

Collections from the city parking meters for the week ending June 22 amounted to $780.55, down $72.18 from the $852.73 for the preceding week.

Playlot Begins Swimming Classes

The classes are being held Monday through Friday from 10 until 11 a.m. and will continue for two weeks. Classes will not be held this Friday.

Today at 7 p. m. the playground will sponsor a talent show with three prizes to be awarded. A dance will be held following the contest.

On Wednesday at 7 p.m. a stuffed animal show will be held and ribbons will be awarded.

Former Local Youth Accidentally Killed

A boyhood friend speared Joseph E. Bludworth Jr., of San Antonio, native of Cumberland, to death in an underwater skindiving accident at Port Aransas, Texas, Sunday.

Bludworth, who left here in the middle-1940's with his parents, was shot by the spear gun wielded by Kenneth Clayburne, who said he thought the victim was a fish.

Bludworth, 22, was skindiving with six other friends in deep water off an oil well rig seven miles south of Port Aransas, Texas.

He and Clayburne, 23, of San Antonio, dived for fish together. Clayburne said he lost sight of Bludworth at a depth of 65 feet and came up to the surface.

He couldn't see Bludworth, and said he assumed Bludworth was chasing fish in another part of the water.

Clayburne dived back down to about 30 feet and shot with his spear gun at what he thought was a fish. The arrow hit Bludworth in the head.

Clayburne pulled on the string attached to the spear, discovered that he had hit Bludworth, and immediately surfaced with the victim.

Bludworth died in a boat as he was being rushed to a Coast Guard cutter.

Clayburne was treated for shock by Port Aransas doctors and put under sedatives.

The two had spent Saturday night in Corpus Christi with Bludworth's father. The victim was a University of Texas student.

Bludworth is survived by his father, Joseph Elliott Bludworth Sr., Corpus Christi; his mother, Mrs. David Reising, Big Spring, Texas, a sister, JoJac, New York, and several half-sisters and half brothers.

Bludworth, Sr., was well known here as a Celanese research chemist who developed a process for producing synthetic rubber from butadiene during World War II, and headed the company's operation at Corpus Christi during its early years. He is now one of the leading petroleum engineers in Texas. The family lived on Cumberland Street and in The Dingle during the approximately ten years of residence here.

The body has been taken to San Antonio and members of the family are at the home of a half-sister, Mrs. Arthur E. Goerges, 714 Clower Street, San Antonio.

W. Md. Chief Freight Clerk Retires Here

A native of Ohio, Mr. Wickertsheim started his long career with the U. S. Express Service there on January 3, 1897.

Since that time he has worked out of various agencies, but has been working at the Western Maryland Railway Company here since October 22, 1920.

Wickertsheim came to Cumberland in 1900 and served as a cashier for the Western Maryland on a temporary basis during World War I.

He first started with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on April 1, 1906 and joined the Western Maryland on a full-time scale in 1920.

Mr. Wickertsheim plans to spend some time at his home in Ohio and Florida.

Javelin Kills Referee

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—A 17-year-old student referee at a track and field meet was injured fatally Sunday when a javelin hit him in the chest.

The youth, Juergen Vogt, walked about 30 yards with the javelin in his body, then collapsed. He died a short time later in a hospital.

New Council To Face 'Clean Slate'

The last full session of the present City Council yesterday was devoted mainly to clearing up matters so that the new Council which will take over next Monday morning will face a "clean slate."

Many of the items of business which would ordinarily have been completed were referred for action of the new council. Routine action included authorizing the city auditor to transfer all unused balances in the levy and appropriation accounts for the 1957-58 fiscal year to the contingent fund.

The city auditor was also ordered to transfer to the appropriations fund such funds as may be needed from the contingent fund, and to transfer the remaining balance in the contingent fund to the operating surplus of the general account.

Council adopted a resolution of respect in the death of Mrs. Josephine Edwards, who died several months after being named to complete the term of her late husband, William J. Edwards, as commissioner of water and light.

Also approved was a resolution giving the city the right to execute an agreement placing members of the City Fire Department under the Social Security Act.

A motion that all bids for a motor grader be rejected was made by Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, and council approved after he explained that such an order should, in his opinion, be left to the discretion of the incoming Council.

The Mayor and Council was also authorized to execute an agreement with Lyndon M. and Ella G. Gump for the construction of a sewer line that will be run to the new National Guard Armory in the Ridgedale Addition.

Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, explained the pact would not bind the city in any way since it stipulated that any new builders along the sewer line would be billed on footage charges and tappage fees.

Also referred for action of the new Council was a request by Frank J. Idoni for the use of city-owned lots at 620-622 North Mechanic Street as a site for a used car business. The referral was made on receipt of a petition signed by 14 residents of the 600-block asking that the permit be not granted.

C. L. Beck, who has the city garbage contract, filed notice of his intention to renew the contract for the sum of $66,000. The letter was ordered filed after it was explained that such action would not bind the new council since Beck was only exercising a clause in the contract which states he must file his intention to renew the existing agreement.

The Mayor and Council also approved the city payroll for the second period of June.

City Issues Permit

City Council yesterday granted permission for the installation of an underground 550-gallon tank at Centre and Knox streets, where a new service station is being constructed. The tank will be used for storing fuel oil.

Record A-Test Shocks

TOKYO (AP)—Air shocks from Sunday's U. S. nuclear test explosion in the Pacific were 1½ times stronger than any ever registered here before, the Japanese Weather Bureau reported.

The shocks were recorded throughout Japan 3½ hours after the detonation on Eniwetok Atoll, about 3,000 miles southeast of Tokyo. The Weather Bureau estimated the device was one of more than 20 megatons.

Next Move Is Up To Nasser

What happens next in Lebanon rests in large part with Gamal Abdel Nasser. The head of the United Arab Republic—Egypt and Syria, with Yemen affiliated—will naturally do whatever he thinks will bring closer the union of all Arab states under his hegemony.

No matter how often he denies instigating the Lebanese disorders, the whole world from Washington to Moscow to Peking suspects that they'd begin to subside once he gave the word to "lay off." Whether his price for a lay-off order is one that the West can't or won't pay, nobody may actually know just now except U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

If Nasser absorbs Lebanon, it will be hard to keep Iraq, Jordan and Saudi Arabia also from slipping down the voracious Nasser gullet. The pro-West Chamoun regime in Beirut could of course be bolstered for the time being by a U. N. armed intervention. At the same time, the foreign troops on Arab soil could rally almost all Arabs around the Egyptian colonel—as when Israeli, British and French troops moved to overthrow him in the autumn of 1956.

Yet the Nasser dream could degenerate into a nightmare if Russian troops (volunteers"?) landed in force under the pretext of counterbalancing a U. N. intervention. What Nasser likes is to play Russia and the West off against each other without real risk of being dominated by either.

He did make an arms deal with Czechoslovakia and later an aid agreement with the Kremlin, but then complained about the quantity and quality of Russian aid actually received. When he took over Syria in February 1958 he removed or downgraded Communist or pro-Russian officials and Army officers in Damascus. After all, the fable of what happens when a camel gets his nose under the tent is from the Arabian, and what's true of a camel would be true of a bear.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Gold Discussion

It is becoming increasingly clear that the trend in the world is a return to the gold base for currency. The questions then arise: how much gold does the United States own absolutely? Can we switch our currency to a gold base? What effect will it have upon the American economy if Soviet Russia goes on the gold standard or establishes a gold export rouble?

Now, it turns out, in testimony before the Byrd Committee of the Senate that when the International Monetary Fund was established, the United States paid 25 per cent of its subscription in gold.

Randolph Burgess, testifying concerning this, said:

". . . back of all this talk about no more gold, and so forth, there is a real desire on the part of most people to get back to gold as the eventual value. It is a very interesting thing that this Monetary Fund, which was set up after the war, with a lot of very theoretical economists and so on, Maynard Keynes and Harry White, what they finally came down with after all their discussions was that they had to make it in gold; they had to base it on gold."

So the International Monetary Fund, set up by John Maynard Keynes and Harry Dexter White, was established with gold that the American people thought was at Fort Knox. Furthermore, the West Germans tied their mark to gold and were able to subscribe $100,000,000 in gold to the International Bank.

So Senator George Malone questioned Under Secretary Randolph Burgess of the Treasury Department about how much gold the United States possessed. We start off with the figure $22,600,000,000. Of this amount $9,500,000,000 was earmarked for foreign nations up to the amount of their dollar balances. This leaves the United States $13,100,000,000 absolutely, but $7,500,000,000 is in the hands of foreign nationals, leaving free and clear, for the government of the United States $5,600,000,000 as of the date of the hearing which was August 1957.

In this discussion between Under Secretary of the Treasury Burgess and Senator George Malone, it was finally agreed that certain factors indicated above can be omitted from these intricate calculations. They accepted the figure of $16,246,000,000 as earmarked. Thereupon, Senator Malone asked if that would leave a balance of about $6,500,000,000 of gold absolutely the property of the United States. To this Burgess replied: "Yes; that is about right."

Senator Malone pursued the subject in the following question: "And that is not quite enough to meet the 25 per cent reserve requirement that the law requires behind the $27 billion or $28 billon in currency in circulation today, is it?

"Mr. Burgess. That is right."

". . . Inasmuch as we owned a majority of all the gold in 1933 don't you think it was the intention of these foreign nations, right from the beginning, to get it away from us by making us feel that gold was unimportant?

"Then when we went off the gold standard in 1933 and priced ourselves out of the world market through inflation--and gave them the money to buy most of our gold—then they may start emphasizing the importance of gold again?"

One of the effects of this condition, both the Senator and the Under Secretary of the Treasury agreed, was that in 10 years, from 1947 to 1957, the dollar lost more than half of its value in purchasing power, so that wages were really lowered. In a word, $10 a day in 1947 is equal roughly to $4 a day in 1957. The following discussion is pertinent:

"Senator Malone. And you lowered the purchasing power of the dollar to less than half, you had about $4 a day in purchasing power.

"Mr. Burgess. That is right.

"Senator Malone. And that is the reason for increase in wages continually, that is the major reason and the real necessity for increasing wages, pensions, and annuities of various kinds that the Government pays and that the individual is living on, is it not?

"Mr. Burgess. Well, it has been a major cause. Of course, wages actually have increased faster than the inflation.

"Senator Malone. You think they have? Of course, that is the argument—

"Mr. Burgess. Some of them."

It is still not clear from this discussion precisely how much gold the government of the United States owns absolutely.

Don't Just Stand There, Sam!

Ike Is On Same Spot Anthony Eden Was During Suez Crisis In 1956

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In more ways than one, history regarding the Near East is repeating.

About three weeks ago, when Prime Minister Macmillan of England was in the White House, Eisenhower approached him about cooperating with the United States in armed intervention in Lebanon if necessary.

Macmillan was something less than lukewarm. He did not get up and wave the Union Jack over marching into Lebanon with any degree of enthusiasm. In fact he couldn't help but remind Eisenhower, gently, that it was almost two years ago that Britain intervened in Suez when Eisenhower stopped that intervention.

If British-French-Israeli operations against Nasser had been permitted to continue, the British Prime Minister intimated, it would not now be necessary for the United States to be talking about new intervention against Nasser.

However, since the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary Dulles all agreed on intervention, Macmillan reluctantly consented to go along. To that end, 37,000 British troops are concentrated on Cyprus just a few miles from Lebanon, ready for intervention. This is exactly what happened before the Suez landing in October, 1956.

Meanwhile, Lebanese President Chamoun was offered aid, and U. S. Ambassador Thompson in Moscow was instructed to call on Foreign Minister Gromyko and inform him that the United States was determined to use force if necessary to protect Lebanon independence. Eisenhower figured the threat of American intervention would discourage both the Russians and the Arab rebels in Lebanon.

U. S. Cold Feet

But it hasn't worked out this way. The United States, thanks to our slump in military prestige, can no longer negotiate from strength. Russian and Syrian arms continued to cross the Lebanese border to aid the rebels, while Russia issued a gruff warning that "volunteers" might intervene in Lebanon if the United States and Britain intervened.

At this point Eisenhower and Dulles began to get cold feet. Last week U. S. Ambassador McClintock in Beirut was instructed to urge President Chamoun not to call on the United States for aid under the Eisenhower Doctrine—except in case of "dire emergency." Even then, American Marines and British paratroopers would be used only to evacuate American-British civilians. Turkish-Iraqi troops would be flown in to battle the Arab rebels.

Meanwhile, hesitation in Washington, similar to the British delays just before the Seuz landing, has given the Russians time to prepare "volunteers."

Once again history repeats.

Mr. Adams Went Fishing

During the height of the Washington furor over Sherman Adams, the man who had caused the furor, Mr. Adams, went out to a Washington cocktail party, where he got into a conversation over fishing.

"The best fishing I ever had was in Turkey. I was in Germany visiting with Laurie Norstad," he said, referring to the American commander of NATO. "Norstad flew me to Turkey and we spent two days there fishing. It was a great experience."

The assistant to the President was quite nonchalant about the idea of taking an American Air Force plane and flying from Germany all the way to Turkey just to fish. It didn't seem to worry him that he was spending the American taxpayer's money any more than he was worried about spending Mr. Goldfine's money.

The Admiral's Whisky

Five Navy men who had the idea the Navy's job was to guard our country have found it includes moving whisky for an admiral and hanging clothes in closets for an admiral's wife.

Warrant Officer Martin Bruns, on the staff of Vice Admiral Robert Pirie, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air, reported to a home in Glen Echo, Md., a suburb of Washington, at 8:30 a. m. on Friday, June 13, with his work detail. Their orders were to transport some "personal effects" of Admiral Pirie from a friend's house to his new quarters in Presidential Gardens, Alexandria, Va. They took a Navy truck to do the moving, as well as four men from General Services Administration.

The men worked from 8:30 until 2:15 that afternoon. Admiral Pirie did not give them a lunch break. They ate after they got back to the Pentagon. The "personal effects" consisted of numerous suitcases, some upright wardrobes, and six cases of whisky.

The men were picked for the job by the Air Personnel Office, and included a petty officer as well as Wararnt Officer Bruns.

Note—If a Navy man objects to an order to serve as a servant to an Admiral, it's rank insubordination.

Backstage In Washington

Dictator Trujillo has ordered all Dominican officers taking military courses in the United States to come home. He won't permit anyone to outshine his son by graduating from an American military school after junior failed . . . . Mrs. McElroy, wife of the Secretary of Defense, is not the only one getting free dental care. Mrs. McElroy got it at the Walter Reed Army Hospital. The American Dental Association has asked dentists in the Washington area to give free treatment, if possible, to Congressmen in order to create good will.

World Panorama Presents An Era Of Turbulence

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A turbulent era to be living in — and yet people generally do not seem to be aware of the critical consequences that could ensue at any moment. The world panorama today looks like this:

Blood is flowing in Lebanon. Events these could involve the sudden use of American troops to protect American lives unless the United Nations can enforce peace.

Tension in the relations between the western countries and the Soviet Union is increasing.

Tito in public speeches compares aid that he gets from America without strings to Soviet aid originally promised him and now withdrawn because he will not toe the Moscow line.

The Soviet Government first promises to participate in a conference of technicians at Geneva who were supposed to explore ways of bringing about an international pact for the suspension of nuclear tests but then backs out, insisting an agreement must first be reached to stop testing.

Talk of a "Summit" conference is receding.

For the sake of appearances and to appease public sentiment, the spokesmen of the West continue to say they want to keep on talking and conferring and negotiating some kind of understanding or agreement between the East and the West. But there seems now to be less and less likelihood of reaching such a result.

Ever since the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary was announced on June 17, the whole world has been showing its disapproval, and the Moscow regime knows that the tide is turning. Moscow's propaganda is diminishing in its effectiveness.

Are the men in the Kremlin, in view of all these adverse happenings, therefore trying desperately to consolidate their own position? Their efforts to arrange a "Summit" conference and to urge the doctrine of "peaceful co-existence" were due largely to a belief that this would help build up their prestige as "statesmen" inside the Soviet Union and placate a growing unrest there.

Moscow is changing from peaceful to threatening words. An external crisis has sometimes been provoked in history by reckless men to bring about internal solidarity.

There is more and more evidence today that Khrushchev is in trouble with the other leaders and that he has adopted a stern course in the belief it will terrify his internal as well as his external adversaries.

These are ticklish moments for a president of the United States. He must bear the burden of decision each hour of the day. The Lebanon crisis gets some attention from the press but not as much as it seems to deserve. Movements of the American Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and the buildup of British armed forces on Cyprus have not been kept secret. There is talk of a Soviet fleet coming into the Mediterranean, too. This is what a president worries about.

In the midst of this atmosphere of international crisis, Washington is nevertheless agog over a Congressional investigation which appears to be a contest in mudslinging. It seems to have given opportunities to disappointed seekers of influence to carry on in public their back-biting over personal grievances. What an orgy of pettiness!

Some day the historians will doubtless perceive the disproportionate attention being given to these passing incidents. Some day perhaps the effort of the government of the United States to do its duty in accord with the noblest of American traditions will be seen in its true light and will be given just acclaim.

For American foreign policy, despite its setbacks, seeks today only to uphold ideals of unselfishness in a troubled world and to aid in preventing a deadly war that could come suddenly to peoples everywhere. Indeed war is a constant danger as long as irresponsible rulers hold power in the Soviet Union and are heedless of warnings. There is, of course, also the danger to those rulers themselves that, at the first sign of international war, an opportunity for internal war can present itself. These are truly turbulent times.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

However it looks like they will be dry-ditched in Chavez Ravine this time next year.

They are rapping Ford Frick for his failure to keep the Bums in Bumsville. He had no more to do with it than you have with the shape of Labrador.

There hasn't been a real tyrant in baseball since Dan Johnson put the American League together with cigaret papers and chewing gum.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis was swept into office on a ripple of indignation over the baseball scandal. The Judge was a genial old fakir who did card tricks with wet soda crackers.

When the Babe came to bat everything was forgotten and the world stood still. All except the outfielders.

Trouble At The Top

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It is hard to see how an explosion can be avoided at this week's meeting between the President and the Republican Congressional leaders.

No doubt the progressive collapse of the Western position in the Middle East and other minor matters can be dealt with amiably enough, or simply passed over as undeserving of much notice. But there is still the case of Sherman Adams; and this all-important matter is plainly moving toward the explosion point.

On the one hand, the President is bitterly, unforgivingly angry with the Republican senators and representatives who have called for Sherman Adams' resignation or dismissal. According to those who ought to know, Eisenhower has taken the "Adams-must-go" statements as so many personal affronts. In the heyday of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, one was always being told how "McCarthy made the President see red." But if he saw red then, he is reported to see crimson, scarlet and maroon now.

On the other hand, the most prominent member of the "Adams-must-go" school of Republican thought, Senate minority leader William S. Knowland of California, will be on hand at the White House leaders' meeting, unless he is prevented from attending by some unforeseen development. Futhermore, Senator Knowland has now gone an important step futher in his position on the Adams case.

About ten days ago, he made a rather careful statement, merely suggesting that both the President and Gov. Adams ought to consider whether Adams' usefulness in the White House has not been too badly impaired. On last Thursday, however, Knowland went the whole hog, forthrightly calling on Adams to resign for the President's sake and the party's sake.

At last week's White House leaders' meeting, Knowland's previous statement on the Adams case was of course in every mind. Adams himself attended, sitting by the President's chair as is his custom. But no word passed between Adams and the leaders of Congress, and the case of Adams was never mentioned. It must have been like one of those ghastly parties at which everyone desperately avoids the only really interesting subject, because discussing the only interesting subject would be impossibly tactless.

The coming meeting will convene with Knowland's second, stronger statement again in every mind. Any other President, in these circumstances, would feel called upon to have the matter out with his Congressional chieftains. This particular Pesident, to be sure, has always dealt rather cavalierly with his second role as leader of his party. But even if the President continues to treat the Adams case as a strictly personal and private matter, there is still a rather strong possibility that Sen. Knowland will bring the matter up on his own initiative.

Altogether, this confrontation between Eisenhower and his party Congressional grandees ought to be an interesting gathering. Furthermore, if the issue of Adams is not thrashed out this week, there will still be next week, and the week after that, and maybe the week after that.

Sooner or later, in truth, the President can hardly avoid discussing this unhappy case that has already inflicted such deep wounds on the Republican Party with the other men who share the responsibility of party leadership. Thus far, he has not done so. The Adams case has been handled in the White House, by the White House, for the White House.

Meanwhile the Republicans who must go before the voters this fall are unanimously clamoring for Adams' resignation. "Adams-must-go" cries have been heard from Barry Goldwater of New Mexico on the extreme right, Robert Kern of New Jersey in the party's liberal wing, and from men in the middle like Knowland and Charles Potter of Michigan. Behind these cries, there is the soreness that comes from a feeling of having been badly let down.

Meanwhile, too, the Adams case continues to unfold. Above all, the celebrated Bernard Goldfine, that friend of all the world, has yet to be heard from. He has yet to be asked a whole series of questions, and especially the central question, whether he took income tax deductions for Gov. Adams' hotel bills and vicuna coat and Persian carpet. So it will be a long time before the Adams case can be marked "Closed," and in such cases, unfortunately, party spirit generally makes time more of an inflamer than a healer.

Lice Can Be A Severe Threat To Community

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Lice on the hair or skin are more embarrassing than serious, provided typhus is not in the neighborhood. This disease is transmitted by the louse and is a severe threat when it breaks out in a community.

The louse or its eggs may be passed directly from person to person through close contact or the use of contaminated clothing, combs, brushes, towels, or bedding. Even a physician may acquire these critters accidentally when making a house call on infested patients.

A child afflicted with these parasites may disrupt an entire school. Youngsters are chummy and the infested boy or girl ought to stay home until cured. It is surprising how apathetic some families can be. Irresponsible parents neglect the vermin, saying "It was caught at school and should be treated by the school." They leave the delousing job to the health department.

The eggs of head lice (nits) are attached to the individual hairs at a slight angle. They are small and gray and are best seen in the hair behind the ears. Nits differ from dandruff particles, which are scattered loosely among the hairs and on the scalp. Body lice (cooties) live on the skin but sometimes seek refuge in the seams of clothing. All types lead to itching and most of the damage stems from scratching.

Recently Dr. John Gardner reported that one application of a new shampoo eliminated all lice and nits from the hair of 83 per cent of a group of 47 children. The remainder were cleared after one or two additional washings. The shampoo is a mixture of gamma benzene hexachloride and a detergent.

A dusting powder containing 10 per cent DDT eradicates lice within 10 minutes but not the nits. This substance is not harmful unless swallowed. Other members of the family should be examined too, as elimination of the pest from the entire household is the only way to prevent reinfection.

EMBEDDED NEEDLE

R. L. writes: It seems I have a needle in my left side near the lung, altho I have no recollection of the mishap. One doctor says to have it removed and another advises that nothing be done. I would appreciate your advice.

REPLY

The embedded needle may never cause trouble but you may continue to worry about it while it remains. Removal is advised if the operation can be done with a minimum of difficulty. But if the surgeon has to search for a needle in a haystack, it is better to let well enough alone.

THIRSTY CHILDREN

Mrs. J. writes: Would the development of great thirst in two youngsters, age 2 and 3, indicate diabetes if the disease doesn't run in the family?

REPLY

No. Thirst is a symptom of diabetes but other tests would be needed to make the diagnosis. Why not ask your family doctor to investigate?

STRESS SITUATIONS

R. T. writes: What is the meaning of stress as applied to certain diseases?

According to the Selye theory, created thru infections, emotional disease may result from stress disturbances, injury, toxins, or environmental situations. The reactions of the body depends upon the ability of the adrenal glands to bolster the defense mechanisms of the body by manufacturing hormones, such as cortisone.

CALCIUM STONES

R. F. writes: My husband had four stones removed from one kidney recently; and 12 years ago he had five taken from the opposite kidney. Now the doctor wants him to give up milk and milk products. Does milk cause kidney stones?

REPLY

Yes, provided the stones consist of the same chemicals found in milk and milk products—calcium, for example. A daily dose of aspirin is said to discourage kidney stones from forming.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At an amusement park last summer a college student who had wangled a vacation job on the scenic railway noticed that one sickly, shaking old gent made no effort to get out of his front seat when a ride was completed, but sat huddled down waiting to go 'round again. Futhermore, the ticket taker never bothered to ask him for his fare. The student approached him after five rounds and said, "Pardon me, but do you get a particular thrill out of this ride?"

"Thrill?,' sneered the old man. "I hate it! It makes me acutely sick to my stomach."

man, "owes me 10 dollars, and I'm going to take it out on him in rides if it kills me!"

"A minor operation," explains Melinda Drake, "is an operation performed on somebody else."

Suit Is Filed In Land Case

A land condemnation suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday by the State Roads Commission for a piece of property on U.S. Route 40 in LaVale.

The property, owned by Lester L. and Mildred E. Spencer, is needed for the modernization of the highway. The SRC has deposited a check for $140 with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court, to cover an offer for the land.

The tract comprises 200 square feet. The suit was filed for the SRC by William Walsh.

The kitchen sink is becoming glamorized. American housewives are expressing a strong preference for sinks in six basic colors — peach, blue, yellow, green, red and gray.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Pass	Pass	1 spade
2 hearts	2 spades	3 hearts	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Ace of hearts.

Today, we present a case in which a desperation lead combined with an unorthodox bid to provide declarer with the clews required to land an almost hopeless game contract.

When East failed to keep his partner's heart bid alive it was naturally up to South to act. The conventional procedure with this holding is to make a take-out double.

It was a moral certainty in view of the opening bid that if North and South were to score game it could be only in spades. If South made the orthodox double North might respond in the major suit and then the king of hearts would come down in dummy and be attacked in the opening lead.

South therefore decided to bid one spade. West rebid despite partner's pass and North offered a raise. East and South continued the competition but North's final raise to game was overly ambitious.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued with the queen, putting declarer in with the king. The first problem was the play of the trumps. Holding nine of the suit, the normal procedure is to play for the drop but South made an interesting deduction at trick one.

The lead of the ace of hearts marked East with the king of diamonds despite his pass, for if West had held the ace and king of diamonds he would hardly have been up against the extremity of having to lead from the ace-queen of hearts.

Since East is known to have the king of diamonds, it is hardly likely that he will also show up with the queen of spades since with that honor holding he would probably have kept the bidding open.

Declarer therefore cashed the king of spades, followed with the ten and, when West played low, permitted it to ride. After mopping up the trumps, declarer refused the club finesse, dropping the blank king of clubs with his ace on the same line of reasoning that induced him to finesse in trumps. Two diamonds were discarded from dummy on the long clubs, permitting South to score an overtrick.

MacKay Wins, Mulloy And Patty Lose At Wimbledon

Ohioan Only U. S. Player To Survive

By TOM OCHILTREE

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Barry MacKay hammered his way into the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championship Monday, masking with a boyish grin the worry caused by a blistered hand. He was the only American to make the last eight.

The powerful Dayton, Ohio, giant swept through India's Ramanathan Krishnan 6-3, 11-9, 6-2 with chain lightning services and cross court backhands.

Patty, Mulloy Lose

Two other American warhorses—Budge Patty and Gardnar Mulloy - pitted their great craft against strength but were eliminated in the singles.

Patty, of Los Angeles and Paris, fought a five-setter with Sven Davidson, Sweden. Davidson finally walked off with the decision 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 9-7, 6-4 after Patty, the 1950 titleholder, dissipated a service break that could have given him the fourth set and the match.

Mulloy, 44, caught Mervyn Rose when the Australian left-hander had everything working. Rose won 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

MacKay Faces Rose

In the women's singles, Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont, 40, of Wilmington, Del., defeated Fay Muller of Australia 6-3, 6-2, to give Uncle Sam three contenders in the quarter - finals. Defending champion Althea Gibson of New York and Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., gained the round of eight Saturday.

So now it is MacKay or nobody for Uncle Sam in the men's singles. And every time the Ohio boy hits a ball his bat wears a little more on the blister on his right hand.

Rain interrupted play again today — the sixth time this has happened in seven days of competition.

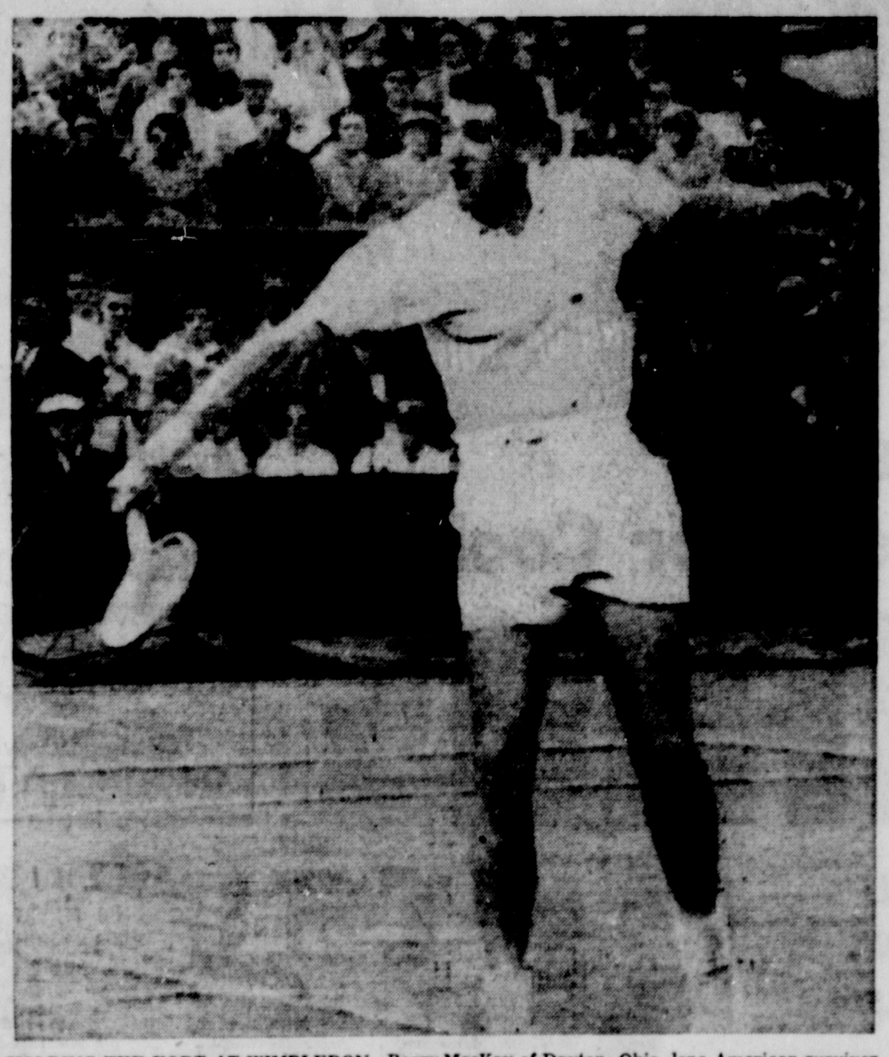

Cooper Is Extended

The men's singles matches, all fourth-round ones, produced fluent tennis with few surprises. But eyebrows were raised over the way Australia's Ashley Cooper struggled before getting by Abe Segal of South Africa.

Top-seeded Cooper finally won the match 13-11, 6-3, 3-6, 14-12, but he needed a couple of netted volleys by Segal at key points to get through. The experts said Cooper, on this form, hardly looks like the next champion.

Second Oldest Track

Pimlico, the nation's second oldest race track, will operate its 139th meeting for 30 days this autumn from November 13 through December 17. Pimlico was opened October 25, 1780.

HOLDING THE FORT AT WIMBLEDON—Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, lone American survivor in the men's section of the Wimbledon tennis championships, makes a backhand return in his victorious match with India's Ramanathan Krishnan on the British court yesterday. MacKay entered the quarter-finals with a 6-3, 11-9, 6-2 triumph while the other two Americans, veterans Gardnar Mulloy and Budge Patty, were being eliminated. (AP Photofax via radio from London).

Barton retained its half game lead in the Twilight Baseball League by blanking Wright's Crossing yesterday by the score of 2-0 behind the gilt-edge pitching of southpaw Grover Fazenber who fashioned a two-hitter, whiffed 14 and posted his fifth consecutive triumph of the campaign.

A single by Baker in the fourth and a double by Allen in the sixth were the only hits credited to Wright's Crossing.

Midland stayed right on the heels of the leaders by whipping Finzel on the latter's field by the score of 5-1.

Bill Truly had three hits and Carl Donald and George Miller had two each for Midland. Ronnie Rice, Finzel hurler, fanned 13 but gave up 12 hits. Finzel's three safeties were Rice's triple, Jack Burner's double and McGraw's single.

Westernport remained 1½ games off the pace by trimming Lonaconing, 7-6. Ollie Smith, relieved by Kip Montgomery in the 6th, got credit for the win.

Dave Marple collected a pair of singles and Junie Perry slammed a triple for Westernport while J. Spiker banged two doubles, "Ike" Love a double and single and L. Dawson three hits for Lonaconing.

Cumberland returned to the .500 class by scoring its seventh win of the season over Zihlman, 5 to 3.

Theater TV Pays $210,000 For Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Closed circuit theater television rights to the Patterson-Harris fight in Los Angeles Aug. 18 have been sold to TelePrompTer Corp., promoter Bill Rosensohn announced Monday. There will be no home television, and the question of radio rights has not been settled. TelePrompTer has guaranteed $210,000 to the fight.

Stan Musial Leads Cards To Triumph

McDaniel Defeats Los Angeles, 4-2

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, led by Stan Musial defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-2, Monday night. Lindy McDaniel was the winning pitcher for the second-place Red Birds. He gained his fifth victory against seven defeats with a complete - game effort.

Musial had a home run and a double in three times at bat and drove in two runs.

Musial homered in the first inning with the bases empty. Ken Boyer's double and Gene Green's RBI single added another run in the first and made rookie Bob Giallombardo's third major league start a one-inning venture.

The Cardinals scored a run without a hit on a walk, a wild pitch and shortstop Don Zimmer's throwing error, in the third. Musial doubled to drive home Blasingame in the fifth.

Cresaptown's Lions and Frostburg, co-leaders of the Bi-State Pony Baseball League, scored decisive victories over Lonaconing and Mt. Savage while LaVale reeled off its fourth straight triumph at the expense of Ellerslie in games played yesterday in the six club circuit.

The Lions chalked up 10 runs in the third frame and seven tallies in the fourth inning to crush Lonaconing, 19-3.

Two of the three hits given up by Ernie Stouffer and BillyLovett were credited to Tedd Wilson. Stouffer was the winner and Miller the loser.

Evans led the Frostburg stickers with three blows while Watkinson, Eisel and Evans had two each. Tommy Linn obtained two of the hits yielded by Allan, who struck out five.

LaVale outslugged Ellerslie to win by the score of 12-8 at LaVale.

Manager Gene Scaletta's outfit racked up 12 hits, four of which were shared by Jimmy Willets and Evan Smith. The latter cleaned the bases with a timely double during a five-run rally in the second frame. Teddy Bennett larruped a triple for the victors.

Twain Lowery belted a homer and single and John Cook also had two hits for Ellerslie.

Bobby Wharton, who twirled until the 5th when relieved by Klosterman, got the win, his fourth agaist one loss. Hartman was the loser.

Lynnwood Robinette, Ellerslie centerfielder, turned in the fielding gem — an over-the-shoulder stab of a long drive from the bat of Tem Femi.

The LaVale at Lonaconing game will be staged today at 6 p. m., instead of Friday, July 4. Scores:

Johnny Price struck out 25 of the 27 batsmen he faced in nine innings as he pitched the Kiwanis Club a 2-1 decision over the Rotary Club in a Hot Stove Baseball League game last night at Penn Avenue Field.

After the Rotarians tied the score at 1-1 in the 7th inning the Kiwanians emerged the victors in the second extra frame when Jimmy Powelson walked, Mickey Robinson was hit by a pitched ball and Harvey "Duke" Shanholtz singled to left to score Powelson with the deciding marker.

Price failed to issue a walk. He has yielded only one run in 30 innings and had a string of 28 consecutive scoreless frames. Manges' single in the third was the Rotarians lone hit.

Ronnie Manges, who hooked up with Price in the slab duel, struck out 19, walked three and gave up seven hits. Sammy Brehm, Charley Boone and Shanholtz collected two hits each and Price slammed a three-bagger.

The win put the Kiwanis Club a half game out of first place, now occupied by the Jaycees.

Suffolk Downs' Missing Horse Mystery Solved

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Will See Ya, a 5-year-old gelding race horse that disappeared from his stable at Suffolk Downs race track, was found Monday tied to a tree in Saugus five miles from where he was last reported.

Police said George Caswell, 13, walking in woods near his home, saw the horse and a man resting on the ground beside him. The man asked if the youngster knew where he could board a horse, and George suggested he see his father.

The unidentified man gave the father, Lorin Caswell, $100 for the horse's room and board, and said he would return later with additional money. When he left Caswell called police.

Anthony E. Timpani of Revere, also was called, and he identified the thoroughbred as his horse.

Jensen's 23 Homers Ties 1957 Output

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Jackie Jensen has powered his way into the American League home run lead with a June spree that has also enabled him to equal his entire output for 1957 and close in on his career high.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder has walloped 14 homers this month, giving him 23 in 69 games. Jensen had 23 circuit blows in 145 games last season. Jackie's major league high is 26 in 1955.

York Holds Record

The home run record for one month is 18 by Rudy York of Detroit in 1937. Jensen, 31-year-old San Francisco native, also has taken over the circuit's runs batted in lead from Bob Cerv of Kansas City. Jensen drove in 10 tallies last week, boosting his aggregate to 60. Cerv has 58.

Mickey Vernon of Cleveland collected only four hits in 23 times at bat last week and lost the batting lead to Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox.

Vernon dropped 25 points to .327 while Fox, with eight safeties in 27 tries, fell four points but took over first place with .332.

Preston Ward of Kansas City remained in third place at .326. Vic Power of Cleveland moved into fourth position at .323.

Mays Leads By Ten

In the National League, Stan Musial of St. Louis closed to within 10 points of pace-setting Willie Mays of San Francisco.

The records include Sunday's games.

By hitting two homers, Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh lengthened his home run lead over Chicago's Ernie Banks. Thomas now has 22, four more than Banks.

Thomas also is the runs batted in leader with 66.

LaVale moved into first place as Fort Hill's Scouts and Rangers dropped matches in the Western Maryland Legaue's seventh rifle contest held Sunday evening on the Morningside Drive range.

Harold Everline's 399-31x tally paced the winning LaVale crew as they conquered the Rangers, 1591-101x to 1587-93x. High for the losers was a 400-28x possible by Frank Simpson.

Hercules gunners scored their first mark of the season by upsetting Fort Hill's Scouts, 1585-94x to 1583-82x. The two point victory was made possible by Joe Eirich's tally of 398-29x. Leo Leasure topped the Scouts with a 400-24x possible.

Pirates Draw Good

Spahn Notches 10th Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves concentrated their scoring with ten hits in two innings Monday night, walloping Cincinnati 9-2 as southpaw Warren Spahn became the first National League pitcher with 10 victories this season.

Spahn, who now has a 10-4 record in 1958, built his career record against the Redlegs to 48 victories against 16 losses. It was his 234th victory in the National League.

The Braves kept their 2½ game lead over the second place St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2 Monday night.

The Braves got all but two of their hits in the fourth and fifth innings, scoring four runs in the fourth and five in the next inning.

The losing pitcher, starter Bob Purkey, gave up five hits in 3 2-3 innings as he suffered his fifth loss against eight victories.

Purkey allowed only one hit, a single to Spahn, in the first three innings, but a combination of four Milwaukee hits and two bad pitches forced him off the mound in the fouth.

1930 Pitcher Says Athletes Are Pampered

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The players, observes 57-year-old Pete, who won 134 games in the big leagues, are too pampered.

Donohue went from Texas Christian University to the Cincinnati Reds in 1921, winning 7 and losing 6 games his first season. He was with the Reds until 1930 and his record included 21 victories in 1923 and 1925 and 20 in 1926. After developing a sore arm in 1930 he was sent to the New York Giants. The Giants released him in 1931 and he signed on with the Cleveland Indians.

But the Boston Red Sox bought him at the start of the 1932 season for $65,000 with the understanding that if he stayed with the club at least 30 days, he would get a bonus of 30 per cent of the purchase price.

"I was to pitch the opening game," Donohue says, "and I awoke that morning about to freeze to death. All during the game I was freezing and I'd wrap up in those heavy coats between innings."

After the team went back to the hotel, a doctor was called. He said Donohue had blood poisoning.

"They called old Dr. King of the Yankee club and he came to see me," Donohue recalls. "He leaned over the bed to look at me and said, 'that boy's going to die' right in my face."

Donohue was bedfast for the next 10 days and after recovering he went to Boston and started working out while the Red Sox were on the road. "Then the manager telephoned me and said to come to New York," Donohue says. "I was going to pitch against the Yankees the next day."

In batting practice Donohue was hit on the shoulder by a ball and it was the next day before he pitched. He lost 2-1.

Richard Robinson's double scored Miller from second base with the run that gave the Red Sox a 9-8 decision over the Giants in an eight inning battle yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

The win moved the Red Sox into first place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan League.

Each team collected 13 hits. Willis paced the winners with three blows, Snider hit a homer and single and Robertson and Robinson had two hits each for the Sox. Jimmy Snider excelled in right field with several nice catches.

Jimmy Seeders was the "big gun" for the Giants with two homers, a double and single. Jackson collected three hits and Lease and Dean hit for the circuit.

Wayne Jewell scattered six hits and whiffed an even dozen as the Pirates took the Yankees into camp at Post Field by the score of 14-7.

Jewell also blasted a pair of home runs, Lonnie Lewis slammed a home and single and Don Yaider had a pair of singles for the winners. The Yankees' six hits included a triple by Wallace and a three-bagger and single by Helmick. The scores:

Cleveland Beats White Sox, 5-3

CHICAGO (AP)—Reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm put down an eighth inning Chicago White Sox uprising and preserved a 5-3 victory for the Cleveland Indians and right-hander Cal McLish Monday night.

With two runs in, a man on second and none out, Wilhelm got the Sox out without further damage as McLish gained his fourth victory against five defeats.

Minnie Minoso, formerly of the Sox, and veteran first baseman Mickey Vernon provided most of Cleveland's offense. Minoso crashed his 12th homer to start the second inning and Vernon singled home a run in the fifth and another in the seventh.

CROWN "custom-tailors" its fuels exclusively for automotive needs

The chart on the right helps to make this clear. At the top of the tower are the high-energy components. Other companies siphon off these richer ingredients for aviation fuels and other uses. But CROWN, whose specialty is automotive fuels, puts all these high-energy components back into the gasoline that goes into your car. That's the BIG DIFFERENCE!

The result is CROWN GOLD, a super-octane fuel—a better-balanced fuel—that gives your car greater power, smoother performance, and delivers maximum miles per gallon.

Try the two-tank test . . . and prove the BIG DIFFERENCE!

Kansas City Miscues Help Detroit Win

A's Blow In Ninth, Suffer 7-6 Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers scored three runs — two unearned—in a wild ninth inning and defeated the Kansas City Athletics 7-6 Monday.

Detroit trailed the Athletics 6-4 going into the big inning.

Third baseman Preston Ward threw an apparent double-play grounder into right field and let in two runs, then right-fielder Roger Maris made a wild heave over third base allowing the winning run to score.

The Tigers loaded the bases with one out on three singles that drove out relief pitcher Tom Gorman. Harvey Kuenn then hit Murray Dickson's first pitch to Ward and the run parade started.

It was a shabbily played contest from start to finish.

The Lions defeated the Elks at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-1, behind the one-hit twirling of Ronnie Evans and Mike Miller, who came on in the fifth inning as relief hurler.

The Elks' only hit was a triple by Glen Shipway, who was cut down at the plate on a play executed by Stratton, Evans and Whiteman.

Miller supplanted Evans in the 5th with the bases loaded and one out and stopped the Elks by fanning Rice while Shipway went out via the infield.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

OVER THE last several weeks, the sports pages have been loaded with items about bonus players.

This club, and that club, have signed a sensational high school kid to a big bonus, and the list is getting bigger.

We're not against such deals, but it seems to be getting out of line and the first thing an outstanding high school or sandlot star wants to know is "How much?"

The clubs with money to spend can go to big figures, but the poorer clubs are left out in the cold when money talks. That's a big disadvantage, it appears, and yet over the years you can count the big bonus guys who made good in the majors on a few hands.

Sure, some of them have starred for a while, but how many of them have become Fellers or DiMaggios?

Actually, many of them have failed to produce, generally winding up in the minors or eating their way out of condition.

• • •

GEORGE WEISS, the very able general manager of the Yankees, who seldom pay out big bonuses to kids—they don't have to—says that the bonus problem is one of the more serious ones confronting the game today.

Weiss, who berates the clubs for paying out sums up to $100,000 for untried teen-agers; admits that he doesn't have a solution. Weiss was recently quoted as saying that "we've already tried four bonus rules and not one of them has worked."

• • •

WHILE YOU have to admire the zeal of certain clubs to pay big bonuses in an attempt to build for the future, the bonus payments in baseball probably do more damage than good. Established stars can't help but be irked to see a fellow teammate, a rookie, sitting on the bench with a big hunk of dough in his pocket. The minor league players, signed without bonuses, certainly aren't going to be happy to have a big bonus baby as a teammate, playing as they do on small salaries.

• • •

IT'S NOT EASY to solve the bonus problem, as proven by the four shots the leagues already have had at it.

A possible suggestion might be to set up territorial rights, now that we have transcontinental baseball, and let the chips and the players fall as they may, with each club given certain areas to work their bird dogs.

Bragan Named Spokane Pilot

Will Succeed Holt In Coast League

SPOKANE (AP) — Bobby Bragan was hired Monday as manager of the Spokane Indians of the Pacific Coast League. He succeeds Goldie Holt.

Bragan was let out only last week as manager of the Cleveland Indians and was replaced there by Joe Gordon.

Bragan will be returning to the PCL where he managed the Hollywood Stars for three years before being signed to manage the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1956.

A's Send Burnette To Denver Team

Burnette, 29, from Blairs, Va., came to the Athletics from Denver in mid-1956. This year he has a 1-1 record with an earned run average of 3.50 in 28 1-3 innings of work.

Record Daily Double

Highest daily double payoff in the 26-year history of Charles Town race track was $2,643 for each $2 wager on Spring Rain and Lady of Knock on February 28, 1956. Eight winning tickets were sold on the combination.

Winner But No Second

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The crew race between Harvard and Yale produced a winner but no second in 1873. Yale won the race held at Springfield but some person or persons moved the finish line 150 yards beyond its original point. Harvard stopped rowing before the finish.

Tighter Than Scotsman

Possibly the only race track ever to have dead heats in three races on one day is Charles Town in West Virginia. On August 19, 1957 there was one tie finish for first place and two others for second place.

Thomson Fires Spectacular 63 In British Open Golf Tourney

Stranahan Posts 68 And Sarazen 73 In Qualifying Round

ST. ANNE'S — ON — SEA, England (AP)—Former champion Peter Thomson fired a spectacular course record 63, and Frank Stranahan, chief American hope, scored a subpar 68 Monday in the first qualifying round of the British Open Golf Championship.

The 27 - year - old Australian, three-times winner of this tournament, clipped eight strokes off Lytham's par with his 31-32 — 63. The Lytham Links has a par of 35-36—71 for its rugged 6,635 - yardage. Stranahan, playing despite a painful back injury, carded a 36-32—68 over the same course.

Sarazen Posts 73

Gene Sarazen, 56, of Germantown, N. Y., who won this championship 26 years ago, scored 38-35—73 over the adjoining Fairhaven Links. Fairhaven has an easier 37-35—72 par for its 6,512 yard length.

Fred Brown, an amateur from Los Angeles, tied Lytham's par with 33-38—71 for second honors among the small American contingent.

Thomson's round broke the course record of 67 set by Fred Daly in 1952.

Stranahan said he injured his back Sunday night while bending over in his hotel room.

"A muscle gave in my back," he said. "When I got up this morning I could hardly walk."

He tied for fourth place.

To Switch Courses

The players will switch courses Tuesday. Those who played Fairhaven Monday will play Lytham Tuesday. Observers figured it will take about 150 to qualify for the tournament proper on Wednesday.

Doolan Blanks McIntyre's, 5-0

"Pickles" Doolan pitched a two-hitter yesterday as Local 26 chalked up its ninth victory in 10 outings in the City Rec Softball League at the expense of Don McIntyre's in a game played at Naval Reserve Field. The score was 5-0.

The league leaders scored all their runs in the first two innings off Regis Fair who went the route for the losers.

LOCAL 26	140 000 0—5	5	2

Doolan and Emery, R. Fair and V. Parsons.

Forty Niners Win Over Toy Shop, 8-3

Jimmy O'Neal kept six hits well spaced and mowed down via the strikeout route in hurling the Forty Niners to their second straight win of the season over the Toy Shop in a City High School Baseball League game yesterday at Taylor Field. The score was 8-3.

The winners obtained nine hits, including a homer and single by Bruce Smith and two one-base knocks by John Mills.

Baldwin collected two of the six hits yielded by O'Neal.

Henry, who started on the mound for the Toy Shop and was replaced by Nines in the sixth, was tagged with the loss. He struck out six. Score:

FORTY NINERS	210 013 1—8	9	2
TOY SHOP	010 002 0—3	4	3

J. O'Neal and Montgomery, Henry, Nines (6) and Abell.

LP—Henry. HR—B. Smith (Forty Niners).

Airline Fares Cut

HONG KONG (AP)—Passenger and freight fares on Communist China's domestic airlines will be cut 40 per cent beginning Tuesday, Peiping radio reports.

It said airline business in Red China has increased 30 per cent in the past five years and that new planes will be ordered from the Soviet Union soon to help meet growing demands.

Daniel Beard organized the "Sons of Dan'l Boone," which later became known as the Boy Scouts of America.

and you don't miss ANYTHING when you have Cumberland's Cable TV. Four unduplicated programs to select from plus additional sports from five other TV stations. These additional sports now include all of the televised baseball games of the Pittsburgh Pirates, plus the NBC and the CBS baseball games of the week. NOTE: By popular requests Pirate games will be carried if any other games are scheduled at the same time.
One of the reasons that an area like Washington does not broadcast the home baseball, college football and Professional football is that by agreement the home games are not broadcast in order to encourage personal attendance to the game. By having so many more TV stations to select from, you can be assured of receiving at least a dozen more football games this fall, including regularly the college game of the week, plus not only the away from home games of the Washington Redskins, but the complete schedule. These Redskin home games will be relayed thru Richmond, Virginia and Harrisonburg, Virginia.
Watch and talk Cable TV—Improvements have been made. A fifth active channel has been added—at no additional cost! Call us today for a prompt FREE demonstration.

½ ton pickup
This like-new pickup has always been here at the garage. We used it for small parts pickup. It has not been titled and will carry a new truck warranty. The six cylinder engine and standard shift make this very economical to operate. The mileage is low and the tires are good. It has heater, defroster, signal lights, and the paint is not scratched. This is a wonderful opportunity to buy a like-new pickup for less than book value at our low price of

By EDDY GILMORE

Out of the vile subject of murder, of course, the gentle Mrs. Christie has earned a fortune.

She has truly made crime pay.

Asked how large an income she reaps from nearly 60 mysteries, novels and plays, her backer Peter Saunders replied:

"Something astronomical. Out of all belief."

Her detective stories have been published in many lands. Millions of people have read them. Millions are reading them and presumably unborn millions will read them.

Two years ago she sold the movie rights of "Witness for the Prosecution" to Hollywood for $325,000.

With its 2,239th consecutive curtain last month her detective story "The Mousetrap" set a new continuous performance record for a British play, beating "Chu Chin Chow" of the 1920s.

Like its author, "The Mousetrap" is still going strong.

Still another mystery play, "Verdict," had its premier in London May 22. It didn't fare so well. The final curtain accidentally came down a minute too soon and spoiled the ending for an already disgruntled first night audience.

At one time last year she had three plays showing simultaneously at three London theaters.

"For years," said Mrs. Christie, "I used to go home and think, 'One day they'll find me out. I'm no writer at all.'

"Only now I'm beginning to believe I'm not so bad and it's a little late."

Mrs. Christie does not like to talk about her age. Who's Who skips the subject. Dates in earlier record books and magazines show she is now 67 or 68.

She was born Agatha Mary Clarissa Miller in Torquay, England, and her father was an American, Frederick Alvah Miller, of New York.

She married Col. Archibald Christie in 1914. They had one daughter. The marriage ended in divorce in 1928.

In 1930 she married the eminent archaeologist Max Edgar Lucien Mallowan, whom she met in Ur, Iraq.

The professor was digging in some ancient ruins at the time. Twenty-eight years later he was still digging, with his wife taking an increased interest in the excavations.

The Mallowans—or the professor and the authoress—flew to Iraq this spring. It was digging again.

"I find archaeology more fascinating than inventing murder mysteries," said Mrs. Christie, "perhaps because I myself have to search for clues instead of laying them."

Agatha Christie did not embark in life's bustling stream as a writer. During World War I she was a volunteer ambulance driver in France. She had received professional training as a prescriptionist and in the vastly dissimilar business of an opera singer.

The high notes came out, but the career never came off.

Fairly early in life, however, her English mother and a friend of the family, author Eden Phillpotts, encouraged her to write.

"Of course," she said, "I have always loved thrillers ever since I read Conan Doyle."

It failed to thrill several publishers to whom it was submitted. The fact that it didn't remains one of the monumental bad guesses in the tricky business of publishing books.

Mrs. Christie is rich. Big rich.

She has a fine, sensitive nose, a powerful chin, a soft voice and softly waved white hair.

She loathes publicity, despises posing for photographs and refuses to make public speeches.

At one of her triumphant first nights when the audience roared "Author, author, author," she shrank in a plush-lined box like a frightened hare and told Peter Saunders:

"If you dare shine a light on me you'll never have another play of mine."

Incidentally, she started writing plays because she did not like the way some of her books were being staged.

She attributes her shyness to childhood but staunchly believes that authors should be read, not seen or interviewed. She dislikes big parties and she neither smokes nor drinks.

"I tried them both just to be sociable, but I never managed them."

Others are reading, traveling and swimming.

She spends a lot of time in her tub. Lying there in the warm, engulfing suds and nibbling on an apple, she has thought out many a plot.

And when the story has been mapped out in her mind she quickly types it, using three fingers.

A book takes from two to eight months.

All of her tales are not detective stories. Under the name of Mary Westmacott she has penned several straight novels. The whodunit, however, is really her love.

Agatha Christie is that rare writer who can manage a constant high pitch of suspense. Her solutions are whip-crackers. They are surprises and never anticlimaxes.

She can manipulate her characters with the skill of a juggler and keep six suspects in the air at the same time.

This infuriates a few readers and has driven some critics to exclaim that she doesn't play fair. Goodnaturedly, she denies this but admits a deft shading of emphasis may sometimes throw readers off the hot scent.

Gentle by nature, she even carries it into her dark plots.

"I prefer poison," she once said. "It's a nice tidy death. Shooting is more trouble."

She works best on rainy days and gets most of her words on paper after breakfast and dinner.

"I don't like a strict routine," she says. "Time was made for man."

Mrs. Christie doesn't like sordid stories and is convinced she couldn't write them if she tried.

For her, the mystery is the thing. Her characters attract no great sympathy and her drama doesn't harrow. It's all so orderly.

The suspense is the suspense of the crossword puzzle, more cerebral than emotional and her characters are so polite. So frightfully polite, monsieur.

Her principal detective is Hercule Poirot, the original egg-head. The bald little Belgian with the mustaches hardly works up adoration, but he does a workmanlike job. Big Ten posseses more sex appeal.

Mrs. Christie's own thoughts about her work should encourage discouraged would - be authors: "I've never written a book that I haven't abandoned in dust halfway through."

Pakistan, Afghan Aid

KARACHI (AP)—The U.S. government is said to be preparing to sign separate aid agreements with Pakistan and Afghanistan to improve transport links between the neighbor countries.

Informed sources reported the move and said it would improve the flow of exports from landlocked Afghanistan, thus decreasing Afghan dependence on the Soviet Union.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"No, it's NOT the same thing as running around in Bermuda shorts!"

When you slip on your sun glasses, slip on glamor at the same time!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sunglass Glamour

It's no trick at all to select sun glasses that actually flatter the contour of your face. Just be sure your frames are as wide as the widest part of your face and that no lines of the frame repeats a line of your face that you'd rather not emphasize. Remember those two points.

Let the color of your frames be important and forthright against your skin—an intentional color relationship. Pastel hues cannot give this effect against a brunette or deeply tanned complexion. The delicate shades are meant for and are just right for the lily-white maid.

It's the high-fashion styling of this summer's frames that makes it possible for you to use sun glasses as an attractive accent for your outfit as well as your looks. Consider these new variations: a model with a plastic shade for active sports; with side pieces wrapped in rattan— a stunner for play clothes; for the pulled-together look, any of the styles that are slotted at the end of the temple pieces so you can slip a scarf through, an arrangement that makes it easy to hold your hair in place and accessorize your costume dramatically.

If you wear prescription glasses, the "clip-on" lenses are the ticket. For the hard-to-fit, there are flexible glasses that bend at the temples.

All sun glass lenses are safe, no matter what the price, if they meet the specifications of the U. S. Bureau of Standards. Darkness of lens, not color, is the important factor. Sun glasses do not harm the eyes nor do they improve the vision. Their virtue is prevention of squinting and the resulting wrinkles, fatigue and headache. They also prevent impairment of night vision, which can be damaged by excessive exposure to sunlight.

Question Of France Joining Atom Club Of Nations Hot Paris Issue

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS (AP)—The question of bringing France into the atomic club of nations possessing nuclear weapons is fission hot in Paris.

For that reason, it is considered certain that Premier de Gaulle will give the subject a high priority in his talks with Secretary of State Dulles. They are scheduled to meet in Paris July 5.

Government circles are closely watching the debate in Congress over measures to share American atom-military secrets with qualified friendly governments.

From time to time reports circulate that France will soon test-fire a nuclear weapon of its own. "France can have an A-bomb in two months," says one. Another says the test is expected by the end of 1958.

Non-French observers doubt both statements.

An atomic reactor at Marcoule in central France already is producing plutonium, a prime material in nuclear explosives. A remote spot in western Algeria — Colomb-Bechar — is supposed to be the scene of the test shot whenever it is attempted.

French arguments for being admitted to the atomic club, now composed of only the U.S. and Britain in the West and the Soviet Union, have been spelled out in these forms:

1. Alphonse Juin, the only living marshal of France, said it would strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. "Our alliance otherwise would be a system of vacillating friendships," he said. "Since the bomb is the guarantee of peace, Europe and France should have it."

2. Adm. Henry Nomy, navy chief of staff, said France would feel more secure if, like her allies, she were to make, "even on a more modest scale, these same tools of power and security."

3. Others cite tactical considerations. They say that equipping NATO forces with atomic weapons plus the fact that the potential enemy has them, forces all major nations to "consider readapting and reorganizing their ground forces."

American technical experience would help France produce the "tools of power and security" more quickly.

Then why not share it?

Non-French technicians spell out a variety of reason—costs, the U.S. disinclination to distribute "do-it-yourself-kits" for making bombs, possibly greater difficulties over an agreement to suspend nuclear tests, and a general feeling that "the more nations making the big bombs, the more likelihood of someone using them."

If an agreement is reached to stop testing nuclear weapons before France is able to test-fire its first bomb, what will de Gaulle's government do?

Officials say only that France is "leaving the door open." Whether that means to make one test shot and then accede to the agreement is not clear.

Boots Home Six Winners In Row

STANTON, Del., June 30 (AP)—Eldon Nelson, the 30-year-old cattle rancher and jockey from Glenrose, Okla., set an all-time Delaware Park riding record today with six straight victories from the third through the eighth and final race. He had no mount in the first and finished fourth in the second contest on Olive Tree.

Only two weeks ago, Nelson won with five of six mounts—the five winners coming consecutively. That equalled the Delaware record dating back to June 7, 1955, when Bill Hartack scored with five mounts in seven attempts.

This was the popular little pilot's greatest day in the saddle and boosted his total triumphs for the 28-day old meeting to 32, or 10 more than his closest pursuer for local honors, Steve Brooks.

Eldon's winners beginning with the third race were: Sun Bolt, $13.60, Pecks Bad Boy, $12; Tempted, $3.40; Gannet, $9.80; Handshake, $5.80, and Unleashed, $6.40.

City Surplus May Approach $100,000 Mark

Final Bills Are Being Received

The answer will not be known for several days, but Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, made a rough guess that the surplus may approach $100,000.

That, he said, is "all I can see until all June bills and payrolls are in."

The Finance Department yesterday was busy as invoices for June purchases rolled in and payrolls were submitted.

A $100,000 surplus would be good news, of course, but if the figure stands near that point when books are closed it would still be about $137,000 short of the $237,000 surplus on hand last July 1 to prime the 1957-58 levy.

Pensions Cost More

A $100,000 surplus would fall about $9,000 short of meeting the costs of pensions for city employes during the year which ended yesterday.

Defeat of the $500,000 Urban Development bond issue referendum on June 17 prohibits the incoming Mayor and Council—at least for the present—from restoring to the city treasury funds being withheld by the State Roads Commission under a contractual agreement for the Cumberland Thruway.

Mr. Gibson estimates that the city's share of the 1957 gas and oil taxes should have been about $93,826.

Collections Good

As the 11th month ended May 31, collections on the all-time high $2,005,860 levy totaled $1,717,250.40. This left $294,711.94 to come in, but this figure would be reduced by excess collections of $6,102.34.

Not all of this $2,005,860 is subject to taxation, as the figure includes $247,500 for sewer service charges which are paid by all who discharge sewage into city lines.

Mr. Gibson said it is possible the surplus could drop below the $100,000 mark.

Part of the $100,000 guess was based on the cancellation by the Mayor and Council yesterday of bids for a motor grader which had been advertised by the Street Department.

This will leave about $20,000 in the Street Department appropriation but may merely defer the purchase until the current fiscal year.

State Income Lags

City income from state auto license fees, Mr. Gibson said, is way behind—$38,551 short of the amount levied. He added that the money is coming but that the city does not know when.

Another $24,394 of the surplus will represent unexpended funds in a $37,000 account set up last year for relocation of sewers on the Industrial Boulevard.

He added this will not represent extra money as an account will have to be set up for such work next year.

Some appropriations will have some money left over but some departments were overdrawn at the end of May and will be deeper in the red as the year ended.

Ain't We Got Fun!

This happy group of youngsters is looking forward to two weeks of fun at Sunshine Camp located just off MacDonald Terrace. Thanks to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, the girls started their vacation at camp yesterday morning and will be kept busy with all sorts of camping activities. In the pool with a group of the children is George K. Conway, teacher at Allegany High School, who is director of the camp. The 25 deserving girls were screened by the Associated Charities Office here and were given physical and dental examinations before leaving for camp. Boys' camp will follow the girls' turn.

Donald Mason Will Head GOP Campaign Here

Republicans To Open Headquarters

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, has been appointed Republican campaign chairman by the county State Central Committee, J. Glenn Beall, Jr., chairman, announced yesterday.

The committee plans to open a campaign headquarters on the first floor of the Commercial Bank building sometime this month, and will name a headquarters manager, finance chairman, and committeemen to work with Mr. Mason.

Mr. Mason, a native of Cumberland, graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1945 and served with the Coast Guard in the European and Pacific theatres aboard the USS Wakefield during World War II.

He graduated from Washington and Lee University with a law degree in 1951 and began a law practice in Cumberland. He served as administrative assistant to former State Senator Robert B. Kimble during sessions of the General Assembly from 1952 to 1955.

Mr. Mason was appointed a trial magistrate in 1952, and served until March of this year, when he resigned to accept appointment as assistant state's attorney by James S. Getty, state's attorney.

Active in Republican politics, Mr. Mason has held office in the Young Republican Club of Allegany County, and is a member of the Lonaconing Republican Club, the Cumberland Optimist Club, Junior Association of Commerce, American Legion, and Cumberland Outdoor Club.

He is vice president of the church council of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, and is a member of Potomac Lodge 100, A.F. and A.M., and of the Ali Ghan Shrine. He holds membership in the American Bar Association and in the Maryland State Bar Association.

Mr. Mason and his wife, the former Miss Dorothy Ebert, live at 435 North Centre Street.

The State Central Committee is holding regular meetings in various towns in the county. Mr. Beall said the next will be at 8 p. m. Tuesday, July 15, at the Lonaconing City Hall.

City Building Permits Hit $1,911,566

The June permits included eight for new construction jobs estimated to cost $59,800 and 12 additions and improvements totaling $11,934.

Included were eight residences with a total value of $59,300; four additions to residences, $3,014; three improvements to residences, $619; two additions to businesses, $1,300; two improvements to business, $5,500 and a $1,500 improvement to a business establishment.

State Asked To Help Put Out Coal Mine Fire

Powers Says Blaze Threatens Reserves

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Emergency state aid was requested Monday to help extinguish a coal mine fire which has been burning out of control in Western Maryland.

Frank J. Powers, director of the state Bureau of Mines at Westernport, said the blaze has been burning since early May in the Pittsburgh (Big Vein) coal seam of the Koontz Coal Co., about half a mile west of Lord, Md.

He said if it isn't extinguished it "will destroy valuable resources in the Pittsburgh coal seam and will eventually extend to the Lonaconing area on the west side of Georges Creek where known coal reserves are still available."

US To Put Up $20,000

Powers said the Federal Bureau of Mines has offered to put up half of a $40,000 fund to extinguish the fire and requested that the state Board of Public Works match it with an emergency allocation.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) called from Washington Monday to urge that the money be advanced.

Gov. McKeldin was en route to a judicial conference at Hot Springs, Va., when Powers' letter arrived, but aides said he would probably take the matter up with the Board of Public Works.

The board's next scheduled meeting is July 14. Its membership consists of the Governor, Comptroller and State Treasurer.

Burned Five Years

According to Powers' letter the fire had been burning in a slate bank for about five years before entering the coal seam. He said it was started by "parties unknown, probably timber cutters."

Powers said an inspection on May 12 by state, federal and coal company officials showed that the fire will continue to spread and possibly affect adjacent coal resources.

He said it already presents a safety hazard to those traveling in the immediate vicinity and is a source for possible forest and brush fires.

The Koontz Coal Co. is not in operation at the present time. It is controlled by William Jenkins Sr. and James Jenkins, of Frostburg. "They are giving their fullest cooperation," Powers said.

Hearings Open On C&O Canal Park Project

Judge Henderson Chief Witness

George Henderson, a former mayor of Cumberland and recently retired chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit Court of Maryland, was the principal witness yesterday at a Congressional hearing on the C & O Canal parkway project.

The House Public Lands subcommittee, which conducted the hearing on proposed legislation authorizing the establishment of a national park out of the 165-mile long canal between Cumberland and Washington, is headed by Mrs. Gracie Pfost, Democratic Congresswoman from Idaho.

Judge Henderson was the first of some 20 or more proponents of the park project to be heard. He outlined for the committee the history of the canal, told why it was constructed, how and why it was used for many years, and why it was eventually abandoned.

He urged that the area along the canal be preserved as a national park, and explained to the committee that the canal has considerable historical significance and should prove to be a great attraction for many people.

Urges Establishment

Within a radius of 350 miles of the canal, he pointed out, more than half of the population of the country reside. Recreation and tourist areas are needed, and this type of national park can and should be established for the benefit of this and future generations, he said.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde (R-Md), author of the House bill on the subject, turned down a suggestion by acting committee chairman Pfost that action be withheld until Congress gets a Potomac River water utilization study from Army Engineers.

"It may be four or five years before that report is ready for submission to Congress," Hyde said.

Asked whether establishment of the proposed park might interfere with possible future plans for one or more dams on the Potomac to provide additional water for metropolitan Washington, Hyde said:

"The question of a dam would be exactly the same whether or not the park is established. The federal government already owns the C & O right-of-way."

Hyde Answers Objections

Hyde referred to seven objections to the park proposal raised by the Maryland Board of Natural Resources. These objections, submitted to the committee, were:

1. The park would be expensive to maintain and difficult to administer.

2. It would require Maryland to surrender to federal control nearly all the northern shore and bed of the Potomac from Washington to Cumberland.

3. If established, Maryland's southern boundary would for practical purposes be moved back 40 rods from the Potomac's shores.

4. A narrow ribbon of federal land along the northern shore of the Potomac would allow Maryland citizens access to the river only on the sufferance of the federal government.

5. The park would constitute a curtain which would prohibit normal development of homes and industries along the river.

6. Land along the north shore of the river now is available to hunters, fishermen and naturalists.

Forgiveness Month Will Begin Today at Library

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, announced yesterday that through the month of July, all overdue books of the library will be accepted with no questions asked. There will be no fine imposed for overdue books.

About five years ago the library started the plan and each year has done very well in getting overdue books back on the shelf.

Miss Walsh urges persons with overdue books to take advantage of forgiveness month. She said the library will have a three-day holiday over the Fourth of July. It will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Three Jailed In Default In Safecracking

Three youths were committed to the County Jail yesterday in default of $1,000 bond each after preliminary hearings on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Committed to jail were Phillip Miller, 18, Springfield, W. Va.; Albert T. Rockwell, 18, of 612 Virginia Avenue, and his brother, Edward Rockwell, 17, of the same address.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya obtained a waiver from Juvenile Court for the 17-year-old boy and the three were given preliminary hearings in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick conducted the hearings and set bond for action of the October term of the Grand Jury.

City Police arrested the three youths last week in connection with the breaking and entering and theft of over $200 from the safe of Brock's Junk Yard in South Cumberland.

Detective Kenneth Morrisey, who questioned the youths last Thursday and Friday, said they admitted they broke into the junk yard office and took the money and a .22 calibre pistol.

Police said they recovered $170.85 of the approximately $240 which was stolen.

Dayton Firm Gets Contract At Sugar Grove

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy has awarded the first contract on its 60-million-dollar research facility at Sugar Grove, W. Va., to Maxon Construction Co. Inc., of Dayton, Ohio, a naval spokesman reported today.

The Maxon firm submitted a low bid of $76,346 for facilities for a 60-foot antenna. Next lowest bidders were Rockingham Construction Co., of Harrisonburg, Va., $81,575, and Nielsen Construction Co. Inc., of Harrisonburg, $81,858.

The contract awarded the Maxon firm provides for construction of a reinforced concrete building and a base for an antenna, with masonry additions for an office, a shop and storage spaces, plus necessary utilities.

Buchholtz Resigns Post For Tax Job

The present City Council will be without a Commissioner of Streets and Public Property for the last week of its administration, William H. Buchholtz resigning that position yesterday.

In a letter to the council, Mr. Buchholtz asked that his resignation be effective as of the end of yesterday's work to permit him to qualify for a position with the State Comptroller's office today.

Buchholtz informed Council that he will begin work as an auditor for the cigaret tax unit which will begin operations today when the three-cent tax on each pack of cigarets sold in the state goes into effect.

Was Elected In 1952

Mr. Buchholtz ends nearly eight years of service in the city government. He was first elected to office in 1948 when he was named finance commissioner. He was re-elected to Council in 1950 and was again named to the finance post.

He ran for the office of mayor in 1952, being defeated for the position by Mayor Roy W. Eves in the city's last election under the two-year term of office statute.

He was elected to council in the 1954 balloting and selected to head the Streets and Public Buildings Department. Buchholtz was defeated for re-election in the recent city general election, and was scheduled to leave office at the council meeting next Monday morning.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long apparently voiced the feeling of his Council associates when he wished Buchholtz the best of luck in his new undertaking.

Thanks Council, Employes

In his letter of resignation, Buchholtz said "I have enjoyed the several terms that I have been fortunate enough to spend with you gentlemen and others at the City Hall. While there have been differences of opinion on many occasions, most times we have been able to resolve our problems to a successful conclusion.

"I also want to express my sincere appreciation to all employes of the City of Cumberland, as they have been most cooperative during all these years."

After the meeting, Mr. Buchholtz said he had always worked for the best interests of the city, and will continue to have a personal interest in the operations and progress of city government.

He added that he was sorry his action was on such short notice, but explained that it was necessary so that there would be no conflict with the law in holding more than one position of public trust where remuneration is involved.

225 Bicycle Tags Issued On Final Day

City Police issued 225 bicycle licenses yesterday as youngsters swarmed into headquarters to get the permits on the final day for the old tags to be used.

The sales of the new license plates and permits for the bicycles rose over the 1,000 mark with yesterday's last-hour rush, police traffic safety officials said.

Last year more than 1,700 licenses were issued to boys and girls in the city, so police expect quite a few more visits to headquarters the next few days.

Girl, 3, Hit By Car, Is Reported 'Fair'

A 3½-year-old Georgia girl is in "fair" condition in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where she was admitted yesterday after being struck by an automobile near Lonaconing.

State Police said the youngster, Eleanor Lee Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welsh, 3449 Hildon Circle, Chamblee, Ga., was hit when she ran in front of the vehicle operated by William John Patton, 22, of Scotch Hill, Lonaconing.

Tfc. Robert Dishong reported the little girl was visiting in the Lonaconing area with her parents and was playing in the yard at the home of relatives about 1½ miles north of Lonaconing on State Route 36.

She suddenly darted across the sidewalk into the highway in front of Patton's car, the state trooper said. The force of the impact knocked her, unconscious, under a parked vehicle.

The girl later regained consciousness at the hospital where she was taken by ambulance. Attendants said she sustained a concussion, abrasions of the body and lacerations of the scalp. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of her injuries.

The accident occurred about 12:55 p. m. No charges have been placed against the driver of the car pending completion of the investigation.

Church Notices Due Tonight

Because of the observance of the July 4 holiday, all church notices for next Sunday's services must be in the Times-News office by 11 p.m. today to insure publication.

Queen City Buys Property Of Co-Operative

The Queen City Co-Operative Dairy Inc., 310 South Mechanic Street, has purchased property at 416 Pennsylvania Avenue from Co-Operative Milk Service Inc.

The one-story modern building will continue to be used as an active receiving station by the local firm. The Co-Operative Milk Service is reported to have decided to ship milk directly from nearby Pennsylvania dairymen to Washington, D.C., and discontinue the local receiving station.

A deed recorded in the land office of Allegany County Court yesterday indicated the property was sold for about $26,500.

The same property was formerly operated by the Embassy Dairy Inc. The property was conveyed by Lilian F. Ward and her husband and the dairy to the Cooperative Milk Service on April 21, 1948.

In other deeds filed yesterday, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has sold lots in the Horse Rock Hill Subdivision in Westernport to William M. Thompson and his wife Mabel L. Thompson, of Luke, and George R. Failing and his wife, Marion C. Failing, 212 Miller Street, Westernport.

Thompson has acquired Lot 71 as laid out in Section One of the subdivision. It has a front of 100 feet on the east side of Horse Rock Road.

Request Granted For Parking Area

The Mayor and Council yesterday granted, on recommendation of City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, the request of Robert E. Zimmerla to use a city-owned lot adjacent to his machine shop at 718 North Mechanic Street for a parking lot for employes.

The recommendation was passed with the proviso that some month-to-month rental agreement be reached which would be satisfactory to both parties.

Meeting Set Today

Plans for the coming year and committee appointments will be made by the Bedford Road Optimist Club at its meeting today at 7 p. m. at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

Police To Quiz Youth, 17, In Assault Case

City Police picked up a 17-year-old Cumberland youth last night for investigation in the reported assault on an 18-year-old college student early Saturday.

The boy was released about an hour later into the custody of his mother. He will be brought to Police Headquarters today and questioned, police said.

Investigators also indicated several other persons will be quizzed in the probe into the alleged assault on Allen Emerick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Emerick, 570 Patterson Avenue.

Young Emerick was released yesterday from Sacred Heart Hospital where he had been a patient since making his way home, beaten and bloody, Saturday.

The youth said he was on his way home early Saturday morning when he was attacked by a gang of youths on Paca Street near West Side Elementary School. His billfold, containing only a few dollars, could not be located after the fight, he told police.

Hospital attendants said he sustained facial and head injuries and had been badly beaten.

Man Injured In Auto Crash

A 57-year-old New York man was injured yesterday morning when he crashed his automobile into an embankment about 8½ miles north of Bedford, Pa., on U. S. Route 220.

Pennsylvania State Police said Harry C. Kaufman, 9 Lexington Avenue, New York City, was taken to Bedford Memorial Hospital where he complained of back, wrist, thigh and elbow injuries.

Police said the accelerator on the man's car became stuck and when he attempted to dislodge it, he lost control of the car, a sports model, hit an embankment, crossed the highway and struck another embankment. Damage to the new car was estimated at nearly $2,000.

Meanwhile, hospital attendants report the condition of Mrs. Katherine Sayre, Elkins, W. Va., who was hurt last Tuesday in a one-car accident, is still "critical." She was injured when the car in which she was riding plunged over an embankment into a farm pond along U.S. 220 near Bedford.

Also treated for injuries in the accident were Mrs. Sayre's daughter, Constance, 19, and William E. Hancock, 19, of Bloomfield, N. J., who police said was the driver of the car.

330 Marriage Licenses Are Issued In June

Vacation Bible School Is Well Attended

Some 138 youngsters were enrolled in the daily vacation Bible school of Melvin Methodist Church which held closing exercises Sunday.

Of the total enrollees, 62 were presented with certificates for perfect attendance during the two weeks. Handicraft was displayed by the children and the teachers reviewed the work covered during the course of study.

Miss Christine Alderton was director and was assisted by 28 teachers and assistants. Miss Dorothy Streett was music director and Mrs. Helen Northcraft, pianist.

At the closing session, prayer was offered by Ellsworth Emerick and tribute was paid to the workers by Eugene Streett.

Allender Is Home

F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024, has been discharged from Memorial Hospital and is recuperating at his home, 44 North Mechanic Street. He became ill at his home early last month.

Jesse Hirsh, Retired Tailor, Dies In Hospital

Jesse Hirsh, 78, of 805 Buckingham Road, who formerly operated a tailor shop at 36 Baltimore Street, died yesterday evening at Memorial Hospital

He had been a patient there nine weeks. A native of Cumberland, he was born on December 3, 1879, and was a son of the late James and Lina (Bamberger) Hirsh.

Mr. Hirsh is survived by one brother, Allen T. Hirsh Sr., city, and a sister, Mrs. Maud H. Lobe, Baltimore.

He was a member of B'er Chayim congregation and Ohr Lodge 131, AF and AM. Two years ago Mr. Hirsh retired after being in the tailoring business for 60 years.

The family requests that flowers be omitted and contributions be given to the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at the funeral home by Rabbi Max Selinger. Burial will be in East View Cemetery.

Boy Jailed In Vandalism

A 17-year-old Polish Mountain area youth has been charged with breaking and entering and larceny and is being held in the County Jail.

State Trooper Kenneth Messmer said the youth, Jack W. Poffenberger, broke into the home of Merle Hinkle near Flintstone on June 26.

Trooper Messmer said the youth broke into the residence and took a 30-30 rifle, target pistol, hunting knife, a $20 bill and box of shells.

The youth then went outside and fired several rounds into the house, according to the trooper. Trooper Messmer said the bullets went through the house and damaged several pieces of clothing, a small camera and a new power lawnmower.

The trooper said the youth, who had been drinking, also fired a shot which damaged an electrical wire outside the house.

Juvenile Court authorities have waived jurisdiction over the youth and he will be given a preliminary hearing later this week in Trial Magistrate Court.

County Issues Home Permits

The Allegany County Assessing Department has issued two building permits to county residents who plan to construct homes.

Charles A. Benson, McMullen Highway, plans to construct a 37-by-48-foot brick dwelling at a cost of $12,000. It will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof and a cellar. He lives in District 31 at RD 3, Keyser.

Douglas B. Heavner, of 430 Kean Terrace, plans to build a five-room frame dwelling at a cost of about $8,000. The 26-by-40-foot home with a full cellar will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof.

Local 307 Adopts Summer Schedule

Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, will go on its summer meeting schedule this month, according to George W. Lucas, business agent.

Meetings will be held on fourth Fridays at 8 p. m. in July, August and September, he said.
